NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU, HIGH POINT, N. C., Oct. 29, '98.

There will be no services at the Presbyterian church tomorrow except Sunday school. Rev. J. R. Savage, of Asheboro, will preach at the M. P. church tomorrow. Preaching at the M. E. church tomorrow morning by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Scroggs and at night by Rev. P. J. Carraway, P. E. Quarterly conference will be held in the church on Monday. Services at Baptist church will be conducted either by the pastor or Rev. Mr. Corrick. The usual services at Friends church.

The democratic club will not meet on Monday night as usual, but will meet promptly at 7 o'clock in the Anchor warehouse on Tuesday night. Hon. Jas. H. Poy, of Raleigh, will address the people immediately after the club gets through their business. Mr. Poy is one of the state's ablest speakers and we trust will have a large attendance.

John Farlow has sold the R. J. Bell mine in South Carolina to Messrs. R. Purcell, of Sayre, Pa. and C. N. Florence, of Warrenton, Va.

The Coffin and Casket factory shut down yesterday until Monday for lack of lumber.

The Archdale band passed through last night returning from the state fair.

Wm. Ryder, advance agent for "Back on the Farm" was here today billing the city for this, the first attraction of the season, at the opera house next Wednesday night, Nov. 2. They have a good troupe, a large orchestra and a cornet band with them. Admission 25 and 35c. Reserved seats 50c.

Two small boys by the names of Merrideth and Shaw, yesterday afternoon while trying to steal F. G. Barbee's wheel decided that they could not make the rifle, so they cut the tires. These boys though they are small should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Hon. W. W. Kilchip, democratic candidate for Congress, fifth district, arrived about forty-five minutes last night and had so heavy a cold that he was unable to speak very long, but it was good to hear him.

Mr. Kilchip's reasons for not canvassing with Judge Adams, his opponent, was quite different from Adams'. From his account of it Adams surely must have lied about it; but then that is not hard for Adams to do. Though the air was so cold, and no fire in the warehouse, he had a very large attendance who stayed with him until the last. After the speaking was over two very large and beautiful bouquets were presented the speaker from the Young Ladies' Democratic Club, all of whom were present, with many other prominent ladies. We, with all others that were present, regret exceedingly that his speech was so short.

Several High Pointers attended the big circus at Greensboro today.

Col. Waring Dead.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM. New York, Oct. 29.—Col. George Waring, one of the best known citizens of New York, a former public officer, died of yellow fever this morning. Black vomit came on at 2 o'clock and lasted five hours. Strict guard was kept at the house, which was quarantined. He devised the drainage system of Memphis, after the yellow fever epidemic in seventy eight, which has been adopted by every American and European city. He was author of many engineering works and best known for revising the system of street cleaning for New York. He arrived here from Havana Wednesday with the disease.

THOUGHT HE HAD COLD.

New York, Oct. 29.—When General Waring first arrived at quarantining the officers thought he was only suffering with cold.

Ladies who wear common sense shoes can find what they want in that line at Thacker & Brockmann's. They have these shoes from $2.50 a pair down to $1.25 and one line at $1.75 is particularly recommended for comfort and wearily qualities.

DR. YATES ON TRINITY COLLEGE

He Takes Up The Items Separately And Lays Down The Facts in Connection—A Strong Letter.

Mr. Editor—In a recent issue of the North Carolina Christian Advocate, the "senior editor," Rev. Mr. Crawford, in a long editorial, gives a sort of impersonal resume of what he affects to think "many people believe" as to Trinity College. The News and Observer gets the pitch of the "senior editor's" article in the following extract, and it is all there in it, except the bitterness towards the college which the "senior editor" has been partially holding in for three or four years. I quote from his article:

"We are impressed that unless the trustees inaugurate a movement very soon looking to relieving the college from connection with the American Tobacco Company, and let Old Trinity share more largely in the benefits of the endowment fund, and change the spirit and policy that have dominated it for the past two years, our preachers will be slow to pledge themselves to its continued support."

Now, this is intended to be a terrific warning, if not a death-blow. But a little examination will show that it is as thoughtless as it is illogical. "The college must be relieved from connection with the American Tobacco Company, and let Old Trinity share more largely in the benefits of the endowment fund," says the editor. It is only necessary to ask. What endowment fund does this able editor refer to? How can Old Trinity share more largely in the endowment fund, if Bro Crawford cuts loose from and returns Bro. Duke's money, which he affects to identify with the American Tobacco Company? No one knows better than this "senior editor," if he had me of a man named Toney. Toney acted in a similar manner to Bro. Duke's, and was only saved from being hurt by falling on his head, that being the hardest knot about his corporosity.

