Boston W. Ward,

Pharmacist.

The Ward Meetings.

The ward meetings in this city last night to nominate candidates for aldermen passed off quietly and harmoniously.

The first ward nominated the present incumbents, Messrs. Merrimon and Pickard.

The second ward nominated Messrs. W. B. Bogart and the present Alderman Frazier.

The third ward nominated the present incumbents, Messrs. Elam and Sergeant.

The fourth ward nominated the present incumbents, Messrs. Ellington and McKinney.

The fifth ward nominated new men, Messrs. John Lewis and E. E. Bain.

The sixth ward nominated new men, Messrs. J. W. Merritt and W. D. Mendenhall.

All the wards except the third, endorsed the present incumbent, J. J. Nelson, by acclamation. In the third no action was taken as to candidate for mayor.

Tonight the general convention will be held in the court house to ratify the action of the ward meetings.

The first ward meeting passed resolutions declaring itself in favor of the following improvements:

1. Laying of a sewer main from the Southern railroad to the outlet below Proximity mills, and from the court house along West Market street, to connect to main sewer.
2. The permanent macadamizing of West Market street, from the corner of Ashe to Cedar street.
3. For more electric lights in the first ward.
4. That the city should own its own water and lighting plants.

James Young.

That handsome, young and talented actor, Mr. James Young, will once again appear before the people in the well known play "David Garrick." Each year Mr. Young's talents as an actor have spread wider and wider throughout the universe and it will not be long before he will be recognized as one of the foremost actors of the day.

It is understood that certain New York parties, who have recognized his remarkable talents are anxious to engage this young actor for a tour next season throughout England and the continent, in which case we are afraid it will be a long time before the people of Greensboro will have an opportunity of seeing this talented and pleasing young actor again.

The play of "David Garrick" is one of the most humorous and laughable on the stage today, especially when Garrick meets the queer people at Trigg's dinner, and in the third act, when Garrick breaks up the dinner party through his drunkenness, the audience is kept in one continued uproar of laughter.

Early Morning Fire.

Fire was discovered this morning about five o'clock in the rear of the Sample Brown Mercantile company's store. The fire was spreading rapidly when discovered and several goods boxes and Mr. Brown's barn were burning. The alarm was turned in immediately and the flames soon extinguished. Had the fire had half an hour's headway the entire business part of town would most probably have been burned.

The origin of the fire is not definitely known. It is reported that two boys smoking cigarettes were seen running from that direction just before the fire was discovered. There is a probability however that the fire started from a pile of ashes thrown near the barn.

Strawberries.

The Ladies Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church, today and tonight, will serve strawberries and all kinds of ices and creams at the empty store room in the Benbow, recently occupied by Ruben, the tailor. Some of Greensboro's prettiest girls will preside at the tables and serve Klondike dainties. A number of young ladies from the Normal will aid in serving the delicacies.

Knights Templar Attention.

There will be a special convocation of Ivanhoe Commandery, No. 8, Knights Templar, this evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of installing officers. All Sir Knights are hereby commanded to attend without uniforms.

James D. Glenn,
Eminent Commander.

Statement From Capt. Gray.

DEATH OF SOL C. WEIL.

He Died Yesterday and Will Be Buried in Wilmington.

A dispatch from Wilmington announces the death of Hon. Sol C. Weil, at one o'clock yesterday in New York city. Mr. Weil died of catarrh of the stomach. Mr. R. I. Katz left last night for New York to accompany the body to Wilmington where it will be buried.

Mr. Weil was born in Charlotte, but soon afterward his parents moved to Wilmington, where he lived until he moved to New York city. Mr. Weil began the practice of law as a partner Major C. M. Stedman, who was at one time Lieutenant-Governor of North Carolina. Mr. Weil had relatives in Greensboro, being a nephew of Mr. E. R. Fishblade.

Although Mr. Weil had been in New York for only a short time he soon became one of the most prominent lawyers in the city. He was an especially brilliant man, and a lawyer of unusual ability. His death is particularly sad as he had prospects of a long and brilliant life of usefulness before him. He was assistant United States District Attorney under President Cleveland's last administration. He was elected last fall to represent the 19th district in the New York general assembly. This district has always been a republican stronghold and the democrats are usually defeated by a majority of from 6,000 to 7,000. The fact that Mr. Weil carried this district for the democrats and ran ahead of his ticket attest his popularity in New York.

A host of friends in this city and throughout the state mourn the untimely end of this brilliant young lawyer.

A Peculiar Use of a Check.

The people's National Bank of this city, is a United States depository, and as the revenue office cannot take checks, the bank attends to ordering stamps for its customers. We learn from the revenue office this morning that a gentleman from the country recently sent the bank $11 for a brandy stamp, but neglected to enclose the necessary papers therewith. The bank therefore could not send the stamp and returned him a cashier's check for the amount asking for the papers to be sent back with it. Upon receiving the check the countryman immediately pasted and tacked it securely upon the barrel of brandy and sent it on its mission. When he found his error this morning he told Mr. Reynolds that "he never had seed a white stamp before and thought it darned curious, but guessed she'd go a' right."—Winston Journal.

Meeting at Baptist Church.

There is an increasing interest in the meeting at the Baptist church. A large congregation was present last night and they listened with deep interest to a strong sermon on salvation. At the close of the sermon a number manifested an interest in their souls. The Bible reading yesterday afternoon on "Christ our Priest" was very helpful.

Customers in our estimation, when they are sent to us on a trading errand, we always remember that they are not discriminating buyers, and we take special pains to see that they get what both you and they want.

When we always try to be prompt in waiting on them, there is always a little worry at home when they are sent upon an errand and stay too long, often though no fault of their own.
