

Little Home Made Tales For Little Home Folks.

Jesse Kilpatrick's Calves.

Jesse Kilpatrick lived near Centreville, and is a large smart boy nine years old.

When he was a little boy like Archie Joyner and Frank Skinner and Dick Bynum he liked dogs and goats and pigs to play with, but now he is getting grown he had rather have something that can work, for Jesse is an industrious boy and helps his father on the farm. He can plow and drive a cart, and pick out cotton, and in the summer time he can eat as much watermelon as a colored boy. Jesse had two little calves named Tom and Buck. One was red and one was black. He thought they never would get big enough to hitch up to the cart to work, but last week his pa said he reckon they were big enough to break, and you just know Jesse and his brother Paul and Ike were happy. He had a little cart with a tongue to it. Then he made a yoke to go on their necks, with a ring in the middle. He had some bows to hold their necks to the yoke and the tongue to the cart went in the ring and then they were hitched up, Tom on one side of the tongue and Buck on the other, just like horses.

Jesse had a rope on their heads, and when he said Gee, he meant for them to go to the right, and "Haw" meant go to the left. Tom and Buck did not know that yet, it would have to be taught to them, like a b's. They did not know they had to work either. They thought they were yoked up just to play and when Jesse and Paul and Ike got in the cart, and Jesse said, "Go long boys, what do I feed you for?" the calf boys went. The cart made so much fuss, Tom was scared and wanted to run faster. The yoke felt so funny and so heavy Buck was mad and wanted to stop. They had been running down the road, blicky-black, when Buck got mad and stopped, and Tom was scared and had set out faster. Well, Tom just ran right on ahead of Buck, that brought his tail where his head ought to be, and as his head was fastened in the yoke and couldn't be anywhere else, Tom's neck was most broke, over he fell, the yoke twisting his head right to the ground, and the cart stopped so suddenly out flew Ike in the ditch, Paul right on top of Tom and Jesse, well, Jesse was pitched head foremost in a patch of briars and mud, and there was the biggest kind of a hornet's nest in there.

There is little reason to expect or hope that this measure, full of evil as it is, will fail to pass the Senate, but the country has a right not only to hope, but to confidently expect, that President Cleveland will veto it. His record upon the silver question is one which is wholly antagonistic to the pernicious provisions of the Bland bill.—Phil. Ledger

Whatever the disposition of the Seigniorage bill is to be in the Senate, it should be disposed of promptly. Contrary to the views of some Eastern organs, the bill as modified is of no great consequence.—Springfield Republican. (Ind.)

The adoption of an income tax by a majority of the Democrats on the Ways and Means Committee has been a profound surprise to the Eastern supporters of President Cleveland. He is understood to oppose it himself. Nearly every paper in New England and the Middle States which supports him protests against it. The tax is condemned even by many Western Democratic papers.—Phil. Press. (Rep.)

It has been truly said that the People's party is the logical and only nucleus for every element of American population that stands for social stability and constitutional rights. It is the bulwark against anarchy of the upper and lower scum of society. Through the enactment into law of the principles advocated by the People's party alone can justice be re-established and our civilization be saved.—News. (Alliance)

The Pitt County Rifles.

37 strong made a good appearance at their last regular drill.

Their new dress uniforms and white helmets are far superior to the regulation in beauty and comfort. After the regular drill was over Capt. Smith paraded Main street and at the Court House square in front of the INDEX office gave the boys a very lively exercise in both the manual and field drill. The manoeuvres were excellent and the parade interesting. The town and county should feel proud of this company, most of whose members have made great sacrifices to attain to their present state of perfection. With a little more perseverance in the men and a better appreciation of their merit by the citizens of the town; this company under the excellent command of Capt. Smith will be the crack one of the State Guard.

The following is the company's roll:

Capt.—J. T. Smith,
1st. Lieut.—B. F. Sugg,
2nd. Lieut.—J. A. Teel.
Sergeants—S. T. Hooker, J. R. Corey, W. R. Smith, W. S. Briley, H. C. Hooker.
Corporals—O. E. Warren, H. M. Snuggs, J. T. Evans, E. F. Forbes.
Musician—L. Hooker.
Privates—S. W. Andrews, L. N. Briley, J. C. Brown, R. S. Evans, J. E. Fleming, E. Foley, W. P. Hosier, W. J. Hemby, W. E. Jolly, C. C. Joyner, J. S. Jenkins, R. B. Jarvis, O. L. Joyner, R. E. Jones, R. H. Keel, B. D. Langley, D. G. Moore, J. B. McGowans, S. J. Nobles, A. W. Outterbridge, Jarvis Sugg, Ed Tyson, W. H. Taylor, C. B. Whichard, S. G. Worthington, A. S. Jenkins, Ed Tripp, J. C. Albritton

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Some months ago my face was badly broken out with a cutaneous eruption which I was unable to account for and did not know what it was. It attracted considerable attention, and almost every one who saw it pronounced it Barber's Itch, and as I shaved at the shop of James Smith the public at once believed that the said itch was therein contracted.

Now in justice to James Smith I feel constrained to say that I had no Barber's Itch. Dr. Bagwell who treated the case assured me that it was not Barber's Itch, and as it yielded readily to treatment and was soon cured, I am convinced that the Doctor was right. I am informed that Barber's Itch is very difficult to cure, and lasts for a long time, in some cases several years, my case of eruption was cured in two weeks.

I therefore attach no blame to said Smith in the matter.

Respectfully,
H. HARDING.
