THE LATEST NEWS.

The Third Days' Contest.

WASHINGTON, May 26 .- The National Drill amphitheatre was crowded with people when the competitive company drills began at 10 A. M. to-day.

VOL. I.

First came the Governor's Guard, of North Carolina. Their movements were very smooth, but they did not excel in the manual of arms.

The Lousiana Rifles drilled in such a manner as to elicit much applause.

The Sarsfield Guard, of Connecticut, in the manual of arms, were excellent, but in military evolutions were deficient.

Company "C." First New Jersey, were the next contestants, but neither in marching nor the manual did they drill so as to bring forth much ap-

Company "B," Washington Light Infantry, came next, and were received by the assemblage with great applause. Their drilling, both in manual and marching, was excellent, and it was generally conceded that no other company before them had done near so well. Several serious errors were, however, credited to them.

At about 4 p. m. the usual afternoon shower set in, the third that has occured this week at about that hour in the afternoon, and interfered with carrying out the remainder of the day's programme. Twelve or fifteen thousand people witnessed the drill to-day

The rifle contest in connection with the drill opened at the Arsenal grounds this morning-thirty-eight officers and men participated. The weather was very favorable for shooting, and some excellent scores were made.

North Carolina Interests.

WASHINGTON, May 25 .- The military have all arrived. The States are represented by seventy companies, which average forty men to the company. The boys from North Carolina are in the sixth provisional battalion, and will compete for the five thousand dollar prize. The troops paraded the City to day.

Col. J. T. Anthony, of Charlotte, has been placed in command of the sixth provisional battalion, and was on duty in the parade to day. To this battalion have been assigned Governor's Guards of Raleigh, who will be the first company to enter the competition drill to-morrow. Capt. T. R. Robertson, of Charlotte, and Maj. H. G. Cooper, Col. Jas. D. Glenn and F. A. Olds have visited in uniform General Augur, to whom they paid their respects.

To-day it was estimated that fully five thousand visited the camp of the military. The greatest attraction of the camp is the Nile band of Milwaukie. It is composed of boys under fifteen years, and it is said by those who know that their music is the best in the camp. The prize will not be awarded till the end of the drill, and the score that the companies make will be kept strictly

The Captain of the San Antonio Rifles was called home, by the death of his wife. This, it is thought, will cool the ardor of the Texans and cause them to take less interest in the coming contest. Their 2nd officer is sanguine and it is generally conceded that they will bag the five thousand dollar prize.

The boys from North Carolina are all well, and will contest the prize to the death.

Injunction Granted.

RICHMOND, May 26 .- Judge Bond in Baltimore has granted Mr. Royall, an injunction restricting the Common wealth's attorney of Richmond, from bringing suits under the act passed by the Legislature a few days ago, known as the "Coupon Crusher." This law contemplates the institution of suits fice are invited to communicate with me against persons tendering coupons in payment of taxes.

> BUCHAREST, May 26.- A plot to assassinate the Sultan of Turkey was discovered last Thursday. Extraordinary efforts have been made to conceal the facts from the public. The effects of the plot is visible in the terror the Sultan exhibits. He made his usual visit to the mosque hurriedly, instead of with the usual slow and pompous parade.

Greensboro Female College-Elocution Recitals.

Miss Exum resumed her seat amidst loud and well merited applause, but came again forward in response to repeated calls and bowed her acknowledgements to the large audience whose feelings had been deeply stirred by her faultless elo. cutionary effort,

The President of the College, Rev. T. M. Jones, D. D., then came forward and announced that Bishop Duncan, whom he introduced to the audience, would, on behalf of the College, present the gold medal awarded for the highest efficiency in elocution, which had previously been contested for. The Bishop then after a few preliminary remarks, pertinent to the occasion, called as he said on Miss Alice Exum to come forward for the purpose of "aiding him," to which the young lady readily responded. Bishop Duncan then complimented Miss Exum most highly on her eminent success and handed her, accompanied by his best wishes and the hearty applause of her College companions, as well as of the audience, a large and beautiful gold medal of exquisite workmanship.

