LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

Some Impressions of the Great City and Columbia University.

Correspondence Telegram.

New York City, Oct. 3, 1898. According to promise I will give you a few impressions of New York City life. Mr. George W. Wilson, of Lenoir, N. C., is with me. We arrived here last Tuesday noon, and have had but little to do in the University (Columbia) as yet. We both have been here twice and knew something about the great city from the standpoint of travellers. This time we have taken rooms in the centre of the University community and hope to know the city and its varied life from the standpoint of residents.

The greatest thing in the whole city is Columbia University. With today it begins its 145th year. Its new location in Morningside Park is superb. Just on the south is the great St. Luke's hospital; to the north, Teacher's College; on the west, Barnard College and the Hudson river; to the northwest the imposing yet beautiful tomb of Grant. In the center of the university grounds stands the million-dollar library, given by President Seth Low.

However, it has been in the city rather than in the university that we have spent most of our time so far. The more one sees of New York the greater it becomes; and the greatest contrast between the very rich and very poor is more evident each day. The multi-millionaire and the lowest pauper are seen side by side throughout this great metropolis. The great sensations of the past week have been the nominations of Theodore Roosevelt (Republican) and Justice Augustus C. Van Wyck (Democrat) for the governorship of New York state. The newspapers in many cases are with Van Wyck. By the way, the North Carolina people should take a good deal of interest in him. Hon. J. J. Osborne, assistant district attorney of New York, who married his daughter, is a North Carolinian; and it is stated by the papers here (I do not know how true it is) that Justice Van Wyck is a graduate of the University of North Carolina.

We had the first opportunity of taking in the battleships Saturday. We sailed alongside of the Iowa from Brooklyn to Thompkinsville. We found the Oregon, Brooklyn and Vixen anchored off Thompkinsville. The Iowa and Oregon started on their long voyage to Manila Saturday afternoon. It will take them till February, 1899, before they reach that faraway post. It was sad to see them preparing to leave the Atlantic ocean, the scene of their recent and glorious victory. New York and every American bids them a bon voyage. C. R.

At the Academy of Music.

The Lillian Tucker Company, opened a week's stand at the Academy of Music last evening before the largest audience that ever assembled in the building to witness a repertoire performance. Every seat was filled, fifty extra chairs in the aisles were occupied, and nearly a hundred people stood.

The performance of the play, "The Buckeye," was very clever, but even more to the audience's liking were the varied specialties introduced. These included Little Theodore, a captivating little midget, in character songs; the Sisters Millar, banjo and duet singing; Eunice Goodrich, in serpentine dance, and the animated picture machine, the "Wargraph." Especially good was the serpentine dancing, in which electrical effects contributed to the terpsichorean talents of the fair dancer.—Danville Register, Oct. 4.

The Lillian Tucker Company open at the Academy of Music here next Monday night, for a week's repertoire, in the laughable comedy, "The Buckeye," interspersed with attractive specialties. One lady admitted free Monday night with each 30-cent ticket. Seats on sale Friday morning at Gardner's Drug Store.

Normal Opens Tomorrow.

The State Normal and Industrial College opens tomorrow October 6th. A large number of girls came in last night from the western part of the state and today they have been coming in on all trains from every direction. About forty came in on the noon trains and many more are expected tonight. Everything points to a fine opening and President McIver expects the largest enrollment in the history of the college. He says he needs more room badly and will be crowded but none will be turned away on this account as board will be secured for them in some of the best homes in the city.

UNTERRIFIED DEMOCRACY.

Hon. R. B. Glenn at Court House Last Nig t.

A. L. BROOKS AT FINISHING MILL.

Strong Presentation of the Cause of Good Government—Large and Enthusiastic Crowds.

Last night long before the hour for the speaking at the court house a large crowd had gathered around the square. The High Point band played several lively airs at the corner of Market and Elm streets, and about 7:45 marched out to the finishing mill, followed by a good crowd to hear Hon. A. L. Brooks, democratic candidate for solicitor. Before eight o'clock the court house was packed, a goodly number of ladies being present. Bob Glenn had no reputation to make, but one to sustain. He knew the people and they knew him. He fully sustained his reputation and his most enthusiastic admirers were well pleased with his able effort.

THE SPEECH.

