

LOCCA AND GENERAL

THE NORTH CAROLINA PROHIBITIONIST and the "Voice" both for $1.50.
Mormon missionaries have appeared in the extreme western counties.
Rev. E. W. Smith was duly installed pastor of Westminster church.
The North Carolina M. E. Conference met in Fayetteville on 30th inst.
Statesville Landmark: Swannanoa tunnel, on the Western North Carolina rail road, keeps oaving in.
The Partrol, a Prohibition paper of Geneva, I., has been burned out. Its publication will continue.
SUDDEN DEATH—Mr. H. A. Leach youngest son of Gen. J. M. Leach, died in Washington City, Nov. the 19th.
The Raleigh business men are earnestly agitating the question of more and better railroad facilities for the capital city.
The one hundred and sixteenth anniversary of the founding of the Moravian Church in Salem, was celebrated on the 13th inst.
Near Flat Shoal, Surry county, November 14th a little daughter of Mr. Wm. Jones, aged 8 years, was accidentally burned to death.
Make home attractive—Nothing adds so much to the pleasures of a home as music. Buy a good Piano or Organ of J. L. Stone, Raleigh N. C., and you will never regret it.
An intelligent person when hurt will at once procure a bottle of Salvation Oil. It is the best thing to cure swellings, burns, or wounds. All druggists sell it at twenty-five cents a bottle.
"The world was all before them where to choose," and as they were a sensible young couple they took a house near the corner, where they could get always, on short notice, a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup—at 25 cents to cure their colds.
Hendersonville Times: Jack Isom, who murdered Jacob Newman in Rome county, Tenn., last February, has been captured in Kansas City. Newman was a native of Henderson county, and resided for many years in Blue Ridge township.
One of Barrett's circus men was dismissed when circus reached Charlotte for contumacious drunkenness, and was found dead in bed Monday night in the Mansion House. A bottle half full of whiskey on a chair by the bed side told the story. The man had died in convulsions caused by a protracted spree, says the Chronicle of Tuesday.
The sudden cold snap reminds us that we had better get ready for real winter weather. Overcoats, Heavy suits, Boots, Flannel Underwear, Ladies Cloaks, red and White Blankets and all sorts of cold weather goods can be bought at Sample Brown's for very low prices. It pays better to protect yourself from the cold than to pay doctor's bills.
Mr. J. B. Frees, a druggist and bonianist of 179 Sixth Avenue, New York, desires to communicate with relatives or friends of a Capt. T. M. Barrett, or Garrett, who was with Co. 1, Fifth North Carolina Regiment, and who was killed on the battle field. Mr. Frees has in his possession a watch, chain and other articles which were taken from the body of the slain Captain, and is anxious to restore to the relatives—Charlotte Chronicle.
"Women's Works" is the name of a journal of domestic economy published monthly at Athens Ga., edited by Mrs. E. R. Tennent. If the first number, which is now before us, is an earnest of what is to follow, we gladly welcome it to the field of journalism and to our exchange list, and most cheerfully and heartily commend it to our lady readers.
Subscription 50c per year. Success to "Woman's Work."
The North Carolina and Virginia Christian Conference met on the 15th inst, with the church at New Elam, Chatham county, N. C. Rev. P. T. Clapp was elected President; Rev. J. U. Newman, Secretary; and Rev. J. L. Foster, assistant secretary. The annual address was delivered by Dr. W. T. Hemdond. Six new churches were licensed to preach the Gospel, and five were ordained Elders.
The Christian Church is doing a grand work in this State.
Watch Your Attention.
Cut this out and mail it to ALLEN & Co., Augusta Maine, who will send you free, something new, that just comes money for all workers. As wonderful as the electric light, as glowing as pure gold, it will prove of incalculable value and importance to you. Both sexes, all ages. ALLEN & Co., bear expense of starting you in business. It will bring you in more cash, right away than anything else in the world. Anyone anywhere can do the work, and live at home also. Better write at once, than knowing all, should you conclude that you don't care to engage, why no harm is done.

APPEAL FOR CHRISTMAS, 1887.

