THE LATEST NEWS.

His Sister Dissected.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 18 .- Six weeks ago a young man named Walter Wells came to this city from Mir.neapolis in search of his sister. A few days previously a young woman who was a stranger here had committed suicide. She had geen known as Marie Morrow, but from a published debelieved her to be his sister, and on investigation found such to be the body to Toronto, Ont., his home, but was unable to find the place where the remains were buried.

the office of Dr. Greene, a suburban physician, to whom the remains had been given by the authorities under the State law for the disposal of unclaimed bodies. The young man became furious at the dissovery, but on finding that no lawful punishment could be inflicted upon Dr. Greene he apparently let the matter drop. The local papers, however, made a sensation of the affair, and some of the accounts reached the brother, who suddenly appeared here to-day, swear- Justice Woods, deceased. ing he would have summary vengeance on the doctor. Hiring a rig he drove out at a furious rate to Dr. Greene's home, but the neighbors refused to tell him where the physician

An Immense Treasure.

LONDON, May 17.-The financial secretary of India has advised the government of an immense amount of treasure, estimated at over $25,000,coo, which had been secreted in the palace of Gwalior by the lale Maharajah. The treasure had been sunk in pits under vaults beneath the Zenana, and the secret was intrusted to a few confidential servants. The secretary was present when the treasure was unearthed. After removing the earth | him. to a depth of six feet the workmen uncovered great flagstones. Beneath hese stones were several pits, filled to the brim with chiefly freshly coined ruples. In each pit was a plate recording the amount of the treasure and the names of the officials who had assisted in secreting it. The government has taken the hoard as a loan from young Maharajah. The native papers protest against this action of the govern-

New Appointments.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18 .- Geo. K. Bradford, of Louisana, and Richard C. Wintersmith, of Kentucky, have been appointed fraudulent landentery agents at $1,500 per annum, and John Mason, of Virginia, and Arthur Grabowskie, of Georgia, timber depredation agents at $1,300.

Denouncing the Corner on Wheat.

LONDON, May 18 .- This morning's Standard in an article denouncing the wheat corner in Chicago, predicts that Australia and India will supplant America in the European grain trade within a few years and asserts that the reckless system of speculation complained of will be the direct means of bringing about the change.

"My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

CHICAGO, May 18.—Fifty years ago the Rev. S. F. Smith, now of Boston, wrote "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." Last night this gentleman, seventynine years of age but still remarkably of the Grand Army of the Republic at their parlors in this city. Though the reception was also in honor of the reverend poet's wife, she was not present, owing to ill health.

Big Suit Against Uncle Sam.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 18 .- A suit for $4,000,000. They claim that one Jacob Dehaven, a wealthy Frenchman of whom they are lineal descendants and who lived near Norristown, Pa., in ante-revolutionary times loaned the colonial government a half million francs with which to pay the colonial troops during the latter part of the Revolutionary war. This amount they say was never refunded although the claim was allowed by the first congress but there were no funds with which to scription of the suicide young Wells -pay it. Between 1850 and 1860 a sum was appropriated to pay the debt but a dispute as to who were the proper case. He then decided to remove the eclaimants delayed the payment of the money and the civil war put a stop to further proceedings in the matter. The sum with interest now amounts He continued his search, and finally to $4,000,000 and Miss Hale and her learned that his sister's bones were in sisters insist that they can prove they are the rightful heirs of Mr. Dehaven who died many years ago.

Bill Arp in New York.

I rode across the Brooklyn Bridge, one of the grandest triumphs of the human mind that is in the world or ever has been. I saw Miss Liberty, with her torch in hand, and I rode for miles and miles on the elevated railways that now carry half a million passengers every day. I went to the Eden Musee, where there are hundreds of wax figures, likenesses to the life of notable men and women, past and present. Mr. Beecher is the last. and he stands before you so perfectly natural you wait a moment for him to say something. A waggish friend said: "Well, now, suppose we hand that policeman a dime and go. He expects something." I got my dime ready and extended my hand, but a laugh from the boys told me that the policeman was wax. The truth is, I was too wrought up to distinguish the living from the dead all around the halls. New York is a wonderful show and I wish all the children of the land could go there and had money enough to stay a week and see the sights. But home beats New York.

LAUGH AND GROW FAT.

Editor Morning News :- If you want a regular old tashioned side-splitting laugh, read an article in the North State under the head "Great Excitement." The author of that article deserves the highest seat in the synagogue of humorists, even above Mark Twain and others. The article is almost entirely devoid of truth, but then it is so very funny. Now the only required one to write that wonderful production, and as a snail can always be traced by its slime, it is very easy to trace the author of that article.

It comes with such good grace from one who has held office for more than ten years under the Federal Government, with perquisites attached, embracing the dark days of reconstruction, when corruption stalked through the land like a noisome pestilence, to be sneering at one who holds the in significant position of Janitor of a Government building in Greensboro, whose only duty is to "protect the property and prevent all nuisances about the building and grounds;" he says the government doesn't care what is done about the building, so you don't "tramp on that fine grass which fanitor Wolfe is raising," he knows that is false, and when he further says that the Janitor, who is a CAIRO, Ill., May 18 .- As John Tustice of the Peace, made a warrant Reackell, Low Hopping and Bob returnable at the Government build

But, perhaps the author of that article thinks it doesn't make much difterence how much he slanders and vilifies his neighbor in a newspaper just so it is said in a humorous and

But what if there are misrepresentations and falsehoods on the inside of the paper, it is offset by one of Dr. Talmage's sermons on the patent outside. So let us all Jaugh and grow L. M. WOLFE.
