Symptoms Of Defective Vision

Many persons have the idea that defective vision manifests itself only in a failure or inability to see clearly, but itching, burning, smarting of the lids, dull pains in the eyes or head, even the back of the head, all come from irregularities in the optical construction of the eye and may be entirely relieved by correctly fitted glasses.

DR. J. T. JOHNSON Guarantees to correct every case that he undertakes. If your eyes are giving annoyance consult him at once.

PASSED INTO HISTORY.

The Last Legislature of the Nineteenth Century.

The general assembly of North Carolina, for 1899, ended yesterday at high noon, according to the clocks in the senate and house.

In truth, however, it was exactly 2:08 o'clock, standard time, when the gavel fell for the last time, for the timepieces were often tampered with before the two houses were declared adjourned for the session.

The hands of the clock in the house were first turned back half an hour at 10:15. At 10 o'clock another set back overtook them, and then when they had crept up to 11:45 the clock was stopped not to be started again till the work of the day was completed.

At 2:02 o'clock the last law—the Stevens anti-trust bill—was ratified, the business of the session was declared at an end, Speaker Connor delivered his farewell address and the general assembly of 1899 passed into history; and its record went to the people of North Carolina to make up their verdict.

It was a queer sight—this adjournment. One that must be historic, for in it the house and senate strangely swapped places. The senate lost its dignity or forgot it—and the house, usually so abounding in incident and sensation, somehow found it. With burst of patriotic song, in which senators on the floor and spectators in the gallery joined, the upper branch of the general assembly came to its end. A sort of dying swan's song to be sure, in which lusty, high-pitched voices took the place of softer notes.

Finally, to remedy this defect, the ladies in the gallery were invited upon the floor to join in the music-making, an invitation they gladly accepted and soon the fretted columns and curving dome of the old capital rang with sweeter tones than have been heard there in many a day, if indeed ever before.

Hence I say it was an historic scene—one such as has not been witnessed there before within the recollection of the oldest member.

In the house there was quite a different scene. Having been in almost continuous session for two solid weeks, the members were utterly fagged out and the closing duties were perfunctorily performed. With the end of the terrible strain had come a loss of spirit, almost a collapse. Notwithstanding the joy of home-going there were faces pale from exhaustion and loss of sleep and line-marked features made so by nervous strain and anxious thought.

Finally, wondering at the strange humdrum, the senate in a body, accompanied by the ladies that had been joining it in song and merry-making, came into the house and tried to "jolly" it into life and enthusiasm. Somehow it did not succeed, and ten minutes after it had retired, both houses adjourned to meet again on Tuesday after the second Monday in June 1900.

The galleries of both houses were well filled with spectators—principally ladies—to witness the final session of a legislature that must be memorable in the annals of the state. And nothing had been further from their thoughts, when they came, than being called on to take part in these closing scenes.—News and Observer.

NAVAL FORCES GATHERING

And Concentrating in the Far Eastern Waters.

DEWEY IS IN FAILING HEALTH

Said That he Cannot Last Much Longer Unless Relieved of the Fearful Mental Strain.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Mar. 9.—All the powers are concentrating their naval forces in the far east. England has 12 Asiatic waters three battleships, twelve cruisers, four torpedo boat destroyers and fourteen sloops and gunboats; Russia has two battleships, six cruisers and six gunboats; France has nine cruisers; Germany has eight cruisers and Italy brings up the rear with four.

DEWEY FAILING FAST.

Vancouver, Mar. 9.—Capt. Frazer, of London, from Manila, says the war will have to end soon or the life of the great admiral (Dewey) will be worth nothing. If he is not relieved of the terrible strain he will not last a month longer; his hair is snowy white, his face is ashen and he has no appetite.

ORDERED ON TO CHINA.

Gibraltar, Mar. 9.—The British cruisers Andora and Orlando, now coaling here, have been ordered to proceed to China.

A Naval Constructor Dead.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mar. 9.—Robert B. Dashiell, assistant naval constructor, U. S. Navy, died last night at his home here. He contracted malaria while installing a plant at the Indian proving ground, which work he was sent to do because of his exceptional ability. He had made many inventions, the most important of which is the automatic breech block for guns on shipboard.

Troops Inspected.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Valetta, Malta, Mar. 9.—The transport Sheridan arrived yesterday and by permission of the governor two thousand troops were landed and inspected by the governor on the Lorain parade grounds, in the presence of an immense concourse of spectators and military officers.