Friends of Orphans:
I earnestly request your contributions in aid of the Christmas Festivities at the Oxford Orphan Asylum, for 1887, and beg you will forward them early in December that I may know what outlay I can make.
I have more children to provide for this year than ever before, and therefore specially appeal to your liberality. I would rejoice to receive at least one dollar from each School and Lodge in North Carolina.
Do not lay this appeal down until you have forwarded your contributions, for your Christmas will be made happier and brighter by the consciousness of having aided this beautiful custom.
Mark all contributions "For Christmas," and send them to Dr. B. F. Dixon, Oxford, N. C.
Yours affectionately,
KRIS K. INGLE.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29, 1887.
That the Congressmen from the back districts are arriving at the Capital is evidenced by the fact that one of these unsophisticated legislators, who is unfamiliar with city ways, when about to reare a night or two since, blew out the gas and would surely have suffocated but for the vigilance of the hotel servants. As this is the honorable member's first visit to Washington, I will spare him the humiliation of printing his name in connection with this mishap.
Mr. Carlisle is angry at the news paper men, who, by misrepresenting Mr. Randall and himself, have almost disturbed the friendliness of the personal relations that have long existed between these distinguished statesmen. While declining to permit an interview, the Speaker announces that if he should meet the Ex-Speaker before the assembling of Congress, that they would be likely to informally discuss the tariff. But seriously I doubt if there is the least prospect of harmonizing the discordant factions of the dominant party on this vital issue, on the eve of a Presidential contest. Mr. Carlisle, while representing the majority of his party, cannot move Mr. Randall from his strong position, as the bulwark of the protection element, either by coercion or compromise, nor is it probable that the Speaker will have the courage to displace his troublesome rival from his old place as Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations.
The Active canvass for the Door-keepers of the House of Representatives, continues to be the topic of absorbing interest with our national Solons of the Democratic persuasion, and I rather incline to think a new man may be elected, for, as there are one hundred new members, more subordinate places will have to be provided, and the old Doorkeeper, having none to spare, will, perhaps, have to make room for a man who can give a new deal.
The high joint Fisheries Commission have been hobnobbing all the past week, and sharpening their wits for the diplomatic deliberations that are at present engaging their attention. Those negotiations are being conducted after the manner of star chamber proceedings, and, in consequence, not even a syllable of the utterances of the diplomatists escapes from the walls of the State Department. We each only wait and hope that the result will be of a character to be acceptable both to Britain and America, for it seems fitting that the two great English speaking peoples of the earth should set the noble example of peaceably adjusting their controversies, for peace hath her victories, not less renowned than war.
With unusual interest the world of commerce awaits the appearance of Secretary Fairchild's report of the finances of the country, as it will be of even more importance to the business men than what the President himself says. In order to wholly devote himself to this arduous undertaking the Secretary has retired to the privacy of his home circle, so as to be free from intrusion. The last report of the Secretary of the Treasury, it is understood, was prepared by Mr. Fairchild—though at that time he was a subordinate—and the fact that it was so favorably received is the reason that much is expected from him again.
The attention of the Civil Service Commissioners has been called to a grave abuse that has crept into the system, in that residents of the District of Columbia, by fraudulently claiming citizenship in the States whose quotas are not full, as is the case of the District, have wrongfully obtained appointments. When such persons can be identified they will be dismissed from office, and new regulations have been adopted that will prevent such shameless imposition.

