KICKED HIM OUT.

His Object Was to Get the Price of a Witness Ticket.

There has been, for several weeks, perhaps months, a tall, lank, saff onhued, one-legged, banjo-pickin' coon around Greensboro. Business in his line of late, has, evidently, not been very flush, and he set about to devise ways and means to raise a small stake of filthy lucre. In the fertility of his brain he hatched up a story and had a negro in High Point arrested on a charge of selling whiskey.

Yesterday afternoon "the cause coming on to be heard" Mr. W. P. Ragan was on hand to represent the High Point darkey. Solicitor Bynum. who has been helping Judge Timberlake hustle business along at a lively rate, and possibly with visions of another easy victory before his gaze. and the subsequent fee helping to swell his wallet, briskly called No. -. The 'merschaum colored coon'' was quickly hustled to the witness stand to tell his story which was to convict the High Point fellow.

In due time he was turned over to Mr. Ragan who began by asking him: "Who told you to swear out a warrant against this man?" To which he answered:

"Nobody."

"How many times have you been indicted for selling liquor?" This question tickled him, evidently, and he an-

"I don't know how many; but I alvays paid out and made it up."

Mr. Ragan then took another tack and asked him: "Didn't you tell So and So on the streets today, that you had never bought any liquor from this man here?"

"I was not on the witness stand,

The solicitor here took a hand and asked: "Did you say that?"

"Yes, sir; but I was not swearing." Mr. Bynum: "Well, get off that stand; we don t want any liars here." witness prove any ticket in this case, Mr. Clerk. Call the next case Mr. Solicitor."

Guilford College Notes.

Guilford College, Aug. 24. School opened Tuesday with over 100 new students. Every available room about the college is being used for dormitories and the old students who come a day late find it difficult to get their old rooms. The buildings have been thoroughly overhauled and on the inside have a bright and attractive appearance.

A complete system of water works and sewerage have been put in during the summer, which adds much to the convenience of the college. The water is brought to the college by a hydraulic ram or "sheep what aint got no wool" as some call it.

Every available foot-ball suit is in use and the prospects for a good team this year are very promising. A number of last years team have returned and Captain Armfield has had his men out every day this week and is getting down to hard work.

Society work is going on quietly but persistently.

MURDER OR MANSLAUGHTER?

Sam Lucas On Trial For Killing Henry Wood.

DEFENCE OFFERED NO EVIDENCE

On as We Go to Press-A Summary of The Evidence Given.

At 10:15 o'clock this morning the case of State vs. Sam Lucas for the murder of Henry Wood, which occurred in this city last Saturday afternoon, was called Col. Jno. N. Staples and D. Schenck, Jr., counsel for the prisoner, asked for a continuance on the ground that the wife of defendant was absent, in Boston, Mass. where she is at work; that it was essential that she be here to assist in making preparations for her husbands defence; that after diligent effort a message had been received in which she stated she would come at the earliest possible moment; that Lucas is poor and totally without means to prosecute the case; that his wife has the means and would be of great service in giving Lucas a fair chance for his life.

To these appeals the judge announced that he had anticipated this state of things and on Tuesday had made inquiry as to who would represent Lucas and had been told by Col. Staples that he would represent him. Otherwise he would then have appointed counsel to defend him. "Proceed with the case | for Winston in the interest of the gentlemen."

Mr. Schenck then announced that as he had appeared in the case thus far he would, with His Honor's permission, continue as associate counsel with Col. Staples.