Promptly at eight o'clock, Hon. A. M. Scales, chairman of Guilford county democratic executive committee, briefly introduced Mr. Glenn. In the outset the speaker said he wanted to be perfectly fair to every man. He wanted every man to be perfectly fair and honest with himself and to vote his convictions. If he believes the republican party can give the best government, then vote for that party. If the populist, then vote with them. If the democratic, then vote that ticket. Take the records of all parties and let them speak. Look at every side of it. Under which government have the people been happy and contented? Which has been the cleanest? Which has cost the least money? Every good business man wants the most he can get for the least money.

Mr. Glenn said he was not asking for negro votes—they are solid. One hundred and twenty thousand negroes are already counted as having voted the republican ticket. They are true to their color. Can white men afford not to be equally true to theirs?

RECONSTRUCTION DAYS.

He then took up the days of reconstruction under republican rule and portrayed the darkness, the hideousness, the sorrow and the anguish of those days in convincing and convicting terms. While on this the great speaker warmed up to his work and every fibre of his massive frame quivered in response to the earnestness of his soul as he dictated the fearful and damning bill of indictment against the republican party for the horrors of reconstruction and the pitiable spectacle of an "exhausted judiciary."

Then as the powerful speaker turned from the wretchedness and shame of those days and ushered in the glorious triumph of democracy and the administration of Zeb Vance, the electric button was touched and the court house fairly shook with a mighty burst of applause in which the thunderous voice of the speaker was no more than the chirp of a sparrow in a cyclone, and he was compelled to stop until the cheering was over. The people were touched and stirred to the bottom of their hearts.

DEMOCRATIC RULE.

Mr. Glenn then gave a hurried review of the good results of democratic rule, the asylums and school houses built for white and black, teachers employed, and while this was being done, the taxes reduced from 80 cents on the hundred dollar valuation to below 40, then below 30, then down to 23. This brings us to the triumph of the fusion crowd at the polls, and what another picture of shame and degradation is presented!

STEALING PLATFORMS.

The speaker briefly recited the cause of the populists' leaving the democratic party and told why they should come back now. You say we stole your platform. Then, if it is a good thing, come and get on it with us and don't commit the unpardonable sin of trying to steal the republican platform. Of course, if you want it and do steal it you can't be indicted for it, for any lawyer will tell you that to be indicted for theft you must steal something of value.

FUSION RULE.

He then referred to the fusion legislatures and told of the increased expenses under fusion rule. Here he made a proposition to any man of any political creed that if he doubted any charge that he (Glenn) should make that he would pay his way to Raleigh or anywhere else necessary to prove it and if it were not exactly as represented he would come home and vote the republican ticket if the man accepting the proposition would be equally fair and vote the democratic ticket if he found the charges sustained. (No takers.)

The three first years of fusion rule in the state cost the taxpayers the enormous sum of $386,750 more than the last three years of democratic rule. He then referred to the iniquitous tax collecting law and the assignment law passed by the fusionists, in which the supreme court had to come to the relief to save the precious legislature. Upwards of sixty acts of that crowd have been declared unconstitutional.

Another damnable blot on the name of North Carolina is the fact that the fusion legislature didn't have time to adjourn in honor of the birthdays of the illustrious George Washington and the glorious Robert E. Lee; but that they did have time to adjourn as a mark of respect to Fred Douglas, the notorious negro politician and advocate of social equality and intermarriage between the races!

Referring to Cy Thompson's slander of Col. Saunders and Oct. Coke, now dead, the speaker was most severe. The Kirby Smith and Jim Young "incidents" were handled with righteous indignation.

CLOSING APPEAL.

Then, in closing he spoke of the conditions at the present time and appeal was most earnest and touching. Noticing a few republicans smiling, in thunder tones the speaker exclaimed: "You may smile, but not a mother's son of you has got the bravery to accept my proposition to go down east and take a look at things for yourselves." Mr. Glenn related an incident of an aged man on his deathbed recently in a fusion ridden county and told how the old man clasped his hands and prayed earnestly to God to spare him to vote for his country and humanity becoming election. When the speaker told this a brother of the republican state chairman, who was sitting on the floor inside the bar, laughed as if in derision of the old man's plea!

