THROUGH THE TRUE GLASS.

We are very glad to notice that some of the great representative newspapers of the north are laying aside that microscope of prejudice with which they have long been regarding the south...

The emancipation of the negro was undoubtedly a step in the right direction; but a grave doubt is arising in the minds possibly of a majority of the white citizens of the Union...

A possible solution, if only an imperfect one, would be for the federal authorities to admit frankly that equality is impossible, to acquiesce in the disfranchisement of the negro...

Something has been done in the direction suggested by the Globe by some of the southern states to make such tests of qualification for the suffrage as to disqualify a large proportion of the black vote...

Fred Funston, the gallant colonel of the Kansas regiment on the island of Luzon, took a rope in his teeth and swam the Rio Grande in the face of the enemy's bullets...

The Methodist ministers' association of Chicago, Ill., adopted resolutions endorsing President McKinley's Philippine policy.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, feverish sores, letter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions...

There never arises a public idiosyncrasy but that the New York Journal, that prince of yellow sheets, mounts it and never ceases to ride till the thing falls dead from weariness.

Little, neglected scratches and wounds frequently result in blood-poisoning. Better heal them quickly with DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve...

This is the day set apart for the cruiser Raleigh to come to North Carolina waters, and when the gallant warship ploughs her way up the Cape Fear to Wilmington she will find a warm, enthusiastic welcome.

We are very glad to know that Miss Sallie W. Stockard, one of the state's brightest and most cultured young women, will publish sketches of history and other interesting topics pertaining to the Old North State.

A Queer Examination. Difficulties of the civil service examinations are multiplied tenfold in the requirements set down by law of applicants for positions in the mail service of China.

In the first place an applicant must have strength and courage. To acquire these he goes through a very queer method of training. He wanders through mountains and valleys, forests and caves.

The city of Baltimore once more passes into the hands of the democrats, where, of right, it ought to have been all along.

The newest scientific name for a kiss is the "unhygienic caress."

I was reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the Worcester Enterprise recently, which leads me to write this. I can truthfully say I never used any remedy equal to it for colic and diarrhoea.

Attorney General Mcneel, of Ohio, has been summoned to appear before the industrial commission at Washington to give information regarding trusts.

Rheumatism Cured. My wife has used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with great relief, and I can recommend it as a splendid liniment for rheumatism and other household use for which we have found it valuable.

Jerome Peck, a veteran of the civil war, of Sedalia, Mo., tied a wire around his neck and then jumped from a second story window, killing himself instantly.

If you have piles, CURE them. No use undergoing horrible operations that simply remove the results of the disease without disturbing the disease itself.

No Cure—No Pay. That is the way all druggists sell Gray's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form.

"I had appendicitis the other day," said a St. Charles street business man; "that is to say, I had it to all intents and purposes. This is the way I contracted it. About a week ago I borrowed a medical work from a friend to look up a point about which I was curious. It was a work on diagnosis, and among other things it gave a minute description of the symptoms of appendicitis. I have always been much afraid of the malady, and that chapter had a hideous fascination for me. I read it and reread it, and as I did so it seemed to me that some of the premonitory signs coincided exactly with certain aches and pains I had felt for several days. I got alarmed at once, and that night was panic-stricken by a severe cramp a little northeast of my right hip bone. That I knew to be the fatal spot, and, needless to say, I didn't sleep a wink.

"By morning I had all the symptoms of a typical case and could scarcely get around to see the doctor. I began to tell him my story when he stopped me. 'How do you come to know so much about the disease?' he asked. 'I replied proudly that I had been reading up on it. 'The dickens you have!' he replied. 'Well, you get right out of this office. You confound you, and don't waste any more of my time!'

"Then he explained that every medical student always has all the diseases on record, in regular order, just as he studies 'em, and I began to feel better. I went home, returned the blasted book, and am now entirely out of danger, thank you. It was the quickest recovery on record." — New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The candidate must give a swinging motion to all these sacks and then run to and fro between them, carefully guarding against a blow by one of the weights.

Curiosities of Journalism. A paper in India recently published the following explanation: "This is only the beginning of our paper. We were not sure how much matter was required to fill it up, and thinking we had sufficient, we did not exert ourselves much to get any more. We therefore beg that our readers will excuse us this time for the space left blank, and we promise to do better and get more in the future."

Still more curious was the announcement of a paper which came out for the first time with two columns blank. The editor making it was an announcement that "a large quantity of exceedingly interesting matter has been left out for want of space."

When the native editor wants a holiday, he suspends publication until it is convenient to resume, and taking his readers into his confidence, informs them plainly why the paper was not issued on the expected dates.

Twenty Lashes For Six Hats. A singular theft was tried by Mr. Beale, first class magistrate. Superstitious Burmans pull out the hairs of an elephant's tail for talismans, making rings out of them and other charms. One Nge Tun Lin went into an elephant's shed at Ahbone and pulled six hairs out of a bull elephant's tail, secreting them in his umbrella.

Brahms and Tschaiakowsky, the famous musicians, met twice on the last occasion Brahms was distinctly interested in Tschaiakowsky's "Fifth Symphony" to travel expressly to Hamburg in order to make its acquaintance. After the performance the distinguished composers dined together, and the concert-goers Brahms frankly admitted that he did not like the work at all.

"I think it would be well," said the decorator, "to have your dining room bordered by a frieze."

"No, no," reconstrated the man who had only recently struck it. "I want that room adorned with others, to have a warm, cozy appearance." — Philadelphia North American.

Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from yellow jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured. I now thank a great pleasure in recommending this medicine to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hugarty, Lexington, Ky." — South by C. J. Holton, druggist.

AN HONEST ARTIST.

There was no love lost between the Emperor Louis Napoleon and his cousin, Prince Napoleon, whom the Parisians called "Plon Plon." The prince used to make abusive speeches against the emperor, which people were only too ready to repeat to him. "Let him alone," Louis Napoleon would reply. "He is too well known. No one would turn me out to place him on the throne."

The emperor was correct, for no one said a good word about "Plon Plon." He was commonly believed to have shown the white feather in the Crimea and never exposed himself where the lead was falling. An English lady, who in her young days mingled with French society, tells in her "Foreign Courts and Foreign Homes" a story as discredit-able to Prince Napoleon as it is honorable to a French artist.

The artist was painting the historical picture of the battle of the Alma, which the emperor had ordered. Prince Napoleon called at the painter's studio to make known to him the facts. On leaving he said he wished the prominent figure in the battle to be himself mounted on his white charger. He sent the horse to the artist so that he could paint its exact portrait. When the picture was finished and invitations were sent out for a "private view," the white charger was seen, a prominent figure in the battle, but without a rider.

On hearing of this terrible omission the prince sent an aid-de-camp to ask the reason. The honest artist said the horse should remain if the prince wished, but no rider would be on it. "Tell the prince I have never yet painted a lie." The hint was taken. The prince ordered the horse to be rubbed out.

The Business of a Theater. A prosperous theater in the city of New York may in a favorable season do a business of more than $350,000 and keep in employment 150 persons. There are 37 theaters, including the variety houses, in active operation in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, while the borough of Brooklyn adds a score or more. Everything which affects business in general affects the theater immediately.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. This writes W. C. Havlik & Co., Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at G. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.