A Flagman Killed.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Jersey City, Mar. 9.—A loaded coal train on the New Jersey Central broke between Plainfields and Dunell on last night. The rear section ran back and collided with an eastbound train and several cars were wrecked. Flagman Adams was killed.

An Impending Conflict

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Mar. 9.—The afternoon papers today express the fear that an Anglo-Russian conflict is impending, calling attention to the fact that Lord Salisbury has never before threatened to punish China if she succumbs to Russian pressure.

Frequent Skirmishing.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Manila, Mar. 9.—A steamer from Iloilo reports all quiet although skirmishing is frequent in the outlying districts.

Wages Advancing.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Chattanooga, Mar. 9.—The Dayton Coal and Iron company has advanced the wages of 300 employees seven per cent.

Presidential Appointments.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mar. 9.—The president has appointed Eyan L. Barry, of Colorado, as consul to Tunis, and Cyrus S. Radford assistant quartermaster to the Marine corps.

Oh Rats!

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Harrisburg, Mar. 9.—The deadlock continues. No change. No choice.

Mr. J. M. Howlett Dead.

Mr. J. M. Howlett, an old citizen of Greensboro and a brother of L. C. Howlett, was found dead in his bed this morning at Mrs. Paschal's boarding house, on South Elm street. He had been in declining health about a year, but had been confined to his room but about a week before his death. Dr. Turner called on him last night and he said he was feeling better and did not think an attendant necessary.

The remains will be interred in Green Hill cemetery at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Two Big Men.

Today about noon we were passing the corner of Fayetteville and South Elm streets and saw a Murray of Chatham county, in conversation with Mr. F. V. Snell of this city. Mr. Murray weighs 329 pounds and Mr. Snell tips the beam at 322, a total for the two men of 651 pounds. The newspaper man went in search of a man with a kodaik; but before finding him the big men had separated.

GEN. GORDON'S LECTURE.

Thrilling, Soul-Stirring and Eloquent. Crowded House.

The academy of music was crowded last night to hear Gen. John B. Gordon, the distinguished Georgian, deliver his famous lecture "The Last Days of the Confederacy." A number who were present had heard the lecture before but they listened no less intently last night, for the lecture abounds in marvelous incident and beautiful sentiment. On the stage, seated to the right and left and in the rear of the speaker were a number of Confederate veterans, to whom he would turn occasionally and familiarly address them as "boys."

General Gordon was introduced by Col. J. T. Morehead in short but eminently fitting remarks. The great Georgian, who was a distinguished commander in the civil war, is a man whose looks are now white from length of years, but whose form is yet erect, with a military bearing that at once attracts the eye and elicits admiration. His descriptive powers are unsurpassed and when he rises to a flight of oratory in describing a hot contest his eyes flash and sparkle as if he saw over again the flashing sword and gleaming bayonet.

"The Last Days of the Confederacy" is a theme that will live and be enjoyed as long as there is a single brave man living who wore either the gray or the blue, for the soldiers of the Union and Confederate armies are placed beyond and above the old idea of combatting foes, upon the high plane of the grand and glorious American citizen. In closing General Gordon grew grandly eloquent in commending the Stars and Stripes to the people of all sections.

GODFREY IN WASHINGTON.

A Friendly Audience and a Splendid Program.

The Washington Times of yesterday says: "A distinctly friendly audience—one so friendly that when both were rendered it greeted our own 'The Star Spangled Banner' with silence that it might compliment its visitors the better by cheering 'God Save the Queen'—gathered at the Columbia yesterday to welcome Lieut. Dan Godfrey and the British Guards Band. Besides being kindly disposed, this assembly was large and fashionable and might have proven critical had there been any need for criticism. Director Santelmann occupied a stage box and his organization two rows of orchestra chairs out of compliment to the foreigners, for whose skilled work they manifested musically regard.

"The band of which Lieutenant Godfrey is leader numbers about forty men, all of whom are clad in handsome uniforms and who are most prepossessing in appearance. It was last heard in this country in 1872, when, under the title of the Grenadier Guards, it formed a feature of the Boston peace jubilee arranged by Pat Gilmore. Many of those in the house last evening had attended that festival and did not seem to think the combination had deteriorated since its memorable conquest then."

The Times then goes on to elaborate and particularize as to the program rendered, giving it the highest encomiums of praise. This famous band of musicians will appear before a Greensboro audience in the G. F. College chapel tonight.

Change of Management.

