

MURDERED WHILE ON DUTY.

A FLAGMAN IS KILLED AT DUNN BY A TRAMP.

The Young Man Dies Soon After he is Wounded--Bloodhounds Put in Pursuit of Murderer.

We learn of a very distressing accident which occurred at Dunn, a little town north of Fayetteville, late on Saturday afternoon.

Two tramps, a negro and a white man, were stealing a ride on a passenger train of the A. C. L. At Dunn they were discovered by the conductor, who attempted to put them off, but the tramps had no idea of getting off and showed fight. They were getting the best of the conductor, when the flagman took a hand in the scuffle.

The negro picked up a coupling pin and started to brain the flagman, and while the flagman was defending himself from the negro, the white tramp turned loose the conductor, stepped off a few paces and fired, the ball taking effect in the bowels of the flagman. Both tramps then ran off before any of the trainmen could capture them.

The wounded young man was put on the train and brought to Fayetteville. He bled profusely and died just as the train reached Fayetteville.

A pair of blood-hounds was procured as early as possible, and yesterday morning the dogs, with officers of the law, were sent to the scene of the murder. We learn that the hounds struck the trail of the fiends, but had not caught them at last accounts.

Railroad men are justly indignant over this outrage, and should the murderer be captured he might meet with summary punishment.

SUNDAY AT MUIR'S CHAPEL.

Good Attendance at the Camp Meeting--Some Fine Preaching.

As has been the custom for years, many Greensboro people went out to Muir's Chapel yesterday to attend the camp meeting. Other places were well represented, though it is said the crowd was not so large as it often is. The Biblical Institute at Guilford College kept many away.

Rev. P. J. Carraway, the venerable and beloved presiding elder, preached one of his usual fine sermons in the morning at 11 o'clock. It is said to have been a strong and forceful sermon, listened to with interest by the large congregation.

In the afternoon Rev. N. R. Richardson, of High Point, preached a sermon full of power and the Holy Ghost. Mr. Richardson is not now in the regular work of the ministry, being the colporteur agent for the Western North Carolina Conference, but he has lost none of his zeal and preached yesterday with the same fervor and effectiveness as of yore.

Presiding Elder Carraway preached again at night.

The camp meeting will continue through this week, we suppose, and many Greensboro people will doubtless attend. Several families from the city are camping on the grounds during the meeting. They are comfortably domiciled in snug log cabins erected for camping purposes.

Sorry to Lose Him.

Mr. A. B. Bray, of the firm of Bray Bros., leaf tobacco buyers and exporters, left this morning for Danville, where he will be one of the buyers for the American Tobacco Company.

Mr. Bray has resided in Greensboro about two years and has made many friends here by his quiet demeanor and gentlemanly bearing.

He is a good judge of tobacco, having a large and varied experience in the business, and will doubtless meet with success in his new field of labor. His many friends here regret to lose him from our midst, but wish for him great prosperity wherever he may cast his lot.

C. A. Bray has bought his brother's interest in the business of Bray Bros., though the firm name will remain unchanged.

SUNDAY IN THE MEADOW.

The Usual Sunday Performance--Beer Bottles in the Play.

As is usually the case, the Sabbath stillness was disturbed and the Holy Day desecrated by fights among the denizens of that section known as the "Meadows" yesterday.

The ball was started rolling early in the morning by two colored women who gave a before breakfast performance. The principal weapons used in this early morning combat were beer bottles. No serious damage was done, though the women pummeled each other over the head to their heart's content.

Late yesterday afternoon a man and a woman became engaged in a quarrel that resulted in the woman being beat and bruised up by the man.

These weekly occurrences are a disgrace to our city, and it seems to us that some means could be devised to break up these vile dens of iniquity.