There is an Ex-Congressman in Washington who, I have strong circumstantial reasons for believing, sells his influence to office seekers whose appointment he secures—receiving from his victims a certain percentage of their salaries each month.
The report of the Third Assistant Postmaster General shows that the total revenues of the Department for the year were $48,837,607, and the total excess of the expense of the postal service over the receipts was $4,482,663. The receipts of the year were about 11 percent larger than those of the year preceding, while the increase of the disbursement was at a ratio of about three per cent. It is estimated that if these ratios should be maintained till the end of the year, the postal service will again be upon a profitable basis to the Government. But such a result is hardly probable, in the opinion of those who are well informed about the revenues of the Post office Department.
THE CENTURY MAGAZINE.
WITH THE November, 1887, issue THE CENTURY commences its thirty-fifth volume with a regular circulation of almost 25,000. The War Papers and the Life of Lincoln increased its monthly edition by 100,000. The latter history having recounted the events of Lincoln's early years, and given the necessary survey of the political condition of the country, reaches a new period, with which his secretaries were most intimately acquainted. Under the caption Lincoln in the War the writers now enter on the more important part of their narrative, viz: the early years of the War and President Lincoln's part therein. Supplementary War Papers, following the "battle series" by distinguished generals, will describe interesting features of army life, tunneling from Libby Prison, narratives of personal adventure, etc. General Sherman will write on "The Grand Strategy of the War."
Kennan on Siberia.
Except the Life of Lincoln and the War Articles no more important series has ever been undertaken by THE CENTURY, than this of Mr. Kennan's. With the previous preparation of four years travel and study in Russia and Siberia, the author undertook a journey of 15,000 miles for the special investigation here required. An introduction from the Russian Minister of the Interior admitted him to the principal mines and prisons, where he became acquainted with some three hundred State exiles—Liberals, Nihilists, and others,—and the series will be a startling as well as accurate revelation of the exile system. The many illustrations by the artist and photographer, Mr. George A. Frost, who accompanied the author, will add greatly to the value of the articles.
A Novel by Eggleston with illustrations will run through the year. Shorter novels will follow by Cable and Stockton. Shorter fictions will appear every month.
Miscellaneous Features will comprise several illustrated articles on Ireland, by Charles De Kay; papers touching the field of the Sunday-School Lessons, illustrated by E. L. Wilson; wild Western life by Theodore Roosevelt; the English Cathedral, by Mrs. Van Rensselaer, with illustrations by Pennell; Dr. Buckley's valuable papers on Dreams, Spiritualism, and Clairvoyance; essays in criticism, art, travel, and biography; poems; cartoons; etc.
By a Special offer the numbers for the past year (containing the Lincoln history) may be secured with the year's subscription from November, 1887, twenty-four issues in all, for $6.00, or, with the last years numbers handsomely bound, $7.50.
Published by THE CENTURY Co. 33 East 17th Street, New-York.
ST. NICHOLAS.
For Young Folks.
SINCE its first issue, in 1873, this magazine has maintained, with undiminished recognition, the position it took at the beginning,—that of being the most excellent juvenile periodical ever printed. The best known names in literature were on its list of contributors from the start.—Bryant, Longfellow, Thomas Hughes, George MacDonald, Bret Harte, Bayard Taylor, Frances Hodgson Burnett, James T. Fields, John G. Whittier; indeed the list is so long that it would be easier to tell the few authors of note who have not contributed to "the world's child magazine."
The Editor, Mary Mapes Dodge, author of "Hans Brinker" or "The Silver Skates," and other popular books for young folks,—and for grown-up folks,—too, has a remarkable faculty for knowing and entertaining children. Under her skillful leadership, St. Nicholas brings to thousands of homes on both sides of the water knowledge and delight.

St. Nicholas in England.
It is not alone in America that St. NICHOLAS has made its great success. The London Times says: "It is above anything we produce in the same line." The Scotsman says: "There is no magazine that can successfully compete with it."
The Coming Year of St. Nicholas.
The fifteenth year begins with the number for November, 1887, and the publishers can announce Serial and Short Stories by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, Frank R. Stockton, H. F. Boyesen, Joel Chandler Harris, J. T. Trowbridge, Col. Richard M. Johnston, Louisa M. Alcott, Professor Alfred Church, William H. Rideing, Washington Gladden, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Amelia E. Barr, Frances Courtenay Baylor, Harriet Upton, and many others. Edmund Alton will write a series of papers on the "Routine of the Republic,"—how the President works at the White House, and how the affairs of the Treasury the State and War Departments, etc., are conducted; Joseph O'Brien, a well known Australian journalist, will describe "The Great Island Continent"; Elizabeth Robins Pennell will tell of "London Christmas Pan-tomimas" (Alice in Wonderland, etc.); John Burroughs will write "Meadow and Woodland Talks with Young Folk," etc., etc. Mrs. Burnett's short serial will be the editor says, a worthy successor to her famous "Little Lord Fauntleroy," which appeared in St. NICHOLAS.
Why not try St Nicholas this year for the young people in the house? Begin with the November number. Send us $3.00, or subscribe through booksellers and newsdealers. The Century Co. 33 East 17th St. New-York.
To clubs of ten new subscribers we will send the NORTH CAROLINA PROHIBITIONIST one year for $7.50.
Now, reader, if you are interested in the cause of Prohibition, go to work and get us up a club. We hope to hear from our friends in various sections of the State in answer to this proposition. Our list is growing rapidly, but we want it to grow more rapidly. We want 10,000 names on our list by the 1st of Nov. 1888. Shall we have them? The answer to this question depends in large measure upon the friends of the cause. With the proper effort on the part of these the 10,000 will be enrolled.
