THE DISPENSARY.

How the Battle Was Fought and Won in the Senate.

From this morning's News & Observer we take the following account of the passage of the Greensboro dispensary bill through the senate:

The Greensboro dispensary bill was the special order for 1 o'clock and immediately when it was taken up Senator Bryan offered an amendment providing that the question of dispensary or no dispensary be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors.

Senator Hairston, who had charge of the minority report on the bill, gave the amendment right of way, the issue being established outright or only by a special election for it.

Senator Wilson spoke first and did not conceal that he was poorly pleased that there should be an attempt to amend the bill contrary to the wishes of the representatives of Guilford county.

Senator Wilson said it was a matter that affected his people, the people he was sent to represent. It was purely a local measure and he was responsible to his people. The question had already been submitted to a vote of the people. The negroes held the balance of power in Greensboro. The senator from Craven did not wish the negro to rule in Newbern, but was willing to give them an opportunity to rule in Greensboro. People had been induced by outsiders to come on the floor and declare that the people he represented did not want the dispensary. He thought he was advised as to what they wanted.

Senator Campbell denied that a majority of the white voters of Greensboro were in favor of the dispensary.

Senator Lindsay said that all the representatives of Guilford county and all the senators living near Greensboro favored the dispensary. Senator Justice said the senator from Greensboro had made an honest, earnest effort to ascertain the wishes of his people. He had declined to advocate the bill until the people had spoken in a primary. The primary was held and was overwhelmingly in favor of the dispensary. The negroes in Greensboro held the balance of power and their vote would control on a high moral question. He stood with the good people of Greensboro.

Senator Bryan said the negroes would not control under the new election law. The question was not purely local because it established a precedent of allowing a minority to dictate legislation.

Senator Glenn said if the representatives of the county were divided there would be some excuse for interfering; but they all favored the bill. Greensboro was in a largely Quaker county; the people favored prohibition. It was the grand centre of female education in the state, the place where the future mothers of North Carolina were being trained. The dispensary deprived no man of his rights. Every man could drink to his heart's content but it put an end to treating. It put an end also to drinking after sundown, the greatest curse of the country. It was said that the passage of the bill would hurt the Democratic party. If the Democratic party had to stand upon such grounds then let it be swept away. There were 1,700 petitioners for the dispensary and only forty against it.

Senator Hairston asked if part of the petitioners were not negroes.

Senator Glenn replied that if so it showed that some negroes were rising to a higher moral plane. The representatives of Guilford would be untrue to their obligations if they failed to support the bill. "Who favors the bill?" he exclaimed. "The good people of Greensboro. Who oppose it? A man who a few years ago came from the North and settled outside of Greensboro. The citizens voted a tax to build an avenue out to his property. Now no liquor is allowed to be sold about his home, but he wishes to have it sold near the homes of other people."

Senator Glenn declared that he had been warned not to favor the dispensary as it would injure his chances of political preferment. Such should not deter him. He would cast his ballot for the dispensary regardless of consequences to himself.

Senator Franks said there could be no morality about legalizing the sale of liquor. He preferred the bar room to the dispensary.

Senator Daniels had doubted the propriety of bringing in bills of the dispensary sort. He proposed to vote for the bill because the senator from Guilford assured him that the people wanted it.

Senator Brown said the opposition had an opportunity to express their sentiments at the polls and had failed to do so. Now they should not open their mouths against it. He believed the dispensary was the solution of the liquor question. He would vote on the moral side of every question as he saw it.

Senator Smith said since the sentiment of the people of Greensboro was for the dispensary he should support it. The elector could not be held under the new election law because it did not go into effect until just before the next general election.

Senator Cooley said he would sup-

AGUINALDO'S MANIFESTO.

Laments Hostilities, Which He Tried To Avoid

"HUMILIATING CONCESSIONS"

"Corrupt Spanish Dominion Preferable to Odius American Domination."—Manila Incendiaries.

By Cable to the Telegram.

Hong Kong, Feb. 22—Aguinaldo has issued a manifesto, and accepted the situation caused by "the unexpected provocation of the Americans."

While lamenting the hostilities, which he says he tried to avoid by every means in his power, making humiliating concessions and tolerating outrages by the army of occupation against the people of Manila," he adds that he is prepared to sacrifice everything to maintain his integrity and the national honor.

He further alleges that the country is unanimous in his support and the people will perish rather than accept the odious American domination to which "even the corrupt Spanish dominion is preferable."

The Philippine commission is considered a farce, Odis, Deany, Dewey and Secretary Harder being classed as pronounced annexationists, later being charged with having maliciously defamed the Filipino newspapers and being especially obnoxious to the Filipino government.

