MRS. COTTON'S RECITAL.

An Ideal Evening and a Large Audience Greeted Her.

Last night in the Chapel of G. F. College Mrs. Sallie S. Cotton, of Falkland, N. C., read her famous poem, "The White Doe, or The Fate of Virginia Dare."

Miss Manie Currie, of Maxton, read a short, though beautiful, sketch of the myths and traditions connected with Virginia Dare, the first white child born on the American continent.

The reading of the poem consumed but an hour's time, and that hour was spent with intense interest on the part of the audience.

The description of the scenery in early north eastern North Carolina was true to nature. Her interpretation of the myths connected with the conversion of Virginia into a white doe and of the reconversion was deep, strong, still, and beautiful.

This poem is soon to be published in book form; and then it will take its place among the very finest literature of our day.

A Small Fire. Last night about 11:15 o'clock the boiler house at the furniture factory was found to be on fire and but for the timely work of some colored men the entire factory would soon have been ablaze.

First Church Announcement. There will be no services of any kind in the First Presbyterian church next Sunday morning or at night.

Failed to Materialize. A call was made yesterday for a meeting at the courthouse last night for the purpose of reorganizing the defunct Guilford Grays.