Mr. Glenn spoke for nearly two hours. Hon. Thomas Settle was heard to say that he went out expecting to hold the ablest presentation of that side and he heard it. The speaking accomplished much good.

MR. BROOKS SPOKE.

We learn Mr. Brooks had a good crowd at the Finishing Mill and as usual made a most eloquent, able and convincing speech. We are sorry we could not get a synopsis of it for publication; but we shall have another opportunity of hearing and writing of our gallant and popular standard bearer for solicitor.

THE NEWSPAPERS LIE.

If They Say Corbin Has Found Fault With Sampson.

Washington, Oct. 5.—General Corbin said today that the Roosevelt report would not be published. He has it securely put away in a ticket drawer and refuses to say if its publication will be of any service. Corbin has prepared a large mass of documents for submission to the war investigation board. It consists of correspondence, telegraphic and otherwise, in connection with the campaign in Santiago, Philippines and Porto Rico. He makes no comment in his correspondence. He says if the newspapers had found fault with Admiral Sampson they lie.

Guarded By Detectives.

Pana, Ill., Oct. 5.—Two car loads of negroes have arrived from Alabama over the Illinois Central and are guarded by Pinkerton detectives. A number of shots were fired at the deputies at the Pana coal company's mines last night. At midnight Sheriff Edmunds advised Capt. Craig to detach a detachment of troops.

A CONTINUED CONFERENCE.

Peace Commission Holds Its Usual Session.

MEMBERS REFUSE TO DISCUSS

The Views of Either: General Merritt or Admiral Dewey in Regard To The Philippines.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The United States Peace Commissioners held their usual session from 10 to 1 o'clock today in a continued conference with General Merritt. They have practically concluded to extend the canvass of the Philippine situation.

The members refuse to discuss the views of either General Merritt or Admiral Dewey with regard to the policy which should be pursued toward the people of the Philippines. Nothing could be learned other than that they recommended the retention of the islands or the evacuation of the American forces.

It is learned that Admiral Dewey handed General Merritt a communication setting forth his judgment upon a subject which is submitted with the report of the American military officers at Manila touching the condition of the Philippine islands.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU.
HIGH POINT, N. C., Oct. 5, '98.

Steeloff & Rothrock have bought out the grocery business of R. C. Charles. Workmen are now busy laying a new floor in the store room.

Poles have been distributed between here and Thomasville for a telephone line. The line to Archdale will be extended to Brook Lodge five miles south of Archdale. Both lines will be operated by the High Point telephone exchange.

"Uncle Nick" is having some incandescent lights put up on the veranda of Jarrell's hotel facing the railroad.

The Charlotte Observer today announces the death of Mr. R. A. Cole which occurred yesterday at the home of his parents at Cary. The deceased was better known as Bob Cole, who was the traveling auditor of S. A. L. He was at one time connected with the R. & D. railroad at this office and had many friends here who regret exceedingly to hear of his death.

A. A. Kirkman, proprietor of the High Point Mattress and Bed Spring Co., who has recently purchased the old Academy property, is moving the mattress department to that place.

Capt. W. H. Snow the newly appointed postmaster received his commission this morning and will take charge tonight. A. F. Esleman will be his assistant. W. C. Denny the present assistant will remain with them for several months. We trust Mr. Denny will remain with them all ways, for no better man has ever been in the postal service than Washington Denny.

The High Point Cornet band did the tooting for A. L. Brooks in Greensboro last night at the Proximity and Finishing mills.

The revenue officers here are doing such a good business here that the people are afraid to take a chew of tobacco without a stamp thereon or take a drink without first taking a stamp. In fact, osulatory exchanges are no good without a little stamping as you go along.

Wheeler Continues to Testify.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Gen. Wheeler continued to testify before the war investigation board. He finds no fault with the army camp and conditions, says that luxuries were supplied to the sick in hospitals and praises the work of the surgeons in providing a filter at Wikoff as a necessary precaution. The post pond was four hundred feet from the well, and in the opinion of the doctors it would take years for any detrimental matter to go from the pond to the wells.

More Witnesses.

Lexington, Oct. 5.—General Sanger and two members of his staff went to Washington today to testify before the war investigation board.

The Boston Gone, Too.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Admiral Dewey has sent the cruiser Boston to Tien Tsin.