Finally, Aguinaldo "wishes to proclaim to the world officially and dispel the false rumors that Germany or any other power had rendered assistance, moral or national, to the Filipinos, nor have the Filipinos solicited aid."

TRIED TO BURN MANILA.

Manila, Feb. 22—Eighty houses were burned in an attempt to destroy the place, native men disguised as women being the incendiaries. When they arrived at the building marked as the starting point they told the inmates what was intended, started a blaze and departed without molestation, laughing and jeering at the unfortunate householders. The wind, however, spoiled their plans, the flames being fanned toward the district occupied by rebel sympathizers.

Hustlers They Are.

We have before mentioned the hustling qualities of G. T. Kearsley & Co., real-estate and financial agents, of this city. Their latest stroke of enterprise, which has come to our notice, is a map printed on the back of their letter paper showing the position of Greensboro with relation to other cities. The map embraces that part of the United States from New York to Chicago, then south by St. Louis and Memphis to New Orleans and Key West, thence north along the Atlantic coast to New York. Among all the cities embraced in this territory Greensboro shows up with railroad advantages and location equal to any of them.

Contract for Plumbing.

The Odell Hardware Company have contracted with Messrs. Wharton & McAlister to do a part of the plumbing in the latter's new buildings on East Market street. The Odell Company's contract calls for $3,725. Mr. Wharton says that this will not near complete the work, none of the gas plumbing being embraced in this contract.

Work on the building was resumed yesterday and with good weather it will soon be ready for the plumbers.

Something Original.

The following was composed by a Greensboro boy, and is to be sung to the tune, "She Was Bred in Old Kentucky":

She was bred in old Kentucky,
She was pie in New Orleans,
She was born beef in Chicago,
And in Boston was baked beans,
In New York she was plain old corn,
In Philadelphia she was tea;
In Milwaukee she was lager beer;
In Greensboro—Dispensary.

Washington's Birthday.

By Wire to the Telegram.

New York, Feb. 22—Washington's birthday is being observed as a strict holiday. The banks, exchanges, custom houses and postoffice are closed. There is a more general closing of business houses than ever before. The day is pleasant and great crowds of people are traveling for pleasure and visiting.

Notes From High Point.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

By Cable to the Telegram.

We are glad to state that High Point will soon have a steam laundry. The company has been organized. W. H. Ragan, J. H. Mills and his son Albion, are the stockholders.

Prof. W. G. Kirkman, of Burlington, former music director at Oak Ridge, was in the city today with the intention of organizing a music class.

Chief Bennett arrested a colored boy last night for stealing a ride on No. 7, and locked him up.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the M. P. church.

M. H. Shipplet went to Thomasville this morning.

Miss Florence Eshelman, the clever clerk at the postoffice, is spending the day in Trinity.

Tom Worth, of Worthville, spent a few hours in the city this morning.

Miss Malt Carr, librarian at the G. F. college, passed through this morning enroute to Trinity.

Prof. Geo. H. Crowell will preach the annual sermon to the Junior Order in the Methodist church on next Sunday morning. Public cordially invited.

Mrs. T. J. Finch and J. Elwood Cox returned home last night.

Mrs. Dr. F. C. Frazier, of Trinity, and Mrs. Dr. Moore, of Arnold, spent last night in the city with Mrs. W. G. Babb.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Millikan, of Greensboro, who have been down to Asheville a few days on business, passed through this morning returning home.

Jess Harrison and P. V. Kirkman are spending the afternoon in Greensboro on professional business.

THE END OF THE FIGHT.

Sixty-five of the City's Best Men at Work in Raleigh.

When the sun goes down today it is probable that the Greensboro dispensary question will have been settled, it will be known which side has won the hardfought battle, though as the matter comes up before the committee at 3 o'clock this afternoon, it will probably be too late to get anything for publication today.

The end of the battle will be exciting. Both sides are using desperate methods to win on the last point. The opposition has been making a hard fight in Raleigh and sixty-five of Greensboro's representative business and professional men left for Raleigh this morning, and will employ every honorable means to secure the dispensary. The party went in a special car attached to the 8:10 train.

To Begin Business Monday.

The Hague-McCorkle Dry Goods Company expect to be ready for business next Monday. As has been previously stated they will occupy the building recently vacated by the Merchants Grocery Company, which is being put in order today. A large amount of the goods are in the depot and will be opened as soon as the store is made ready for them. This will be one of the largest wholesale dry goods firms in the state and the Telegram wishes and predicts for its success. Messrs. Hague and McCorkle and their associates are men of exceptional ability and with a capital stock of $60,000 will soon place their company in the front rank of North Carolina business houses.