The final feature of the evening was an amateur theatrical representation from Shakespeare, in full costume, comprising nearly the whole of the fourth act of "The Merchant of Venice." It included the whole of the famous scene where the Jew, Shylock, appears in open court before the Duke of Venice, and after refusing to accept six thousand ducats, twice the sum to which he is legally entitled, insists on judgment being rendered in his favor, to the effect that "the bond" is forfeited, and that he, accordingly, is entitled to cut from near the heart of the youthful Antonio "one pound of living flesh." Miss Dail personated the Duke of Venice, Miss Halliburton, Antonio the Merchant of Venice, and Miss Burroughs, Bassanio, the friend of Anntonio. Salarino and Gratiano, mutual friends of Antonio and Bassanio, were respectively represented by the Misses Adams and Caldwell; while Portia the rich heiress. was personated by Miss Long; and Nerissa, her waiting maid, by Miss Page. Shylock, the vindictive and heartless Jew, was capitally represented by Miss Bule, The acting was all that could be desired. the dialogue was, in all respects, perfect throughout, and the performance, taken as a whole, was on all sides, conceded to be a notable success. Miss Long's rendition of the character of Portia was a happily conceived personation of the eloquent, but for the occasion, disguised advocate. The fervent appeal for mercy, couched in the inimitable language of the sublime bard of Stratford on Avon, was most faultlessly rendered and elicited a hearty applause.

The quality of mercy is not strained; It droppeth, as the gentle rain from heaven

When mercy seasons justice. Miss Bule, in make up, voice and action, looked indeed a very Shylock, a worthy lineal descendant of the impenitent thief on the cross; and the very intonation of her voice seemed forcibly to say to the listener, from first to last, as the dialogue has it, "Shylock is my name," * * "give me my pound of flesh!" It was dexterous piece of acting, and disclosed, throughout, a remarkable aptitude for facial mimicry coupled with the presence of a high degree of dramatic talent. COME INTO COURT.

Editor Morning News:-The readers of the North State and MORNING NEWS are hereby authorized and empowered to organize a high court of Oyer and Terminer and impanel themselves as jurors in a dual case of Keogh vs Wolfe and Wolfe vs. Keogh, pursue their usual avocations, hear the evidence and render their verdict accord-

1st witness .- Take the stand, Mr.

Keegh, and state to the jury about Squire Wolfe's making a summons returnable at the U. S. building in Greensboro. "Only last week Janitor Wolle, who is a Justice of the Peace, depend small golden disks with Hemade a summon returnable before him at his office in the U. S. building and the defendant raised the question, and raised the court out of the house." Stand aside Mr. Keogh. Next witness, John Weatherly, not present but his testimony as reported in the North State about summoning the witnesses to appear at the U.S. building admitted to be true. Next witness; Mr. Loman, not present, but his testimony as reported admitted to be true. This is the case for Mr. Keogh. The first evidence introduced on the part of Wolle is 3 summonses issued by himself since the 1st of April, all returnable and tried at the Grand Jury room of the County Court house and 2 warrants issued by himself, place of return and time left blank. Take the stand Squire Wolfe and be sworn, I. J. M. Wolfe, do swear that the evidence I will give in this case of Keogh vs. Wolle and Wolle vs. Keogh shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help me God. Now state to the jury whether or not you ever made a summon or a warrant returnable at the U. S. building in Greensboro or not. Answer: I never did. Question: How did it come then that Mr. Weatherly brought the defendant and wit nesses to your door in the U.S. building? Answer: Blank warrants read, gou are commanded to arrest the said A. B. and have him before the undersigned or some other Justice of the Peace in said county to answer said complaint, and to be otherwise dealt with according to law. The officer fixes the time and elects the Justice be fore whom he will make his return. In this case the defendant was brought to my door in the U. S. building and I of my own motion directed the officer to take him to the Grand Jury room of the county court house where the cas: was tried. This is the case for the devendant Wolfe. Now gentlemen, the 1st issue for you to try, Is did the defendant Keogh state the truth in his drama article in the North State when he said Wolfe made a summons returnable at the U. S. building. To this answer yes or no.

The 2nd issue is, did the defendant Wolfe, tate the truth when he says he never made a summons or warrant returnable at the U.S. building, and that the North State's publication was false. To this issue you will answer yes or no. Take the case, gentlemen.

DEFENDANT.

EXTENSION AGAIN.

Editor Morning News:-Judging from the tone of articles appearing in the papers, the correspondent, seem anxious and are urging the commissioners to condemn, assess and pay just what they please for right of way through certain property, and the parties who own their property, and other parties who are damaged thereby, must hold their mouths, and take what the commissioners see proper to give. It is very easy for such scribblers to urge the commissioners to do so and so with other people's property, but let the commissioners attempt to open streets through their property (the scribblers' property,) if they have any, and I venture to say three-fourths of said scribblers have no property to open streets through, and you will hear a "howl" that would lay all the Tom cats in town in the shade. I am in favor of improvements and street extensions and when property is damaged by changing streets and opening new streets, property owners so damaged must be paid damages. There is no getting around this. If meddlers will let the commissioners alone I think they can settle matters amicably with all parties interested. . TAX PAYER.
