A DRUNKEN FIGHT.

A Young Man from Asheville Badly Hurt.

Sunday morning about one o'clock a fight, in which one young man was seriously hurt, took place at a respectable house in East Greensboro. About six young men were in the fight and a Greensboro young man knocked a young man from Asheville, in the head, fracturing his skull. The wound bled profusely—perhaps a quart of blood flowing from it.

Night Officers Whittington and Weatherly reached the scene shortly after the fight and, without making any arrests, at the time, brought the injured young man to the Benbow House where he was stopping. A physician was summoned and is yet attending him. The physician says that, though the wound is very bad one, the young man will be out by the latter part of the week.

The Greensboro young man who delivered the blow was arrested this morning and is now in jail. He will have a preliminary hearing before Mayor Taylor this afternoon. He is of a good family and it is a pity that he is connected with such a disreputable affair. The names of all the young men are withheld for the present for reasons best known to the police.

The building belongs to Mrs. Yates and was very badly damaged especially in the rear part. It was insured in the Southern Stock Mutual for $400. Mr. Wingate estimates his loss at $2,000 with $1,200 insurance. He saved nothing but bicycles and a show case of bicycle and sewing machine fixtures. Four bicycles and three sewing machines were among the more valuable things destroyed.

A FIRE TODAY.

W. A. Wingate's Bicycle Store the Scene of Destruction.

An exciting fire broke out at 1:15 o'clock today in W. A. Wingate's bicycle store, caused by the explosion of a can of gasoline. The flames spread rapidly, and as there was no alarm except the ringing of the court house bell, the firemen were late reaching the scene. Finally, however, when three streams of water were turned into the building the fire did not last long. The firemen worked heroically, ably directed by Acting Chief Pleasant, assisted by Ex-Chief Stone.

Mr. Wingate estimates his loss at $2,000 with $1,200 insurance. He saved nothing but bicycles and a show case of bicycle and sewing machine fixtures. WILSON WANTS HIS SON.

Chief of Police Rees Asks to Find Him.

Chief of police Rees received a postal this morning from J. Frank Wilson, of Indianapolis, Indiana, inquiring as to the whereabouts of his son, J. Frank Wilson, Jr., who has been around Greensboro for sometime. Mr. Wilson also wrote that he had sent the railroad fare for his son to come home.

Young Wilson is about 19 years old and has been in Greensboro for several months. Before he came here, he says, he was a private in the fifth regular cavalry, and was discharged on account of injury received by being thrown from his horse, in a sham battle. He goes about the streets dressed in part of the uniform of a cavalryman. He is destitute and without sufficient clothing for cold weather. He has not yet received the money, which his father claims to have sent, and Chief Rees is at a loss to know what to do. Wilson says his father is ex-sergeant of police of Indianapolis.

C. E. Eckles' House Burned.

Shortly after noon today, the home of Mr. C. E. Eckles, who lives about two miles east of town, was totally destroyed by fire. Mr. Eckles and family came to town this morning, leaving no fire in the house except a few sparks in the cookstove, and has no idea as to how the fire originated. The house was a single story frame building. The loss is about $2,000, a large portion of which is in valuable books and oil paintings.

An Arm Broken.

Little William Wetmore, about 12 years old, was the victim of a painful accident yesterday, at his home on King street. He was running up the steps when his foot slipped and he fell, throwing his whole weight on his left arm which struck against the edge of the porch floor. The small bone of the arm, below the elbow, was broken.

William had the large bone of the same arm broken a short while ago while playing roughly and this had just healed when the dose was repeated yesterday.

NOT SUFFICIENTLY POSTED.

To Legislate Intelligently on The Philippines.

SAYS CONGRESSMAN BAILEY.

Favor Bryan and Currency Question For Campaign of Nineteen Hundred—Gen. Garcia Dead.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Congressman Bailey, the democratic leader in the house of representatives, says Congress is not sufficiently posted to legislate intelligently with reference to the Philippine Islands. He is willing to see the whole matter go over until the next session. He is opposed to annexation and favors wise and just legislation.

BRYAN AND CURRENCY.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Among the democratic senators here twenty-three favor Col. Wm. J. Bryan for leader in 1900, and the old issues until new ones are developed. Of the democratic representatives here ninety-nine favor Bryan and currency question. Nine are non-committal.

GEN. GARCIA DEAD.

Washington, Dec. 12.—In speaking of the death of Gen. Garcia, which occurred yesterday, Col. Sangulilly said today that "the plans of the Cuban commission which General Garcia had mapped out will be carried into effect by the remaining members according to his known wishes. No one will be sent to replace him as a member of the commission, but as soon as we get settled again the work will proceed."

GARCIA'S FUNERAL.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The arrangements for General Garcia's funeral have not yet been completed, but the services will probably be held in St. Patrick's church and be performed by the High Prelate of the Catholic church.

The body will be placed in a vault awaiting its final disposition. It will undoubtedly be interred in Cuba. The military arrangements are in the hands of the war department. All the honors of war will be rendered at the funeral of the distinguished Cuban patriot.

Hon. D. A. Covington Dead.

Judge Timberlake, who is holding court here, received a telegram this morning announcing the death of his brother-in-law, Hon. D. A. Covington, which occurred at his home in Monroe this morning.

Judge Timberlake will close court this afternoon, and accompanied by his wife, who is here with him, will leave tonight for Monroe to attend the funeral.

Mr. Covington was assistant district attorney for the western district under Hon. Robert Glenn and was known and admired by his fellow lawyers throughout the state.