Over an hour was consumed in the selection of a jury and at 12:10 the ex-Judge Timberlake: "Don't let this amination of witnesses began. C. C. Collins was the first witness called He testified in substance as follows:

I know Henry Wood. About 2:30 o'clock he came to the express office. Sam Lucas passed by with a companion and stood a few moments in front of Fergeson's store. Then walked partly across the street and talked awhile, then returned to the sidewalk in front of Fergeson's. Then walked toward the express office and put his hand in his pocket as if to get a weapon. By this time he reached the sidewalk in front of the office door. Here he drew his pistol. Wood saw him and ran. Lucas advanced toward the door and fired. Wood was running and was about twelve feet away. Lucas advanced and snapped his pistol. Wood had gotten about 50 feet through the office and Lucas fired again. I saw Wood put his hand up to his back at the second shot. Lucas still advanced and fired again. The fifth time he attempted to fire Wood was in the back yard attempting to get over the fence. The first attempt to get over the fence he failed, but in the second he succeeded and rolled over. I said, 'Sam, you are a fool to come in a place and shoot, you might hit somebody." He said, "that's all right, captain, I wasn't after anybody but that negro." He further said, "If there is a policeman here he can take and lock me up." Lucas was in front of the office eight or ten minutes before he fired the first shot.

Cross examined: I think Lucas was there at least eight minutes before the first shot was fired.

W. J. Weatherly: I arrested Lucas. He was on the sidewalk when I got there. While under custody he said: "I am afraid I haven't got him." I took his pistol. He again said: "I shot that negro and am afraid I have not killed him. I shot two other negroes, and if you'll let me have your gun and turn me loose I'll go back and fix that negro."

Cross-examined: The first I heard of the difficulty was the shots fired. I heard them and hurried there. Lucas had been drinking. Lucas told me Wood had called him a d-n liar, and he didn't allow no man to call him that, black or white.

Dr. J. T. J. Battle: Was called to see Wood about three o'clock Saturday afternoon. Found him on the ground between express office and Ashe street. I saw he was severely wounded. The doctor described the wound just as was printed in this paper on Monday. Wood died about one o'clock Sunday morning. The wound was the cause of his death.

F. V. Snell: I saw Lucas just before the shooting. He went up stairs at the Piedmont House and was gone only a moment. He came back and hesitated are sick and more fatalities are ex- hand to his pocket remarked: "I'll kill Britain.

cess W. J. Weatherly was recalled: Lucus said he went to his room to get his own pistol, but it wasn't there. If he had got his own pistol he would have fixed him right there, there wouldn't have been any jumping and running about it.

Cross-examined: The witness reinterated his former statements.

State rested its case. The defense introduced no testimony and the argument to the jury began. The Argument of Council is Going | Col. Staples led in an eloquent appeal for the prisoner's life. The speeches of counsel will probably occupy the remainder of the day. Maj. Stedman and Solicitor Bynum follow Col. Staples, speaking for the prosecution, and D. Schenck, Jr., for the defence, will close the argument.

MR. ALGER IS INVESTIGATING

The Rumors of Incompetency at Montauk Point

STORE FULL OF COTS AND BEDS

And Yet the Men Were Sleeping on the Ground-The Affairs Being Bettered-Other News.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Montauk, August 25-Secretary Alger passed his first night in camp in his private car, and was up bright and early this morning conducting an investigation of the rumors of incompetency in the management of the quartermasters department, which is already showing the effect of his visit.

While at the camp of the Second Massachusetts regiment Secretary Alger found many soldiers sleeping on the ground, many of them having no blankets. He expressed surprise at such conditions existing while there were several thousand cots and bed ticks in the store house, and it was not long before wagon trains from the depot began the wholesale distribution of these much needed articles, with tons of straw for extra warmth as well. Many of the new patients in the hospital owe their illness to the fact that after the last storm subsided they had to lie down on the wet ground to sleep. The hospital situation is now much more serious, owing to the prevalence of pneumonia, and many new tents for hospitals are being hurriedly erected. TROOPS ORDERED HOME.

Washington, Aug. 25-Orders have been sent to Gene al Miles directing him to send home all the troops not actually needed in Porto Rico. No point has yet been selected for disembarkation in the United States, but a number of sites are under discussion STILL MOVING.

The One Hundred and Fifty-Eighth Indiana, First West Virginia and Sixth Ohio will-leave this evening for Knoxville where they will await further orders.
