WAS IT HYDROPHOBIA?
Only One of the Four Rabbits Inoculated Survived.
ONE DIED IN CONVULSIONS.

The Survivor Was Inoculated in the Ear and is Hale and Hearty—
Period of Danger Past.

On the 17th of December, Dr. Brooks, assisted by Dr. Turner in the presence of representatives of the press here inoculated four rabbits, all that were then available, with a part of the spinal cord of the dog that bit a number of people here.

The spinal column, as stated at the time, was emulsified in glycerine chemically pure and the emulsion used in the inoculation. Three of the rabbits were inoculated over the cervical vertebrae just in front of the shoulders by clipping the skin with an aseptic instrument. The other rabbit was inoculated by injecting the emulsion hypodermically in the ear. A very fine needle was used and only a small quantity of the emulsion could be injected.

The three rabbits inoculated by the cervico-spinal process all died. One died of blood-poisoning and one of pneumonia as noted some days ago. The other died on the fifth of January or on the eighteenth day after inoculation. The maximum period within which a rabbit inoculated will have hydrophobia is twenty days. This is the twenty-first day and the remaining rabbit is perfectly healthy and eats greedily and it may be assumed that it will not die.

The last rabbit to die expired in convulsions, as shown by the position of its body. Dr. Brooks had been watching the rabbits closely. On the morning of the 5th he fed the two survivors and noticed that one was drooping and would eat only when the food was placed directly before it. The other ate heartily. He was called away and returning about 5 o'clock p. m., went to see the rabbits. He found the one making its last gasp. The head was drawn back nearly to the rump, the usual position in case of convulsions. Dr. Brooks did not see enough of the death struggles to determine the nature of the convulsions. That it did die with convulsions, there is no room for doubt.

The only disease other than hydrophobia that could account for the appearance of the dead rabbit is tetanus. But the maximum period for death by tetanus is eight days and the usual period is twenty-four hours, while as noted the rabbit died on the eighteenth day.

It is to be regretted of course that the experiment could not settle the question beyond doubt but it is one of those instances, common enough in scientific experimentation, where hard and fast conclusions can not be safely drawn. The probabilities as shown by the experiment are on the side of the dog's having hydrophobia. Beyond that it would be unsafe to go.

These three ships will be laid down at the yards of Blohm & Voss, in Hamburg. There are, besides, building for the Hamburg-American Line at different yards in Germany and England, three steamers of 10,000 gross register tons each, one of 7000 and two of 5000 tons.

FROM THE TWIN-CITY.
Action of Salem Commissioners—A Wild Rumor.
Special to THE TELEGRAM.
Winston, N. C., Jan. 8.—The Salem commissioners, at their meeting last night, advanced an idea which may prove of much value to the municipal boards of other towns and cities in the state. The Eagle Hose Co. of that city asked to be relieved from the payment of poll tax upon the ground that they were doing voluntary service for the city. The solons refused the petition, assigning as a reason that the laws of the state prohibited any interference as to poll tax.

The Winston aldermen recently violated the law in this respect and it is probable many other towns have inadvertently done likewise.

All lawyers here say the Salem commissioners are right.

Wild rumors are circulated here that Dr. Wheeler has been appointed postmaster for Winston and Henry Shore for Salem. There is absolutely no foundation for these rumors, the object of the originators being supposed to be a test by the Wheeler faction of public opinion on the question as to his being acceptable in case there should be a chance for him to slip in.

Eclipse of the Moon.
The old, the ever reliable silvery orb has been cleansed of its blood spots and last night presented a one-seventh eclipse of its surface. Many who were not familiar with science and who had not consulted the Almanac were perhaps surprised at the dark spot on its border. One fellow in Greensboro said he believed it was caused by the postoffice fight in Washington.

