THE BANKS ARE HOPEFUL

Been Feeling the Pulse of the South and West.

NORTHWEST LESS FAVORABLE.

But Shows Solid Improvement in Most Lines and Among Most all Industries.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM. .

New York, Nov. 16 .- The Park National bank and other banks have been feeling the business pulse around the country with reference to the condition of trade in remote sections.

The reports are all satisfactory and from the west the reports are especially good. There is evidence that trade is being revived and people generally are said to be more hopeful and much better satisfied.

The banks are hopeful of good times in the south and southwest.

The conditions are not quite so favorable, but a hopeful feeling exists in the northwest. The reports show a solid improvement in most lines and in most industries.

Romantic Marriage.

A special from Scotland Neck to the News and Observer last night says: There was a marriage in town last night that was somewhat romantic. Mr. W. A. Dortch, a young farmer from Warren county, has been running a tobacco farm near town for Mr. W. T. Joyner, and while attending to the interests of the farm he fell in love with Miss Fannie, the young and pretty daughter of farmer Joyner. There was some displeasure at the match on the part of some members of Miss Fannie's family, and last night about 7 o'clock the couple presented themselves at Rev. R. T. Vann's and asked his services in uniting them in the bonds of matrimony. He complied with the request and the happy pair drove through the country twenty miles to Enfield, where they took the train for the groom's old home.

Off for Conference.

The secretary of the Western North Carolina Christian Conference, Rev. P. T. Way, of Durham, was in the city today and goes to Ramseur tonight where the conference meets this week. Mr. Way is an old newspaper man, having been engaged in that business at Jonesboro, and later at Liberty, where his office was destroyed by fire about two years ago.

KILLED AT CHARLOTTE.

Dennis Cannon Struck by Outgoing Freight Train.

From today's Charlotte Observer we get the following account of the killing of Dennis Cannon there this morn-

At 12 o'clock this morning a man named Dennis Cannon was struck and killed by the northbound freight train on the Southern railway. The accident occurred at the iron bridge over the extension of North Tryon street, on the Concord road, near the Air-Line junction.

Cannon had tarried at the junction station and had talked with the operator there. He was drunk and in conversation with the operator had told his name. Shortly after midnight he left, going in the direction of the city. At 2 o'clock the freight train reached the junction. Engineer Black reported that he had knocked a man from the track near the bridge. The man, he said, was lying prone between the rails. The engineer did not see him in time to prevent striking him. The junction operator went down the track and found the dead body lying by the rails. The man's head was mashed into a jelly.

Operator Dodge, at the Southern passenger station, notified the police by telephone of the occurrence and of the location of the dead body. He was informed that it was not in the jurisdiction of the police to look after the body and they would not go after it. So at last accounts the body lay by the track in the spot where he was lodged by the train.

The incident brings to light the fact that there is a disogreement between the city and railroad authorities about cases of this kind.

Asked about it this morning, Seargeant Baker said the railroad would have to look after the body. It is not known where Cannon hails from. All that is known of him is obtained from his talk with the junction

THE WAY TO WIN.

State Senator A. M. Scales Has His Uncle's Political Sagacity.

Mr. Alf. M. Scales, state senator from Guilford, who is one of thewisest and purest of the young democratic leaders of the state, was in Raleigh yesterday.

He says the political situation in Guilford county is all that could be desired, and that whereas the vote in 1896 was very close, there is no division of opinion that at the next election the democrats will carry it by something like from 400 to 600 major-

"We can carry the state," he said, 'if we are wise. There is a feeling on the part of honest populists and some republicans to vote the democratic ticket. They ought to be encouraged. We ought to make it easy for populists to come back to the party. It will be wise to put new men, who are not and have not been connected with any factions in the party, to the front, and everywhere to select candidates who have not been engaged in ranco of partisan strife, men of integrity and men who command the confidence of the people."

And then Mr. scales spoke a parable. He was not talking for publication, but his ideas are so wise that we think they ought to be read by the 25,-000 democrats who daily read the News

Senator Scales has given us the way to victory. Candidates whose records, however good, would bring about any other issue than "the White Man the White Metal" ought to stand aside next year. This would require that some of the best men in the state put aside fond ambitions. Their love for their party ought to make them willing to this.-News and Ob-

Be Careful.

