A BIG STRIKE IN WINSTON.

Three Hundred Factory Hands Out in a Body.

STRUCK AGAINST A WAGE CUT.

All Twin-City Ministers Made it Warm For The Mormon Elders in Yesterday's Sermons.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Winston, Jan. 24.—Many pastors of this city yesterday uttered scathing words from their pulpits against Mormonism and the two elders here. Rev. J. W. Frank had previously announced this as his subject for the morning service and the elders went to hear him. After preaching he gave the elders the privilege to announce their meetings. Rev. H. A. Brown at the Baptist church preached strictly a doctrinal sermon and while he did not mention the name, Mormonism, yet there was a strong undercurrent in his sermon which was no doubt intended as a severe arraignment of Mormon doctrine. Other pastors spoke equally strong words against the "invasion of these two elders, who in a quiet, unassuming way have stirred up such a hornet's nest."

The chamber of commerce will hold a call meeting tomorrow night to confer with Col. P. H. Lybrook about the movement to secure a government building. Congressman Linney is reported as anxious to secure all data and home support possible.

The first strike in years here occurred this morning. Three hundred colored employees at Brown & Williamson's tobacco factory came out in a body. Saturday evening when they were to be paid off for the past two weeks, they were offered their wages with a big reduction from the amount they had been getting. They refused to accept the reduction and postponed definite action until this morning when after several conferences among themselves they decided to strike. The factory is now closed and there is no immediate prospect of re-opening. It is believed however the matter will be satisfactorily adjusted.

WHEN SPRING TIME IS HERE.

The Winter of the Carpenter's Discontent Will be Over.

Men here in town who by reason of their line of business are in a position to know say that when the Spring season opens up there will be a great revival of building and work for carpenters and masons will be plentiful. The demand for comfortable homes is very large here, much larger than the supply, and there will be some attempt to supply it. The demand for houses is largely for houses of eight to a dozen rooms, houses modern in construction and arrangement. A number of houses of that class would find takers in a day. It is odd, too, that the town should not have more flats and apartment houses.

Nothing would pay better here than an apartment house conveniently located and properly built. Such a house of fifty rooms could be filled in few weeks. Of course the proposed extension of the sewerage system is having much to do with the promised revival in building. Such extension will mean the expenditure of thousands of dollars in homes in the next twelve months.

Just watch Greensboro when spring comes. There will be other music beside that of the birds.

Services Closed.

The week of worship at the First Presbyterian church closed with last night's services. The results of the meeting were most gratifying to the church in the professions of faith and renewed spiritual zeal in the church body. The large audiences that have heard Rev. A. R. Shaw, of Henderson, who has been conducting the meetings, have been greatly pleased with his earnest eloquence, force and sincerity as a preacher.

His sermon last night on "Excuses" was especially fine and some of the speaker's climaxes were genuinely dramatic. He held his audience spell-bound for minutes together.

A Credit to Our Town.

There is an institution in Greensboro that is a credit to our town in its business management and the growth of its deposits, and this is the People's Five-Cent Savings Bank. Their deposits have nearly doubled in the last twelve months and are steadily growing.

The Telegram congratulates this excellent institution on its splendid showing.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News from Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT, N. C., Jan. 24, '98.

Chief Bennett arrived last night from Charlotte with the three negroes, Will Jones, Tom Allen and Jerry Willoghby, who broke into Sapp's racket store.

Will Jones, of Salisbury, made a confession, and implicated Carl Holt and Alex Hoskins, who were arrested here yesterday afternoon by officer Burns. They were brought before Mayor Bradshaw this morning and had a preliminary hearing and were bound over to court. They were unable to give bond and were taken to Greensboro this morning.

A fight occurred here yesterday afternoon between two negroes named Clayton and Ad Alford over a pair of gloves. Clayton struck Alford on the head with a rock inflicting a deep gash.

W. E. Johns, Jr., left this morning for Mt. Airy.

Miss Marie Louise Dicks, of Randleman, passed here enroute to Raleigh.

Will Whicker, who was sick only a few days with pneumonia, died on Saturday night. He leaves a wife and one child. He was buried here yesterday.

Misses Bell and Minnie Grimes, of Thomasville, were in the city yesterday.

