A Card of Thanks.

Mr. Editor—Will you kindly permit me to thank, through your columns, all those who have so kindly assisted us with the bicycle drill.

I wish to thank especially the young people who have worked so hard and faithfully in getting up the drill and to assure them that we appreciate fully their generous efforts.

Brockmann's orchestra, the owners of the Banner warehouse, Mr. Marks for lights free of charge, those who assisted us with advertising, and last, but not least, our daily papers, which have so kindly and generously kept the matter before the public; all these we desire to thank separately and individually.

And now, one word of apology for the seats. Every effort was made to get chairs, but none could be procured for love money and as a last resort the improvised seats had to be used.

Again thanking all who have helped us and the public generally for kindly interest. Very sincerely,
J. D. Miller,
Rector of St. Andrews.

Cost of Traveling on Bad Roads.

An illustration of the comparative cost of hauling over good and bad roads is furnished by C. E. Ashburn, Jr., in the Louisville Courier-Journal. The incident came under his own observation and the roads were in Kentucky. He says:

"A machine weighing 16,000 pounds was drawn four miles on the Brock turnpike, a macadamized road. It required four mules (4000 pounds to a mule), and one-and-one-half hours of time, at a cost of 15 cents per mule per hour, or a total cost of four miles of ninety cents.

"After traveling four miles on macadamized turnpike the route lay a little less than 2000 feet (less than two-fifths of a mile) on a dirt road. To travel this 2000 feet it was necessary to use ten of the best mules and seven men; and with this force it took nine hours to complete the journey. The cost was $89.80, at which rate four miles would have cost $208.08; or, in other words, $208.08 is absolutely thrown away for want of a macadamized road."

THERE IS SUCH A LAW.

And it Should be Enforced or Else Repeated.

Communicated.

Dear Mr. Editor:—I notice with much pleasure that you are endeavoring to have all goods boxes kept from the sidewalks of our city. Several days ago you said something like this: "If there is an ordinance against such practice it should be enforced and if there is none there should be." I had occasion recently to investigate this matter and found that there is an ordinance against having boxes, etc., on sidewalks, the penalty being a fine of $5.00 upon conviction and $5.00 for every day they are allowed to remain there.

The only reason that some of our citizens have not insisted on this law being enforced is an unwillingness to break the peace and harmony and friendly feelings existing between those who persist in this violation of our law and those who have to suffer the great inconvenience and annoyance of these obstructions. It does seem to me that men of clear judgment and integrity as these men are who are so thoughtless of others' rights as to allow their employees to continue this nuisance would not take advantage of this friendly feeling but would try to do their part to sustain it. However, patience sometimes ceases to be a virtue and if these gentlemen are soon called up and made to pay for their violation of this law and disregard for the rights of others they can blame no one but themselves.

Allow me, Mr. Editor, in this connection to assure you of my hearty appreciation of the efforts you are putting forth from time to time to have public abuses corrected and to build up and improve our city's interests. Your success in this direction shows how wisely you have planned.

I only hope you may be as successful in remedying the evil above referred as you have been with others.

Very truly yours,
Justice.

Will Be Ordered Out.

Raleigh correspondent to the Charlotte Observer says:

The general belief is that an order for the mobilization of the State Guard will be issued tomorrow. Nothing has been done as yet. Major Hayes is still in Washington, and the Adjutant General is not here. It is expected that as soon as the government calls for troops a mobilization will be made at Raleigh of North Carolina's quota. The present strength of infantry of the Guard is about 1750, according to the colonels' reports, while the quota to be called for it seems, is 2,068. The statement is made that Gen. R. F. Hoke may be assigned to command of troops raised for home defense after the Guard is put into service. While there is intense interest here in war news, there is not the least excitement. Everything awaits tomorrow's developments.

Minister Woodford.

The Observer pauses amidst the activities incident to the war preparations, to repeat that while there is no public manifestation of admiration for him in any part of the country, its individual opinion is that nobody has borne himself any better throughout the whole business than Minister Woodford. In the first place he has done his best to preserve peace. After that it is to be said that he has behaved, as the Spanish capital, surrounded by hostile influences, with admirable dignity and fine courage. His situation at Madrid has been no less perilous than that of Gen. Lee at Havana, but through it all he has never lost his nerve nor said or done anything that called for any American to blush for him. Let us render honor where honor is due.—Charlotte Observer.

WOODFORD PARTY ATTACKED

Spanish Police Try to Capture a Member of the Legation.

FRUSTRATED BY THE MINISTER

At Valladolid the Train Was Stoned, Windows Were Broken--Protected by Civil Guards.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Hondaya, Spanish Frontier, April 22—Minister Woodford and staff reached the frontier this morning after most exciting experiences at Valladolid where the train was attacked with stones. The Spanish police attempted to capture a member of the legation at Valladolid. Morono is the member of the legation singled out for capture. The attempt was made on the ground that he is a subject of Spain. The arrest was frustrated, owing to the presence of mind of the minister. The windows were broken and the civil guards were compelled to protect his carriage with drawn swords.

The Morono incident threatened to be serious. A desperate effort was made to capture Morono which was only prevented by Woodford blocking the carriage door and saying that it could only be removed by force. Police accompanied the detachment from Toluca to San Sebastian, where the police officials left on seeing Woodford determined to maintain his rights. The party was greatly relieved when they left Spanish soil.

To Protect Capital.

Torpedoes and mines are being planted in the Potomac river below Washington. They are being put there as a safeguard in case of an emergency, and the exact locations of the mines are being kept secret. The majority of the work is being done by night, and is being pushed forward with an eye to the possible contingency of a hostile fleet attempting to shell the capital.

War Notes.

Senor Polo arrived at Niagara Falls yesterday afternoon. He refuses to be interviewed.

Consul R. M. Bartleman left Malaga for Gibraltar, yesterday.

A dispatch to the London Telegraph from Barcelona says that Spain's shortage of coal and provisions may bring hostilities to a premature end.
