"HONEST ELECTIONS."

The very few Populists who have remained with the fusion crowd say the populists have interests in common with the republicans of North Carolina. Mr. Stratford said that was the reasonthey co-operated. Chief among the "interests in common," as given out publicly, is a solemn and long-faced cry of "honest elactions. Let's look at it a moment. The Legislature (fusion) of 1895 passed a new election law. It was amended by another fusion legislature in 1897. It was framed and passed as a sequel to the campaign cry of fusion orators for a "free ballot and a fair count." Many honest white men were induced to vote the fusion ticket because they were made to believe there was corruption in the management of elections. All this the fusionists promised to remedy. There was to be no more cerruption, and under the fusion election law (which, by the way, is a jewel) there would hereafter be peace and harmony-registration would be correct, and there could not even be any attempt at fraud.

Well, what has been the result? Take our four city precincts and determine who is in favor of "honest elections." The machinery in the hands of the fusionists, manipulated under their own made-to-order law, the democrats discovered and had the names of SIXTY-TWO illegal voters stricken from the books, while not one registered democrat was illegally found.

Two men whom Mr. Bradshaw admitted he advised to register, were not legal voters and were marked off. Others were registered in more than one precinct. Yet, men who advise men not entitled to vote to make the attempt, cry loudly from the stump, "honest elections."

Mr. Stratford, which do you sincerely believe is the honest party, and who, does it strike you, is attempting to perpetrate fraud in this election ?

The memorable campaign of 1898 is fast drawing to a close and with the rise of tomorrow's sun the lines of battle will be formed. To which army do you belong? Will you cast your lot with the great white army of Anglo-Saxons or will you disgrace your race by lining up with the black array
