WOOLNG WITH A PISTOL

Dr. Staudacher Shoots at Miss Kearney and Wounds Tatlor Martin.

E. Staudacher, fifty years old, physician and druggist here, has been courting Laura Kearney, twenty-three years old, a clerk in Herz's notion store. Miss Kearney says that his attentions became so unwelcome that he was there drunk on Thursday night and flourished a revolver.

three other women enterend a street car in front of the store. The car had gone only a few blocks when Staudacher drove up in his buggy, requested the driver to stop, and then asked Miss Kearney to take a seat with him. She declined, and the car went on. At Tenth street, seeing that Staudacher was still following her, and being alraid to go home alone, she got out with one of her companions, intendiag to take dinner with her. As they alighted, Staudacher drove up in his buggy, got out, drew his revolver and began firing at Miss Kearney. She ran into a store, pursued by Staudacher. There he was overpowered and disarmed. The crowd got a rope and was tolking of lynching him, when mat...... 10.00 a m | the police came and took him away. Three shots were firep at Miss Kearney. One of the butlets struck a corset steel and glanced off. The two other shots missd her, but one of them wounded Patric Martin, a tailar, in the > Staudacher is in jail. He refuses to say anything about the shooting. He has resided here for twelve years.

No Hope for Preller's Murderer.

St. Louis, June 18.—The Republican to-night received information from Jefferson City to the effect that on Monday morning the Supreme Court of Missouri will render an opinion affirming the judgment of the St. Louis Crimnal Court in the case of Walter H. Lennox-Maxwell, and sentencing him to be executed. The decision will be accompanied by but one dissenting opinion. Maxwell, it will be remembered, is the English adventurer who murdered his travelling companion, Preller, in April, 1885, at the Southern Hotel, in this city, packed his victim in a trunk, labelled the body, "So perish all traitors to the great cause," and then fled to Australia, whence he was brought by the St. Louis authorities.

No More War.

Boston, June 18.-R. E. Lee, Camp Confederate veterans arrived here this morning, and are the guests of the Post 15 G. A. R. They were met at Fall River by a delegation and upon their arrival in Boston a procession and Post 15 G. A. R. The boys in grey received an ovation throughout the entire line of march. Crowas lined the sidewalks. The procession as it passed through School street was reviewed temple. by Major O'Brien and as it passed through Bevan street it was reviewed Gov. Ames. The column then marched to the Fremont House where it was dismissed. This afternoon the guests were taken on excursi is down the harbor.

Seth Green Tells How to Fish.

"In the first place, when I go fishing, I go fishing. I don't hear the babble of the brook: I don't see the fluttering bird, nor the silvery leaves, nor the Beautiful'sky. Neither do I fish The evidence against the defendant anybody else's line. I fish my own and I don't watch my companion, if I have one, to see when he gets a bite or not. I don't care whether he gets a bite or not. I am attending to my own business and looking for a good place to cast. I am looking for the fly that is on the water, and to see if there is a raise. If I see one, no matter if it is ten rods away, I mark the place and make for it. I don't run but go quietly along and keep fishing, and when I get within casting distance I drop my fly a little short, and if I don't get a tise the next cast is made exactly on the spot on which the fly lit. My fly does not go with a thud as though I wanted to hit the bull's eyebut it touches the water as lightly as a fond mother's hand touches the brow of a lovery, counting child that she loves better than I can find words to express. I am just as sure of a rise, too, as the mother is that the child will roll its loving eyes up to the face with an expression which says to her, 'I am yours.' I feel w my fly drops so gently on the water that it does not make a ripple, that the fish is mine. That is the secret of fishing."-Rochester Democrat.

The Logan Guard of Honor.

From the Washington Post.

A few nights ago, while Rev. Buck who for thirty years has been rector of Rock Creek Church Parish, was coming through the cemetery connected with the church he was halted by the guard at Logan's tomb. He had some trouble in passing the line, and has since stated that he would like to have the guard removed. He holds that the presence of the soldiers is not only unnecessary but inappropriate. Mrs. Logan, however, views the matter in a different light, and says that if the guard is removed she will have the casket brought to her house, on Calumet place, there to remain until the Illinois Legislature has prepared the final resting place. Mrs. Logan says that the guard has been a very faithful Ransow Declines.

A Washington special to the Richmond Dispatch says: It having been decidede that Secretary Lamar shall be Asssciate Justice of the Su-the Interior was offered to Senator Ronsom. It was declined." I have this on high authority. The Senator's friends say that he feels that he can be of more service to the Democratic party and the Administration in the Senate than in the Cabinet. Also that he has always given his services to the public with special reference to the interests and welfare of North Carolina. They say that it is certain he can serve his State better where he is than in any other capacity whatever.
