THE PRESIDENT IS WORRIED

Held a Conference With House Leaders This Morning.

DELOME IS MUCH CONCERNED.

The Situation in Washington Over The Morgan Beligency Resolution.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President McKinley this morning had a conference with House leaders on the narrow escape from being forced to act on the Morgan beligency resolution which was brought to the front by De Armond.

The admitted force of the Cuban sentiment in the House told the President that it is doubtful if action can be much longer staved off. Mr. McKinley is worried over the situation.

State Department officials who insist on war with Spain immediately following the adoption of the Morgan resolution, are urging the House members to stand firm. Delome is much concerned over the existing conditions in the House and called on Secretary Day this morning to ascertain if there was any danger of early action.

It is thought the members will follow their advantage and push the issue at every possible opportunity.

TAR AND FEATHERS.

Possible Variations in the Mormon Meetings.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Winston, Jan. 19.—Postmasters E. H. Wilson and R. W. Belo, of this city and Salem, will hold over until February 1st, an arrangement of this kind having been agreed to by the new appointees, Col. P. H. Lybrook and W. P. Ormsby, who have not as yet filed their bonds and received their commissions.

The Mormon elders, Ensign and Williams, are provoking considerable popular wrath and there is talk of tar and feathers. They have not as yet preached any obnoxious doctrine, but there is much indignation prevalent that they should be permitted to preach here at all. Rev. W. A. Lutz yesterday published in the Journal an exposure of Mormonism which stirred the elders to much resentment, and they will today deny the exposure in toto, calling upon the divine to read certain biblical references which they claim prophesies the finding of the Book of Mormon. A long and warm discussion is likely to be inaugurated, and the different pastors will probably institute a war of denunciation from their respective pulpits.

The Cora Van Tassell Co. played to a crowded house at the Armory last night in "Camille."

CURRENCY REFORM.

Secretary Gage Did Not Appear Before Committee.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary Gage did not attend his hearing before the House committee on banking and currency today owing to a slight cold accompanied by hoarseness. The hearing will proceed tomorrow. Ex-Secretary Fairchild was heard further, the general purpose being to bring out the probable effect of the proposed currency legislation. General Warner, president of the bimetallic league; Representative Hartman and several other silver leaders were present.

DORA CLAY STILL.

Willie Bryant Gets Himself in Print.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Valleyview, Ky., Jan. 19.—Willie Bryant has issued a signed statement in which he denies that he had any intention of eloping with Dora, the child wife of General Cassius M. Clay. He also denies having had any trouble with Leroy Kelley her brother over her. He states however that he is prepared to defend himself.

Practising Every Night.

There are eleven characters in the drama "Cherry" besides the two policemen and a number of firemen. There is the sturdy workman, captain of the Eagle Hose company, kind hearted man, but one whose life and character has been poisoned by his hatred of the married class. His wife, a thrifty, gentle woman, is one of the most interesting characters in the play.

Cherry, their daughter, is the leading character and the heroine of the drama. She is queen on every occasion and the plot centers round her from first to last. Then there is the sprightly young aristocratic beau, who is a fair type of the confident lover, and the love-sick young man who mopes about with a sing-song drawl in his voice and always afraid Miss Cherry will snub him. There are other interesting characters who will claim your attention when you see the play.

The company is practising every night for the rendition of this interesting play on Thursday night, January 27th.

Found Murdered.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Buffalo, Jan. 19.—Kate Clark, the common law wife of Ed Clark, a grain scooper, was found murdered in her room in the Yellowch block this morning. She was beaten to death with a chair during the night. Clark is missing.

Crossed Electric Wires.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Stamford, Conn. Jan. 19.—Crossed electric light wires in J. H. Lee's saloon started a fire this morning. The flames quickly spread to the adjoining buildings and the top floors of these were gutted. The loss will reach $75,000.

The Runaway Today.

It is an every day occurrence now, and the wonder is that somebody has not been seriously hurt in some of the frequent runaways witnessed on our streets.

Today about two o'clock Mr. S. S. Heathcock's horse was standing hitched to the buggy in the rear of his owner's store on Davis and Sycamore. In some way he rubbed the bridle off, discovered that he was loose and dashing up East Sycamore he turned into South Elm and cleared every vehicle on the street, crossed the railroad and turned into Asheboro street without an accident, followed Asheboro until the junction with East Lee was reached. Here the buggy was left fastened between a telephone pole and a fence and the horse with part of the harness dangling, made his way home and stopped. The damage to the buggy is only slight.

BRIGHTER FOR THE STRIKERS.
Dissensions Among Mill Owners Helping Their Cause.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New Bedford, Jan. 19.—There is dissension and recrimination among the mill owners today and the cause of the strikers is growing brighter. Angry words passed between Andrew Pierce and some of the other mill treasurers and managers. It is believed that Pierce will be forced to grant the demands of the strikers by the large stockholders and directors. The strikers believe they will have a speedy victory.