We learned too late for publication yesterday that W. J. Blackburn had sold his interest in the Academy of Music, to C. N. McAdoe. Mr. Blackburn retiring as manager. The Academy will hereafter be conducted under the management of Messrs. C. N. and T. J. McAdoe, who will, we feel sure, maintain the present high standard and contract with good companies only. The Telegram wishes them much success.

Mr. Blackburn's many friends will regret his retirement, but are pleased that he has a worthy successor in Mr. McAdoe.

Attributed to an Accident.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Toulon, Mar. 9.—The committee of inquiry attributes the explosion to an accident. The commission believes the alleged attempt to cause the second explosion to be a practical joke as the fifteen cartridges found a ten years old and harmless.

Newspaper-Train Delayed.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Bridgeport, Mar. 9.—A New York newspaper train was detained two hours this morning by the wreck of a freight train of fifteen cars, in which several brakemen were injured.

Hurricane on Black Sea.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

St. Petersburg, March 9.—In a hurricane which has been raging the past four days on the Black sea, two English steamships went ashore near Fodi, a Turkish steamer was wrecked, a sailing ship was sunk and her crew perished.

PLANS FOR SOUTHERN TRIP

The President is Going to Take a Vacation.

WILL PASS THROUGH GREENSBORO

He is Fond of Water and May Take a Boat Ride While Off—Washington City Gossip.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mar. 9.—Plans for the president's southern trip are being gradually mapped out. It is expected that the party will leave Washington over the Southern railroad, about the 15th, going direct to Thomasville, Ga. the home of Senator Hanna. Only such stops as are absolutely necessary will be made, including one of fifteen minutes, or so, at Charlotte, N. C. At the white house Wednesday afternoon it was stated that the president will extend his trip and that it will be more extensive than was at first contemplated. The president is very fond of the water and if he can spare the time from Washington is considering the advisability of taking a sea trip, touching at various points in Georgia and Florida. If he concludes to take this trip he will probably go to Jacksonville, taking a government vessel from Savannah, after remaining at Thomasville for a fortnight. He may go as far south as Miami, but this is not yet definitely decided upon. The presidential party for reasons which are well known will not carry out his desire to visit Cuba during the present spring.

The presidential party will consist of President and Mrs. McKinley, Vice President and Mrs. Hobart, Senator and Mrs. Hanna, and some of the cabinet, and perhaps ex-Secretary Bliss.

Dr. Carey, of Carribou, Maine, was in the city yesterday enroute home, from Raleigh, N. C., with the remains of his wife, who died at Raleigh several weeks ago. Mrs. Carey had been in poor health for quite a long time, suffering from bronchial trouble, and went south in the hopes that a change in the climate might benefit her. Dr. Carey is a son of Hon. Sheppard Carey who was a member of congress from Maine in anti-bellum days.

Much good is expected from the visit of the congressional party to the south. The idea of such a trip originated with Senator Tillman and Representative Latimer, of South Carolina, and the principal object in view is to enable the members from the states composing the party to become personally familiar with the southern section of the country, and its needs in the way of congressional legislation. The efforts of the South Carolina delegation has been heartily seconded by other southern states of the union and before the party left Washington they received many invitations from different southern cities which desired to entertain and honor the distinguished statesmen.

Mr. John Addison Porter, private secretary to the president, returned to Washington Wednesday morning from an extended trip to Florida. While away he took occasion to visit Nassau where he met several Washington people. Among others whom Secretary Porter met at Nassau were former district Commissioner Truesdell, and Mr. and Mrs. James F. Oyster. The Secretary feels much benefited by his vacation, and will resume his duties at once.

Senator McMillan, of Michigan, will leave Washington for a visit to Georgia and Florida next week, going as far south as St. Augustine. The trip is to be taken for the purpose of enabling the Senator to obtain rest from his labors during the last session of congress. Senator McMillan will spend a large portion of the recess at Washington, keeping his home here open during the summer, according to his usual custom. After his visit south he will spend several weeks at his home.

Much interest was felt in the wedding of Mr. Howard N. Thompson and Miss Dressell, which occurred Tuesday at Asheville, North Carolina. Mr. Thompson is a well known Washington newspaper man, having been the representative of the Associated Press correspondence during the Spanish war.

Postoffice has been established at Burnthill, Ashe county, North Carolina. Fannie A. Shepherd has been commissioned postmaster.

Mr. C. J. Harris, of Dillsboro, North Carolina, a prominent resident of the state, is at the Shoreham hotel for a few days.

Mr. J. L. Phillips, of Charlotte, N. C., is registered at the St. James hotel.