Child Badly Burned.

The little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cox, who live on North Elm street, was seriously burned this morning, by playing too near the fire, its dress catching from the fireplace. Mrs. Cox stepped out of the room, leaving the child alone, and was gone but a moment when she heard the little one screaming—running in she found the child's dress ablaze almost all over. The mother quickly smothered the flames and sent for a physician, who dressed the burns and did all in his power to alleviate the intense suffering of the little one. The child was badly burned on the face and arms.

A Treat.

The following is contributed by a gentleman confined in the county jail on a peace bond. It is the result of much study and was composed immediately after a hearty breakfast:

We prisoners of the county jail enjoyed quite a treat Sunday morning in the way of biscuit and well fried bacon good coffee and molasses. biscuit has bin quite a stranger in these walls for quite a while horah for the new sheriff.

Several of the leading men of the furniture factories here will go to Atlanta tonight to the meeting of furniture manufacturers of the south to be held there.

Isn't it strange that some people have to fix up their sidewalk or the town will fix it up for them and make them pay for it sometimes where there is not so much passing done thereon, and that there is a sidewalk on Main street within 250 yards of the centre of the town, where there is a ditch in the middle of the sidewalk that zigzags like the worm of a fence and that it is an actual fact that more water runs in this ditch than in the side ditch along this sidewalk, and that it is in front of the property of one of the wealthiest men in town. Possibly when the town authorities are making their round looking at the sidewalks, their eyes fall upon the magnificent abodes along these sidewalks and not upon the walks.

Those unnecessary doors at the entrance to the post office which we mentioned last week have been taken down we are glad to state.

Two Pointed Questions Answered.

What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you can not get a better price for it?

Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much greater in the aggregate.

How can you get the public to know your make is the best?

If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one.

This explains the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon. They may occasionally take up with some fashionable novelty put forth with exaggerated claims, but are certain to return to the one remedy that they know to be reliable, and for coughs, colds and croup there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A VERY SLIM ATTENDANCE.

At the Democratic Caucus Saturday Night.

BAILEY'S OPPONENTS NOT THERE.

An Existing Sentiment Against Caucus Rule to Bind Members On Matters of Legislation.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The democratic caucus held Saturday night was very slimly attended, though considerable interest was manifested. The opponents of Mr. Bailey, with very few exceptions remained away from the caucus. Out of a total of 128 members only 86 were present, and about 65 of those in attendance are known to be friendly to the Texas Congressman. What course the opponents of Mr. Bailey will take is not known, as no opposition was manifested in the caucus to the adoption of the resolutions which have been pending since last June. There is a sentiment existing against caucus rule to bind members on matters of legislation, upon which there is a division in the party, and upon which the national democratic convention has not been called upon to decide. It is notable that Representative McMillan, who has recently had a very exciting controversy with Mr. Bailey was not present. Representative Richardson, however, who is president of the caucus, and who aspires to succeed Mr. Bailey as minority leader was present, as were also several other members of the Tennessee delegation.

There is only one democrat in the present house from North Carolina, and he was not present at the caucus. Members who were in attendance were seen after the caucus adjourned, and they state that the meeting was harmonious, and that the resolutions adopted are binding alike upon those who attended, and upon those who absented themselves for one reason or another. During the caucus not once was the leadership of Mr. Bailey questioned, and the subject of the minority leadership of the Fifty-sixth congress was not broached by any one. The opinion of a majority of the caucus is that the question of the minority leadership of the Fifty-sixth congress can well afford to go over to the next congress without being discussed at this time as this house has nothing whatever to do with the subject.

Governor Russell, who is in the city on business connected with the war department, called to see President McKinley Saturday afternoon, and had quite a lengthy discussion with him concerning matters of interest to the state. The governor would not say whether the recent troubles at Wilmington were broached by the president, but the impression is that the matter was discussed. The governor, since being in Washington, has been very reticent, refusing to talk upon his future course of action in any particular. He said Saturday afternoon, however, that he had no fear of impeachment proceedings before the next legislature, which is about to assemble. Governor Russell spent Sunday in Washington quietly, at the Ebbitt House, receiving a few callers.

Col. and Mrs. Morehead, who have recently returned to Washington, have opened their residence, having leased what is known as the Curry House. The mansion is quite large, and will enable them to entertain during the winter, as is their custom. It is likely that their home will form one of the most attractive of the southern colony in Washington.

The First North Carolina regiment, it is said, will have the honor of being the first volunteer regiment to land at Havana. The regiment is now en route for Cuba, having left Savannah the other day.

Miss Katydid Jones, a well known young lady of Washington, is visiting North Carolina for a few weeks. At the present she is the guest of Mrs. Shepard, in Hillsboro, where she will remain for some time.

Col. Webster, and quite a number of prominent South Carolina politicians are in the city for the purpose of interesting the president in the post office appointments in South Carolina, before his departure for the South.

The Spartanburg, South Carolina, post office becomes vacant in a few days, and it is expected the appointment will be sent to the Senate.

Among North Carolina people in Washington are Thomas P. Wilcox, of Elizabeth City; Lewis Walker, of Milton; J. P. Overman, Elizabeth City; George K. Pritchard, Bakerville; and Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Clark.

Special services were discontinued in North Carolina as follows: Burden, Bertie county, from Aulander. From January 2nd, 1899.

Post masters have been commissioned in North Carolina as follows: Walter S. Watkins, Campbell, and John H. Calowell, Walter.