A man, white or black, cannot be too careful about entering another man's yard after eleven o'clock at night, whether he is calling on his best girl or on other business. Its a dangerous thing to do. We know of two instances that happened on last Sunday night where parties were found trespassing in the wee small hours of the night, and on being questioned gave as an excuse that they were calling on a friend.

There is a proper time for everything, and we do not make an exception of calling. So be careful how you prowl around.

ENVELOPED IN CLOUDS.

Philadelphia Express Collided With Accommodation Train.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Nov. 16 .- A dense fog enveloped the city this morning, interfering seriously with traffic all over the city.

The Royal Blue Line Philadelphia Express, leaving the city in the uncertain light, collided with an accommodation train at Singer, N. Y., leaving the latter almost a total wreck.

Fortunately, the accommodation train had just discharged its passengers, else possibly fatal loss would have attended the collision. As it was, no one was seriously injured.

The fog is attributed to heavy storms in the west.

Steamers Delayed. By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Nov. 16.—Owing to severe gales, news of which have been brought in by La Gascongne and other vessels, there has been much delay in shipping making port.

Quite a number of freight steamers are overdue and there is some anxiety felt, as steamers of this class are always uncertain in rough weather.

ANACONDA GETS LOOSE.

Breaks Several Ribs, Crushes Trick Pony to Death.

Philadelphia, Nov. 15 .- A huge anaconda, on exhibition in a museum here, severely injured Samuel Masher, the museum watchman, and crushed a trick pony to death.

The pony was tied to a feed box beside the anaconda's cage. Masher saw that the reptile had worked one of the boards of cage loose and had stretched its tail out a distance. He pushed the board, believing the anaconda would pull within the cage again, but it wriggled out and wrapped itself several times about Masher.

The watchman called for help, and the pony, frightened by the big reptile, began jumping about. This, in fever districts of the south. all probability, saved Masher's life, for the reptile unwound itself from him and completely encircled the pony.

Masher fell to the floor unconscious, while the big snake continued to crush the pony until life was extinct.

When a number of employes reached the scene the snake had begun to unwind itself and appeared to be getting ready for more fight.

The men kept aloft until a lasso had been obtained and the anaconda was made secure.

Several of Masher's ribs were broken and he was removed to a hospital.

BUILDING COLLAPSED.

IT WASN'T KREBS'S BABY.

His Wife Had Bought It for $7.50-Her Subsequent Troubles.

St. Louis, Nov. 15.-Mrs. Ruth Krebs, a young actress, stood in the doorway of her home yesterday, revolver in hand, and kept at bay three furniture movers who had been employed by her husband to move their household effects. In one arm she clasped a baby which she had bought facts Worth Studying. and paid for in order to retain her husband's affections. An hour later, she says, she was assaulted by her mother-in-law, and now she is in bed in consequence of this series of unhappy circumstances.

Mrs. Krebs has been married twice. Her first marriage resulted disastrously, and afterward she turned to George P. Krebs. She married him in Chihere, and after a while Krebs told his wife he was disappointed because they had no child.

Mrs. Krebs bought a baby for $7.50 and presented it to her husband as their own. It was then six weeks old, but Krebs was unsuspectingly happy. He finally learned of the deception, and then lit out.

Philadelphia, Nov. 15-At 7 o'clock this morning workmen began tearing time to time, and which marred the simplicity of the historic structure. The entire block from 5th to 6th street and facing on Chestnut street, has been shut in by a board fence ten feet high, so that the relic hunters and sightseers can be kept at a safe distance. Not a brick nor a board of the old building will be allowed to be carried away. The building occupied by the University Law School, at 6th and Chestnut streets, will be torn down, as will also several small structures which were added to the mainhall when the building was occupied by the city officials. It is the intention to restore the old building to as near original design as

No McKinleyism for Kentucky.

Here in Kentucky the returns leave no room for doubt. The voters will not have Republicanism at any price. They will not have fusion at any price. They will not have a third party or take a middle course at any price. They elect to follow all the excesses of the Chicago platform and to stand by Mr. Bryan, of Nebraska, and a repetiton in 1900 of the ill-starred campaign of 1896. Having brushed aside all obstructions and implied the situation, they range themselves by a great majority upon the side of the extremist of the extreists.-Louisville Cour-
