

EDITORIAL DASHES.

We are pleased to note that W. G. Burkhead, Esq., of the Durham Tobacco Plant was elected by the Press Convention at Hendersonville Friday to deliver the annual address before the next convention.

Charley Loomis, a Kansas City saloon-keeper, has anchored a boat in the exact centre of the Missouri River, where he sells whiskey without paying license.

A dispatch from St. Louis says that on last Sunday 6,000 people in that town witnessed a game of base ball and only two of them were prostrated by the heat, although the mercury stood at 108 degrees in the shade.

The N. Y. Star says: The mayor of St. Louis has telegraphed the President asking if he would receive a delegation from St. Louis who would come to Washington on Monday to extend him an invitation to visit that city in the fall after the Grand Army men have gone.

The assertion is made that fifteen men in Pittsburg, Pa., are ready to swear that a man whose funeral recently occurred in that city made a dying declaration to the effect that he would have survived could he have had a glass of soda-water on Sunday.

THE PRESS AND THE PRESS CONVENTION.

"We hope the mothers of the little boys who went along, representing our esteemed patent-bowel contemporaries, wiped the little fellows' noses before they left home, and gave them instructions not to play in the branch while they are at Hendersonville elevating the profession."

Now—now—Bro. Caldwell! If there be any abuse in the way of improper representation, men like the editor of the Landmark ought to attend and check it.

Some of the graver editors of the State have not taken stock in the Press Association; in that we think they err. We are quite sure that the organization has had a beneficial effect on the conduct of the State press, and whatever tends in that direction ought to be fostered by all as all are indirectly affected by the general reputation.

The Association is undoubtedly a good thing per se, and is an institution that, if not now, can be made of value to the fraternity. There is power in organization, and there are many benefits to be derived by the profession, individually and collectively, both from the existence of the Association and from its annual conventions, but the fact is, as the News-Observer thinks, the whole object and intent of the organization has been perverted, and the Press conventions as they are now held are a pretty glaring burlesque on the Press.

Editors make a mistake in allowing their papers to be represented at all if they are not to be represented respectably, and it is not fair and just to the journalistic fraternity that a crowd of boys and youths, half of whom have no connection whatever with any newspaper and to many of whom brother Caldwell's remarks might be very applicable, should meet in annual convention each year as average specimens of the North Carolina Ink-slinger.

The Association however is a power for good, and efforts should rather be made to raise its standard than to ridicule it as a sham because it is allowed to be so.

It is true some of the strongest men of the State were present at the recent session, but probably where there was one bona fide editor there were three "little boys," and the editors ought to go to the convention instead of the "little boys," where the interchange of acquaintanceship and the elevation of the dignity and complexion of the Association will amply recompense the loss of time.

Let the rules be enforced. Let the editors go and the little fellows be ruled out.

She Will Go on the Stage.

In spite of reports to the contrary, Mrs. James Brown Potter will go upon the stage. I can tell how many people have said to me: "Have you seen Mr. James Brown Potter? Do tell me what she is like; and is she really as beautiful as they say?" To this I answer: Yes, I have seen the lady a great number of times, and she is all that the world gives her credit of being.

"It Saved My Life"

Is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles. — E. Drington, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe Hemorrhage of the Lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balms and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and, I am satisfied, saved my life. — Mrs. R. Coburn, 18 Second St., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy. — D. A. McMillan, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health. — Mrs. M. Allen, West Lancaster, Pa.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters: "Chc., O., Nov. 16, 1881. Gentl.—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation."

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.