Dangers of the Grip.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for La Grippe we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure La Grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by C. E. Holton.

MASON CHALLENGED BUTLER

To Name One Prominent Lawyer Opposed to Ewart.

CHALLENGE IS YET UNANSWERED

N. C. Democrats Are Not Unanimous in Supporting Butler in His Opposition to Ewart.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Feb. 22—Senator Mason, of Illinois, who is a supporter of Judge Ewart in his fight for confirmation, which is now pending in the United States senate, is of the opinion that Ewart would be confirmed by a small majority. In spite of the claims made by Senator Butler, Mr. Mason says that his own poll of the senate, if he is not misled, shows that a majority of the senate will vote, if permitted to do so, for confirmation. Senator Butler's course in declining to accede to a request for unanimous consent to take a vote looks as if there might be something in Senator Mason's claims. Senator Mason in the course of Senator Butler's speech in the senate the other day, interrupted the North Carolina senator, and challenged him to name a single lawyer of repute in North Carolina who is opposed to Judge Ewart's confirmation. Whether Senator Butler could or could not accept the challenge, the fact remains that the invitation of the Illinois senator thus far has gone unanswered, and the name of a lawyer opposed to confirmation has not yet been given by Senator Butler.

From conversations with North Carolina democrats, it is evident that they are not unanimous in siding with Senator Butler in his opposition to Judge Ewart's confirmation. Judge Ewart has many friends among North Carolina democrats, and many of the latter say that much of the opposition, if not the whole of it, so far as Senator Butler is concerned, is for political purposes, and they can see no reason, after Butler has done all in his power to disrupt and disorganize the democracy of the state, why they should now help him out by opposing the confirmation of Judge Ewart, who has the confidence of the president and the department of justice.

Senator Butler, of North Carolina, has introduced a bill providing for the erection of a public building at Elizabeth City, N. C.

Senator Pritchard has introduced a bill granting a pension to Louise D. Smith, of North Carolina, which has been referred to the committee on pensions.

Representative Fowler, of North Carolina, has introduced a bill in the house authorizing the secretary of the treasury to defray the expenses of the contestant in the contest entitled Koonce vs. Grady. The bill was referred to the committee on claims.

Representative Crumpacker, of Indiana, will call up in the house on Thursday the contested election case of Brown against Swanson. The democrats will again raise the question of consideration, and it is said that quite a number of republicans will absent themselves for the purpose of enabling the democrats to get a majority to vote down consideration.

Representative Swanson is very popular with all parties, and no doubt is felt as to his retaining his seat in the house.

The comptroller of the currency has announced officially the following changes in officers of national banks of North Carolina: The National Bank of Newbern, no vice-president; the Blue Ridge National Bank of Asheville, E. Sluder, assistant cashier.

Among the ushers at the convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution are Misses Campbell and Ramsey, of North Carolina. The ushers are all young ladies selected from the thirteen original states. The convention is largely attended, three delegates from North Carolina being in attendance.

COURT CONFIRMS THE SALE.

Receiver Fries Files His Report of Sale of the C. F. & Y. V.

Winston, N. C., Feb. 21—Mr. J. W. Fries, receiver, has filed his report with the court in session here, in the case entitled Congregation of United Brethren vs. North State Improvement Company. He says in December he sold to H. Walters, of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad all rolling stock belonging to the North State Company in Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad for $37,750. He asked the court for an order confirming the sale and for a declaration of a dividend of seventeen per cent to be paid upon the debts of the company.

The order was granted by Judge Allen.

The Salem commissioners met today and decided to accept the proposition from the postoffice department for free delivery, beginning July 1st.—Special to News and Observer.

AMERICAN JOINT HIGH COMMISSIONERS WILL GIVE NO BETTER TERMS.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Without any purpose to start a flood of recriminations the American members of the joint high Canadian commission feel that they have not been blame for the failure to reach an agreement, but they are justified in the statement that they have made concession after concession.

It is supposed that reasons of internal policy, founded on the belief that they would be in a better position before the session of the Parliament just beginning if able to assert that they had refused to sacrifice Canadian interests have animated Canadian members of the commission in their course. It is just possible that better results may attend a further conference of the joint body next summer, but while the officials here regret exceedingly the failure so far to reach an agreement it is positively stated that the American side has made its last concession and the Canadians cannot expect better terms hereafter than they have now refused.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Feb. 22—The deadlock on the army bill continues and the result cannot be foretold. Today's proceedings in the senate will be patriotic. Senator Wolcott will read from the vice-president's desk, Washington's farewell address. A portion of the day will be devoted to eulogies in memory of Senator Morrill, of Vermont.
