DR. TALMAGE.
THE BROOKLYN DIVINE'S SUNDAY SERMON.
 Subject: "How to Treat Company."

Text: "Given to Hospitality."—Romans, xii, 13.

There is danger that the multiplication of large and commodious hotels in our towns, cities, villages, and cities, will utterly exterminate that grace which Abraham exhibited when he entertained the angels, and which Lot showed when he showed his guests the gate of the city, and which Christ realized as a positive requisite for entering heaven, when he declared: "I was a stranger and ye took Me in."

I propose to speak this morning of the trials and rewards of Christian hospitality. There are a great many excellent people who have a generous disposition and a heart full of temperance, and unpopularity of character, which makes them a positive nuisance in any household where they stay. Perhaps they have all the peculiarities of the gourmandizer or the dyspeptic, and make exorbitant demands upon the pockets of their hosts. They have no respect for the pecuniary interests of the household, and propose to take care of them. As I have already said, I propose to speak of the trials and rewards of Christian hospitality.

Another reward that comes from Christian hospitality is in the assurance that we shall be able to meet our God. We know in what city or what land we may be thrown, and we may come no such crisis to us, but our children may be thrown into some such crisis, and we shall be glad to have a free pass through all Christendom. It may be that you will have been dealt fifty years of life, but do you not suppose that God can remember fifty years? Another reward that comes from Christian hospitality is in the assurance that we shall be able to meet our God. We know in what city or what land we may be thrown, and we may come no such crisis to us, but our children may be thrown into some such crisis, and we shall be glad to have a free pass through all Christendom.

Another trial in the using of this grace is in the trial and expense of exercising it. In the well-remembered words of the prophet, "When our guests are brought in, they are gone, and our pockets are empty. It is a trial, and it is a trial that we may as well give up." But, my friends, there are all sorts of trials, and we are to give up to the trials of this life. There are all sorts of trials, and we are to give up to the trials of this life. There are all sorts of trials, and we are to give up to the trials of this life.

ROBBERS KILLED.
THE POLICE FIRE UPON A LARGE CROWD IN IRELAND.

Two Men Shot Dead and Several Others Badly Wounded.

MITCHELSTOWN, Ireland, where the case of the British Government against Mr. William O'Brien, the Irish editor and Home Rule leader, under the Coercion act, was to have been heard on Friday, was crowded all day by civilians, police and soldiers.

An open air meeting was subsequently held. Mr. Henry Labouchere, the London editor, and others laboured incessantly against the British Government for its course in regard to Ireland.

A conflict occurred at a meeting which was held in Market square. The police were attempting to protect a government stonecrafter who had taken place and the crowd of police, which consisted of several of whom were struck with sticks and stones and severely injured.

The meeting in Market square was attended by 7,000 persons with a large number of Laborers, John Ellis, Gill, Condon and O'Shea were present. A government reward of £100 was offered for the capture of the men on horseback.

Mr. Condon tried to pacify the crowd. Mr. Dillon, however, who was in the crowd, spoke in a violent manner, because home rule was nearly won, and then the Irish forces were called out to break up the crowd.

The person killed was an old man named John Ryan, who was a member of the Irish Republican Brotherhood. He was shot in the head by a bullet, and died a few moments later.

A BLOW AT DETECTIVES.
Judge Key Gives Them a Warning in Deciding a Case.

HENRY JACKSON, of Chicago, was brought to Chattanooga, T. n., recently on a charge of swindling T. M. Erving by selling an alleged worthless trotting horse for $100,000.

When Erving found that his horse was a worthless creature, he brought the matter to the attention of the police, and a search was made for the horse.

The question brought before the Court was as to the liability of the State, and the defendant was discharged.

Another trial in the using of this grace is in the trial and expense of exercising it. In the well-remembered words of the prophet, "When our guests are brought in, they are gone, and our pockets are empty. It is a trial, and it is a trial that we may as well give up."

PURSUING TRAIN ROBBERS.
How a Pair of Banits Gave the Officers the Slip.

Information just received from Manchaca, Texas, is to the effect that the two train robbers supposed to be surrounded in a pasture near the enclosure at all, and the officers found they had been given the slip.

Another trial in the using of this grace is in the trial and expense of exercising it. In the well-remembered words of the prophet, "When our guests are brought in, they are gone, and our pockets are empty. It is a trial, and it is a trial that we may as well give up."

SIXTY PERSONS INJURED.
Fall of a Church Building—The People Go Down With the Floor.

A terrible accident is reported from Knoxville, a small village three miles north of the city. A two-story church building, the upper floor being used for church purposes, and the lower floor given up exclusively to school purposes, suddenly and without warning gave way, carrying sixty or seventy persons with it.

Another trial in the using of this grace is in the trial and expense of exercising it. In the well-remembered words of the prophet, "When our guests are brought in, they are gone, and our pockets are empty. It is a trial, and it is a trial that we may as well give up."

AN OPEN SWITCH.
Attempt to Wreck a Western Passenger Train.
 An attempt was made to wreck a south-bound passenger train on the Chicago, Kansas and Nebraska road at Sanford, a station six miles out of Topeka, Kansas. As the train was coming around a curve at the rate of thirty miles an hour, the passengers saw that a switch was open. He put on his brakes and reversed his engine, called to his fireman to follow him, and jump from the train.

FATAL WRECK.
Crushing Down Grade at 80 Miles an Hour—One Man Killed.

A serious wreck occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on the Cranberry grade at a point about 18 miles west of Oakland. The train which met with the disaster is known as No. 47, and is due at Oakland at 10:45 A. M. It usually carries nothing but express matter, and runs on fast schedule passenger train time. However, in addition to the five express cars usually hauled, the train had one immigrant car attached loaded with Scotch immigrants, and it is fortunate that the loss of life was not much greater than that of the train.

The New York Herald has received information that Grand Master Workman Powell, of the English Locomotive Works, resigned and went to Ireland to participate in the campaign for Irish home rule.

A preliminary organization of the new American party has been made in San Francisco. The party has a membership of 120,000.
