

President Dwight, of Yale, will spend the summer in Litchfield, Conn.

Count Corti, once Italian Minister at Washington, is now Ambassador at Constantinople. He is in very poor health.

William Hubbard, of the firm of Hubbard & Farmer, which has just failed in Hartford, Conn. is the only son of the late ex-Gov. Hubbard, of Connecticut.

Citizeness Langtry has been talking politics to a San Francisco reporter. She says that the Chinese must go. It seems that Mr. Langtry will have to go also.

Frank L. Norton, D. D., of Lynch, Mass., is spending the summer at Mount Desert. He is considered the richest clergyman in the United States. He is an eloquent preacher, and a man of much personal magnetism.

George S. Rice, of Boston, who has been appointed Deputy Chief Engineer on the new aqueduct of this city at a salary of $7,000 a year, is a graduate of Harvard. He has been engaged in mining in Arizona and Colorado. He does not write poetry.

Mrs. Pickett, widow of Gen. George E. Pickett, was married when she was fifteen years of age. Her son was born before his mother had reached her sixteenth year. Mrs. Pickett is still a very young looking woman, superbly handsome. Hers is a dark, voluptuous style of beauty. Since the war she has persistently avoided society. Her appearance at Gettysburg was the first she has made in public for years.

An educated Chinese nobleman, Yan Phon Lee, was married in Hartford Friday to an American heiress. This incident shows how love breaks down the barriers of race and truly makes the whole world kin. Mr. Y. P. Lee has done some excellent literary work and he promises to be a useful citizen. At the same time our young Caucasian cavaliers should see to it that American heiresses are not, as a rule, taken up by Mongolians—as a mere matter of national pride.

A cable dispatch to a Western paper says that there is a brighter tinge in Mr. Blaine's cheeks than when he reached London, and that his movements are much more elastic. This is attributed in great part to the message treatment which he is now undergoing. He has secured the services of a London expert, and is rubbed every day in his room at the hotel. It may be remarked that English aristocratic society is also rubbing Mr. Blaine the right way.

The Board of Regents of New York State held a meeting at Albany Tuesday. Of the twenty-three members only five were present. Francis Kernan, of Utica, one of the Board, was in Albany, but did not go near the meeting. George William Curtis, although he is Vice-Chancellor of the Board, rarely attends its meetings and shows no interest in its doings. Altogether the New York Board of Regents seems to be more ornament than useful.

THE ANARCHIST'S SONG. We'll sell all the land for whisky and gin, And when it's all gone we'll divide it again; We'll abolish all laws and do as we please, We'll rob all the banks and live at our ease; We'll bring to this land all criminals and fools, And teach them to vote 'in districts and schools; We'll hang all the Judges who question our rights, We'll blow up the rich with strictly dynamite; We'll eat up the food of the Yankee who deceives, And when nothing is left eat the Yanks themselves.

A Nebraska City bachelor declares that the girls down there are so anxious to get married that a man who homely that the reflection of his face will dent a new milk pan can get a dozen offers in a day without asking.

The first window-glass ever made in this country was manufactured at Pittsburg, Pa., in 1793. From that date to the present Pittsburg has been the acknowledged center of the glass-making industry in the United States.

A novel sort of protective duty is being advocated in England, and it is stated that it may possibly be adopted. It is proposed to impose a tax of $25 a year upon all foreigners working in England. It is estimated that the tax would yield about $2,500,000 a year, and would fall principally upon Germans.

The fighting spirit of the French army is at the boiling point, and is kept there by the leaders, who find that it makes the men willing workers and cheerful bearers of hardships. If the war that seems coming should be averted, there will be some hundreds of thousands of the most disappointed thirsters after glory that the world has ever known.

A descendant of President Monroe writes to the Washington Post denying the published statement that Monroe became overwhelmed with debt and fled to New York to escape creditors, and finally died in poverty. He says that his distinguished ancestor left a large unencumbered estate in Loudoun county, Virginia, and personal property worth $40,000, as records show.

Miss Chamberlain, finding so much competition in England in the professional American beauty business, is coming home to stay.

Hope Too Long Deferred. Once more, Felisty, I ask you the question, "When will you be mine?"

The speaker was a proud and impetuous young man. From his childhood he had worshiped Felisty McIntire with an ardor whose intensity sometimes alarmed her. Cephas Rogers had now arrived at man's estate. His was not a nature that could brook delay, and as he sat in the drawing-room of the McIntire mansion, in the most aristocratic portion of an aspiring city in Central Illinois, there was upon his speaking brow the impress of a high resolve such as might have transfigured the face of the ambitious youth who fired the Ephesian dome when the supreme moment of his life had come. The voice of Cephas was low, tremulous, and yet imperious. Every fibre of his frame vibrated as he said again: "Felisty, when will you be mine?"

"Cephas," replied the fair young girl, the inmost recesses of her soul thrilling with responsive emotion as she stood proudly erect and looked into the fiery eyes of the young man with all the devotion of a heart's deepest trust, "I will be yours when the testimony in the Worthington-Post Congressional contest is all in."

A wild, despairing cry rang through the room, a deafening explosion rent the air, and Felisty felt, rather than heard, the concussion of a body falling heavily upon the floor.

The young man had committed suicide.—Chicago Tribune.

A Maine man, while chopping wood, cut a big gash in his boot. Thinking he had cut a gash in his foot also, he sat down and shouted for help. Assistance came, and the man, who was not able to walk, was placed on a sled and hauled home. When he got there his boot and stocking were cut from his foot, when it was found that the foot was not cut enough to draw blood.

Your Children

Are constantly exposed to danger from Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, and diseases peculiar to the throat and lungs. For such ailments, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, promptly administered, affords speedy relief and cure.

As a remedy for Whooping Cough, with which many of our children were afflicted, we used, during the past winter, with much satisfaction, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For this affection, we consider this preparation the most efficacious of all the medicines which have come to our knowledge.—Mary Parkhurst, Freeport, Maine, for Little Wanderers, Dover, N. H.

My children have been peculiarly subject to attacks of Croup, and I failed to find any effective remedy until I commenced administering Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This medicine allays all irritation, prevents inflammation from extending to the lungs, and quickly subdues any tendency to Lung Complaint.—J. B. Wellington, Plainville, Mich.

I find no medicine so effective for Croup and Whooping Cough, as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It was the means of saving the life of my little boy, only six months old, carrying him safely through the worst case of Whooping Cough I ever saw.—J. B. Malone, Pines Plains, Tenn.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed entirely of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a healthful source of strength and vitality by promoting a durable health.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters: "On O. Nov. 16, 1881. Gent:—The foolish and wronging of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation."

WHARTON & STRATFORD

"It Saved My Life"

In a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles.—F. Dragoon, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe Hemorrhage of the Lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balms and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and I am satisfied, saved my life.—Mrs. C. Coburn, 18 Second St., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely trust it should have been in my family, as it has been for this medicine. I was afflicted with a dangerous affection of the lungs for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy.—Dr. A. McMillan, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a cold, which was cured by this medicine. I was advised by physicians, and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—M. Allen, West Litchfield, Mass.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cents per bottle.
