HOTEL NORMANDIE BURNED. Danville Visited By a Serious Conflagration.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE A MYSTERY. A Hitch in Getting a Stream on The Blaze—Some of The Losses And The Insurance. From this morning's Danville Register we take the following: The Hotel Normandie is a total wreck. A fire last night, beginning in one of the inner rooms of the third story, played havoc with the two upper stories and the flames and water did the work for the ground floor.

POOR FIRE FIGHTING. The construction of the building was such and the seat of the fire so unfortunately located as to make it difficult under the best and coolest of management for the department to make a good start. Who was at fault for the delay or who was to blame for the confusion and for the contradictory orders that reached the men at the hose, at the plugs and on the Hayes truck, The Register is not prepared to say, but simple fact seems to be that there was bad management somewhere, the firemen got rattled, and to these facts and an accident to the engine stationed at the corner of Main and Union street is due the delay in getting a sufficient stream in time to prevent the flames from getting a destructive headway.

GREAT EXCITEMENT. As might well be imagined, there was great confusion and excitement among the guests and occupants of the hotel, they running pell mell from the burning building, carrying with them such of their valuables as they could. Quite a lot of furniture was taken to the street and to nearby yards.

TOTAL HISSSED. Madrid, Sept. 16.—General Toral, who surrendered the Spanish army at Santiago to the Americans, arrived on the Vigo from Santiago this morning. A great crowd awaited his arrival and greeted him with a storm of hisses and abuse. The demonstration was so violent that the general returned to the ship and decided not to land until the people became more quiet.

HIGH OFFICIAL CONFESSES. Seoul, Sept. 16.—It is reported that a high official of the palace named Ko, has made a confession that he had ordered food to be poisoned which was intended for the king and crown prince.

LOSSES AND INSURANCE. An accurate list of losses and insurance could not be obtained this morning.

The building and hotel furniture was owned by Frank X. Burton, John L. Penn, and the Planters' National bank, who carried $12,000 insurance. E. H. and R. S. Ellyson, proprietors, loss on furniture, etc., $1,000. No insurance. Several of the regular boarders owned the furniture in their rooms and lost it all, but the value and insurance could not be obtained.

BOLTING POPULISTS. A Great Day at Goldston—Three Thousand People.

Special to THE TELEGRAM. Goldston, Sept. 16.—This is a great day for white supremacy in Chatham. There are people here from Moore, Harnett and Randolph. Hon. Lee S. Overman has just made an eloquent, masterful and telling speech, followed by a few impromptu remarks by Mr. W. W. Edwards, a former populist, who has returned to the democratic fold.

Thompson's Hulabaloo. Dr. Thompson would have us believe in his speech that his predecessor either did not sell Supreme court reports or did not turn into the state treasury the amounts. Mr. Cook shows that in the fifteen months and eleven days he was in office, he sold Supreme court reports amounting to $4,434, which the treasurer's books show. Dr. Thompson's accounts show only $4,396.48 for nineteen months and nineteen days from the same source.