W. J. Armfield, of Asheboro, spent Sunday at his home here.

Miss Henryanna Hackney spent Sunday at her home at Guilford College.

A. V. Sapp went to Charlotte, yesterday morning to identify his stolen property.

A special train was made up here yesterday to take Dr. Bahson, of Salem, and Drs. Stanton and Cox, of this place, to Asheboro to attend those who were injured in the wreck on the Aberdeen & Asheboro railroad late Saturday afternoon. Engineer Brown's leg was amputated. The engine had cut loose from the cars and the brakes failed to hold them. The cars ran into the engine smashing the tender and several of the cars, injuring the fireman and pinning the engineer to the boiler with the above result. It was sometime before he was liberated.

CURED THEIR ILLS.

"The Divine Healer" at St. Matthews Colored Church.

At St. Matthews M. E. church, colored, last night, Rev. E. M. Collett, "the Divine Healer," preached to a large congregation from a part of the 9th chapter of Luke. He claimed that through God he had made the blind to see and consumptives to leave their beds and walk within five minutes after he had prayed with them.

After the sermon he called upon the lame and sick who were present to come forward and God would have him heal them. Four persons responded. He prayed for them with his hands upon their heads, and in a few minutes they arose and testified that their pains were gone.

Some of them went to their seats shouting. This man is a wonder among the colored people and much interest is manifested and great excitement prevails.

DOUGLAS OUT OF THE RACE

It Now Lies Between Lusk and Jim Boyd

WITH EWART AS A STRONG THIRD

The Appointment of Dick's Successor is Expected This Week, but May be Deferred Till Later.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The all important question that disturbs the minds of the North Carolina politicians here at the present is, who will succeed Judge Dick. Of the several men spoken of as probabilities, the most prominent are Lusk, Boyd and Ewart. However, there are some who believe that Senator Pritchard and Representative Pearson have endorsed Mr. Lusk. Col. Boyd, as far as Washington goes, is the most popular man named. But Col. Boyd is very much needed in his present place. It is learned from a good source that he is highly respected and is giving perfect satisfaction in the department of justice. Therefore, he is more than likely to be retained there.

Prominent republicans also say that Col. Boyd is too young and active in politics to be retired in that way. If one may judge by what is heard in Washington in republican circles, Mr. Boyd is by no means a politician of nothing more than state reputation, but he is a man of wide national reputation.

Judge Douglas seems to be out of the race entirely. It is between Lusk and Boyd, with Ewart as a strong third.

The appointment is expected this week, though it may not be made for some time to come yet.

Hunting the Vestibule.

Saturday night, a colored man named Charlie Brown, got full, very full, and with two pistols in his pockets started out to paint the town. Two policemen got on his track, but lost the trail. About eight o'clock he rushed into a place down the street where a young white man was trying to buy a second hand shirt, and said he was "hunting the through vestibule," at the same time landing a blow on the young man's breast which staggered him.

The negro ran, and escaped into the street. About this time Policeman Jordan heard him and made for him. Brown was saying:

"I'll paint 'er, I'll paint 'er red, or any old color."

"All right," said Mr. Jordan, "You may paint the jail first," and he closed in on him. It then occurred to the darkey that he had no paint and his fun amounted to nothing. When arrested he had lost or disposed of his pistols, as they were not found upon him.

Wang's Owners Still the Same.

There has been a very general but mistaken impression that Wang, the merry Siamese opera by Goodwin and Morse, has passed into other hands. As a matter of fact the work, which has been the greatest popular and financial success known in years, and which next month goes out for its third season, has not been sold. It is now the valuable property of identically the same owners as on the night of its first production two years ago. The contrary belief is probably due to the fact that during the first two seasons the opera's owners allowed it to be produced on a royalty, while during the coming season it will be under their own exclusive management.

They have recognized the fact that Wang has great intrinsic merits of its own, that its success was never for an instant dependent upon one individual and that altogether, the opera was too valuable a piece of property to permit to be produced on a royalty. These are the sole facts in connection with the many published rumors. It is a recognized fact among managers that the opera goes out this season with more money behind it and more money lavished upon its production than ever before.