Hill at the Head.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Will Fight the Order.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer says: The Bell telephone company will fight in the courts the order of the railroad commission reducing the rates of telephone rentals. Exceptions to the rule are filed. In these it is plainly stated that the removal of the Wilsons as commissioners was unlawful. Attorney Strong, of the Bell company, says: "You may observe that it reasonably appears that we are fighting the Wilsons' battle, but the company only intends to take whatever advantage may be derived from the Wilsons' fight and it will act with all respect to the present board and give the latter all the facts as to telephone properties in North Carolina which the board may desire and of which the company may have knowledge."

German Postponed.

The German which was to have been given this evening as published in yesterday's paper has been postponed owing to certain unforeseen circumstances.

WHO WILL BE JUDGE?

Rumors Rife as to Who Will Succeed Judge Dick.

A Washington special to the Raleigh Post says:

Washington, Jan. 18.—The contest for the vacancy in the Western District created by Judge Dick's resignation, has opened up lively. The woods have emptied themselves on Washington. Moody, Ewart, Smathers and Lusk, of the Western Reserve, with Judge Douglas, of the Supreme, and Adams and Green, of the Superior Court bench, are all "mentioned" Judge Furches is also spoken of by some friends. It is believed however that the contest will narrow down to Col. Boyd and Judge Ewart. The rumor today is that the President expressed a desire to appoint Judge Ewart, as he served in Congress with him. If this is done, it will be strictly a personal appointment on the part of the President, and not one that will be satisfactory to the Republicans of the district, if what most of them here say represents the district. There is some excellent timber in Western Carolina for this position, but it is said this will be greatly ignored in case the report of the President's preference is true.

The Republicans here would not listen to the appointment of Judge Douglas, as that would give Governor Russell an opportunity to fill the vacancy, and they all object to this. It was the Governor who also stood in the way of Senator Pritchard's appointment, as the administration was not willing to risk the Governor's appointment of Pritchard's successor. The appointment will be made in a day or two.

A SHREWD SWINDLER SAWED

The Bars of His Cell in Two and Escaped.

HAD FOUGHT WITH INSURGENTS.

And So Goodby to Mrs. Nack—Says She Welcomes Punishment And Will Be a Model Prisoner.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Jersey City, Jan. 19.—William H. Straight a member of fashionable society clubs here and a swindler to the tune of two or three hundred thousand dollars escaped today from the Gregory street police station. He sawed the bars of his cell window in two and crawled out. His escape is beyond the understanding of the police. He had his breakfast with the other prisoners about half past seven o'clock and the cell was empty an hour later. His wife is suspected of having supplied him with a saw-file with which to cut the bars.

During the first part of the Cuban insurrection he fought with the insurgents receiving a wound in the foot.

LAST OF MRS. NACK.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Nack left Long Island City jail this morning at seven o'clock for Auburn prison. The start was made for the Grand Central depot in a carriage which was followed by a mob anxious to see her. Just before leaving she said she was glad she was being punished for the crime she had committed and declared that she would be a model prisoner.

"GEN." BOOTH DEPARTS.

He Went to Canada—Failed to Annex the Volunteers.

William Booth, "General" of the Salvation Army, bitterly disappointed that his effort at reuniting the Volunteers of America with the Army had failed, left this city yesterday. He was bound for Canada by way of Boston. It is his purpose to make a regular tour of inspection there. Booth-Tucker went with the General, and will accompany him, it is said, as far as the border. Everything was significantly quiet at West Fourteenth street headquarters. William Booth did not leave behind him his answers to any of the list of questions laid before him by the reporters on Sunday.

At the headquarters of the Volunteers all was cheerfulness. Ballington Booth did not care to be interviewed. He was at liberty to say absolutely nothing about his interview with his father.

He did send out word that he was much relieved that all dicking was at an end, and that the friends of the Volunteers now had not the slightest right to fear for the permanent independence of the organization.

"Did William Booth ask for Mrs. Ballington Booth or express any sympathy for her condition?" was a question frequently asked at the Volunteers' headquarters yesterday. When it received an answer, the answer was "no."

It has become known that not one word of the sort, spoken or written, came to Ballington Booth from his father.—New York Sun.

A HOMING PIGEON'S FLIGHT.

Escaped from Westfield and Landed Aboard a Vessel.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 18.—William H. Winter, of Westfield, received word today from Capt. A. D. Conover, of the schooner Three Marys, at Philadelphia, that a carrier pigeon wearing a tag bearing Winter's name and address had alighted upon the deck of the vessel when it was about 500 miles out in the Atlantic Ocean. The bird was one of a pair of highly bred homing pigeons of the Belgium variety which Winter imported from Europe about three months ago. It escaped from the cage on Jan. 10, and flew directly eastward.

The capture of the bird 500 miles out in the Atlantic on the 11th shows, Mr. Winter says, that it was attempting to return to its native home in Belgium. When it landed upon the deck of the Three Marys the pigeon seemed somewhat exhausted and in want of food.