In addition to Colonel Julian S. Carr's $10,000 at one time, and his generous gift annually, with others, to defray the running expenses of the college for several years, there has been given by others several small sums that went into the endowment fund with Col. Carr's $10,000. What sum that makes at this time I do not know certainly, but it is very small. At any rate, I am quite sure that if the "senior editor" succeeds in repudiating and returning Mr. Duke's money, there is not enough endowment at left—or buildings, or anything else, for that matter—except the land given by Col. Carr, worth any further attention, or effort, much less "sharing more largely with Old Trinity." Does the "senior editor" expect to "eat his cake and have it, too?" He seems to want Mr. Duke's money to share with Old Trinity, and at the same time abuses Mr. Duke for giving it! What will he do? Will he cut loose from Mr. Duke, but hold on to the boodle? This will be a gay performance for men and angels to witness: Let the curtain rise!

Meanwhile, would it not be right for Bro. Crawford to return the wicked money which he received while acting as one of the professors in the college? Or was the vileness of the money the reason for his being gone?

But another condition which the "senior editor" requires before he will let his "preachers" pledge themselves to a continued support of the college, is that there must be "a change of the spirit and policy that have dominated it for the past two years." What spirit and policy does he refer to? Did he not have his own son educated there in the buildings put up with Mr. Duke's money, which he affects to identify with a bugaboo of a trust? And why does the "senior editor" fix only the "last two years" as the rise of the "spirit and policy that dominates the college?" He knows that present spirit and policy runs several years back prior to the "last two years, and it is the same now, if I understand it, that it was then. Dr. Kilgo, in reply to a statement of mine, told me there was no intention to make war on the University. He knew me to be a friend of Chapel Hill, and I am sure he never said anything to me, nor have I ever heard him say anything in public, that could be

Washington, Oct. 29.—The annual report of the Dawes Indian commission, bringing the work of that body in reorganizing the Indian Territory up to date early this week, was made public today. The report urges that some provision be made by the government for educational purposes. The whites should have separate provision for schools. There are three hundred thousand residents in the territory.

HANDS NOT TIED. Washington, Oct. 29.—Advices from Paris say there is no change in the peace negotiations situation and the statement is reiterated that the negotiations are in a fair way to be brought to a speedy termination. Secretary Hay, in answer to the inquiry about the reports of the probable purchase of the Philippines, said, "The hands of the commissioners are not tied," meaning that the matter is left to their discretion.

FIVE EXECUTIONS. Candia, Oct. 29.—Five more Musselman's who were convicted for taking part in the massacre of British soldiers on September 6th, were executed today, and four Bashi Bazooks were sentenced to twenty years imprisonment.

EARLIER THAN USUAL. London, Oct. 29.—Influenza has appeared earlier this winter than usual. There have been fifteen deaths this week.

WHY HE HESITATES. London, Oct. 29.—The Central News dispatch from Paris says Defreyndt has not yet dignifiedly accepted the war portfolio. It is stated that he is hesitating in his acceptance of the place because of the probability of a retrial of the Dreyfus case.

ABSOLUTELY FALSE. Paris, Oct. 29.—The report that Marchand had been ordered to leave Fashoda is declared upon semi-official authority to be absolutely false.

BRYAN IMPROVING. Savannah, Oct. 29.—Col. W. J. Bryan continues to improve and his wife will not come from Nebraska as was at first expected.

REVISION GRANTED. Paris, Oct. 29.—The Court of Cassation has decided to grant a revision of the Dreyfus case and will institute a supplementary inquiry. The order of release was declined.

Will Marchand Withdraw. London, Oct. 29.—The Pall Mall Gazette summarizes the result of the meeting of the British Cabinet as follows: "Marchand must withdraw unconditionally, and the question of France to the accession of the Nile will not be discussed. When Marchand withdraws then it will be determined whether questions will be raised to admit of discussion, and every facility will be afforded to assist the withdrawal of Marchand. If he refuses to withdraw he will be treated as a foreign visitor and will not be allowed reinforcement because he left France to adopt active measures to precipitate a conflict."

Finish Shoes for Women. Are the "swell" thing in ladies' foot millinery shown in button and lace at the Carolina Shoe Company.

As to Coaling Stations. Washington, Oct. 29.—The navy department, which was early in the field to secure a good wharf site for a naval station at Honolulu, has made no such effort to secure a similar advantage for Cuba. The department doesn't see any necessity for anything more than a coaling station at some point in Southern Cuba.

Boston has been selected as the place for the next national soldiery convention, Cleveland being a close second.