After Street Car Company.
Indicted for issuing a pass to a reporter.
Asheville, Jan. 7.—The grand jury of the Circuit Court returned a true bill against the Asheville Street Railway Company for issuing a free pass. The bill charges that the company gave undue preference and advantage to W. A. Hildebrand reporter on the Citizen, by giving him free transportation over its lines. The grand jury ignored the bill against the Southern Railway Company in which J. P. Kerr, of the Citizen Company, was a witness. The contract between the newspapers and the railroad was explained to the body, which shortly afterward returned "not a true bill."

Herald's Pictures by Wire.
The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia (Pa.) Public Ledger says:
"An unexpected result of the Shaw trial at Camden is the practical demonstration of the claim that pictures can be transmitted by telegraph. The New York Herald has for some time been experimenting with a machine for this purpose, invented by E. A. Hummel, of St. Paul, Minn. He has been here showing what it can do in an experimental way, but today he was sent to Camden, with Mr. Harry Dart, chief of the Herald's staff of artists, to make a pictorial report by wire of the trial. The results as they came in tonight at this end of the line were certainly wonderful evolutions of modern mechanical skill and applied electricity."

MAJOR BITTINGER BLACKBALLED.
Our Consul-General in Canada Turned Down by a Montreal Club.
Montreal, Jan. 6.—A sensation was caused here tonight by the news that Major John L. Bittinger, the United States Consul-General for Canada, had been blackballed for membership in the St. James Club, Montreal's swell social organization.

Major Bittinger was appointed Consul-General at Montreal a few months ago by President McKinley. When his nomination was made it was strongly opposed on the ground that Major Bittinger, while internal revenue gauger for the Sixth district of Missouri, had conspired to defraud the United States; that he had pleaded guilty to the charge and had been sentenced to two years' imprisonment and a fine of $1,000. The opposition came to nothing, as Major Bittinger's appointment was confirmed.

When he came to Canada circulars were sent to the leading newspapers and to prominent citizens of Montreal giving the details of the incident in Major Bittinger's career, and they created an unfavorable impression. Major Bittinger's name was presented some weeks ago for membership in the St. James Club, and the vote was taken tonight. When the ballot was counted it was found that a large number of blackballs had been placed in the box and the application was rejected. The incident is likely to lead to a great deal of ill feeling.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.
London, Jan. 8.—A cablegram from Pekin says that China has rejected the proposals of Russia to guarantee the loan.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.
Columbus, Jan. 8.—Hanna is gaining strength in the contest for United States Senator. Reliable reports today indicate that Hanna has the necessary seventy-three votes on joint ballot. The republicans at Hanna's headquarters are jubilant. The opposition seems less confident. All efforts to bring Foraker or McLean here have failed.

AGAINST CIVIL SERVICE.
By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.
Washington, Jan. 8.—A careful poll of republican members of the house of representatives is being made with a view to learning exactly the number that can be depended on to vote for the repeal or material modification of the civil service law. The steering committee recently appointed at the republican conference is doing its work. It has already shown that about one hundred and ten republican members are ready to vote for a change in the law in one form or another.

AN ADVERSE REPORT.
By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.
Washington, Jan. 8.—Commissioner Herman of the general land office has prepared an adverse report on the house bill providing for granting to the respective states all arid lands within their borders on condition that the lands be reclaimed for agricultural purposes by the states.

Contract for Small Arms.
The Navy Department has contracted with the Winchester Company for 5,000 additional small arms of the new caliber for the use of the navy and marine corps. About 10,000 of these rifles have been already delivered to the government, and with the new lot contracted for, there will be sufficient on hand to arm the entire naval and marine forces with the new rifle.—Washington Star.

Biloxi's Marine Hospital Must Go.
Biloxi, Miss., Jan. 6.—The city council has joined in a demand for the removal of the United States Marine Hospital quarantine station at Ship Island on the ground that it is a menace to the health of Mississippi and the entire Gulf coast. It is from Ship Island that fever is supposed to have come into this State during the past summer.

David O. Swire Killed.
