WILL YOU HELP?

Every native of Pitt county, now in whatever clime should feel interested in the movement to erect a simple monument to the memory of its sons, who bore arms for the lost cause. Though the cause was lost their memory should be kept green for they were first and foremost in most of the great battles.

Henry Wyatt, the first to lose his life at Bethel, was a Pitt Co. boy. Gen. Bryan Grimes, the leader of the last charge at Appomattox, and hundreds who sleep in distant lands were true sons of Pitt, and truly can it be said of them "First at Bethel, last at Appomattox" and where the battle was thickest they were they.

Then it is our sacred duty to honor them—their memory and leave a silent testimonial of the valor of those who have followed and of the few remaining, a testimonial that will withstand the ravages of time, and proclaim that they were there and bore their full share of the burden.

Then let everybody help. Let it be built by the people. Let every one have an interest in it. Let it be to the honor of Pitt county and its sons, the dead and the living, who participated in that war, and to the present generation in that it was not slow to appreciation of the valor of fathers, brothers and kinsmen.

A small sum will suffice. Let it be popular subscriptions. A sum of $250 will do the work. Can we get it? Yes, if patriotism is not dead and we are not unworthy to tread in the footprints of those who have gone before. Let everybody help. Send in any contribution however small. Let us have that amount pledged before September.

How appropriate to have it erected and dedicated at the next Pitt County Re-Union. It can be, if you will do your duty. Will you?

Morton's Bid.

Up in New York they are having trouble over a social, civil or equal right's bill, passed by the last Legislature and at once signed by Governor Morton, making it law. It provides that there shall be no distinction or discrimination made at any public place, theater, hotel, restaurant, etc., on account of color.

Already some of the swell hotels have been troubled by negroes taking advantage of the law, and going to such places. In all cases the proprietors have grinned and bore it, giving them as little equality as they could under that law. It is said a party of negroes will go to DelMonico's on the first big evening, and demand their rights. The keepers of the hotels and such places, are said to be in a bad fix and can devise no means to get around the law. Were they to simply advertise accommodations for white people only, the question would be quickly solved. But it is destined to soon come to naught. It has been tried before, but has never been a success.

Governor Morton made a big bid for the negroes' support support in his Presidential boom, for next year. What effect it will have is unknown. The average Southern white Republican gets below such equality during the campaign, but the idea of the same being permanently forced upon him may be a big feather in the McKinley or Reed boom camps.

The whites who generally want equality are scorned by negroes, and those with whom the negroes want the same will never allow it, so the matter was, is and ever must be.

NORFOLK.

The Southern railroad is again trying to secure Norfolk as its deep water terminus. This means much for that port. Norfolk has the best natural harbor on the Atlantic and must at no great distant day, together with its sister neighbor cities around Hampton Roads become the greatest city on the Atlantic. It has all the facilities for export and the South must sooner or later, turn its productions to that place as the natural outlet for foreign trade.

Norfolk will be the great city of the Atlantic. Its natural advantages can not long be overlooked and its rise, to great importance will be swift.

The new town ordinances go into effect Monday, July 1st. Now to have a good town government, they should be strictly, but not harshly, enforced. And the people should do their part in obeying them. Or they may find the way of the transgressor, not strewn with thornless roses.

THE new schedule, making the south bound freight from here, arrive at Kinston in time for passengers to make the trip to Morehead without stopping over in Kinston, is proving very popular. We expect to see a rush to Morehead over this route now. It went into effect Monday and a crowd went down. Now if we can get the connections twice a week, returning, it will be so much better still.

WHAT is being done to get the new road across the Higgs and Moore land? Those who are interested should take some action. Next Monday is first Monday. Are there any petitions to be presented asking for it? Nothing can be expected where nothing is asked. The road would be a great convenience.

WHAT's the matter now? Many of the strongholds of free silver are going for so called "squad-money". It is somewhat too early for a collapse of the silver boom. Wait till the campaign opens next year, and where will the silverite be?
