THE DEATH OF MR. HOBART

The Vice-President Passed Away at 8:30 This Morning

ALL THE FAMILY WERE PRESENT

When the End Came—Only Yesterday He Was Able to Sit Up—His Death a Surprise.

By Wire to the TELEGRAM.

New York, Nov. 21.—Vice-President Hobart died at his home at Paterson, N. J., at 8:30 this morning. He had been seriously ill for three months and was thought to be dying a month ago. Subsequently he rallied and only yesterday was able to sit up. Members of the Hobart household were all present when the end came. He passed away quietly. The improved condition of the patient caused the announcement of his death to be received with much surprise.

HOW HE DIED.

New York, Nov. 21.—Shortly before midnight Hobart awoke and spoke a few words. What they were has not been disclosed by the family. He immediately became unconscious and remained in a comatose state the balance of the night. His physician ascribes his death to heart failure.

OFFICE TO REMAIN VACANT.

Washington, Nov. 21.—By the death of Hobart the office of vice-president becomes vacant for the rest of McKinley's term, as the law provides no successor. A president pro tem. of the senate, however, will be elected when congress assembles. Frye of Maine now holds the office. He will preside until a successor has been chosen, and he will undoubtedly succeed himself.

Our Tobacco Market.

The receipts on the Greensboro tobacco market for last week were rather light, owing to unfavorable weather for handling tobacco, but as soon as our tobaccoists have a good season larger receipts are expected. Prices last week were full up; in fact, the highest prices paid this season. It looks like there is a gradual softening in prices without any apparent cause. The market today is quite active, with all the buyers lively and in good spirits.

I have been studying Tea for 20 years, the "Black Seal Ceylon" is the result. Profit by my experience and buy a pound at your grocer's.

1,000 REBELS KILLED

And 2,000 Wounded—War in South America.

By Cable to the Telegram.

Panama, South America, Nov. 21.—Dispatches from Bogota, dated 18th inst., report a two-day's battle in which the government troops overcame 10,000 insurgents near Bacarauga and defeated them with great slaughter. Ten thousand were engaged upon each side. The rebels lost 1,000 killed and 2,000 wounded. The government loss is not stated.

REV. R. R. MICHAUX DEAD.

Passed Away at His Home at Liberty Yesterday Evening.

John S. Michaux and brother, Dr. R. R. Michaux, went to Liberty at noon today to attend the funeral at 3 o'clock this afternoon of their uncle, Rev. R. R. Michaux, who died at his home at Liberty at 3:30 yesterday afternoon at the age of 77 years.

An aged widow, seven children, and innumerable warm friends survive him.

For several years he was a member of the Methodist Protestant conference and one of the ablest divines in the state. He has fought a good fight and now goes to his reward.

His daughter, Miss Anna M. Michaux, is a teacher in the South Greensboro graded school. She went to Liberty by private conveyance this morning and was accompanied by H. B. Tatum and Mrs. C. P. Vanstory, who are also near relatives of the deceased.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU, HIGH POINT, N. C., Nov. 21.

It was reported here last night that the woods on Shepherd Mountain were on fire.

Miss Dorset, of Greensboro, was here yesterday.

W. E. Perkins, wife and daughter, of Richmond were guests of this city yesterday.

J. S. Davies and George Hapleton represented the "sore-back" state here yesterday.

And old da-ky walked into one of our drug stores last night and approached the clerk in the following language: "Boss, I wants some medicine to work on my libber and ONE of my kidneys!" He got it.

Burners' Comedy Company gave a performance at the opera house last night. Burners, the ventriloquist, is good at the business, while several other features of the show are somewhat interesting. They will remain through the week and the price of admission will be ten cents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Havre and Master Jean, recently of San Francisco, California, arrived here last night on the vestibule to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donahue Smith on Steele street. Their friends here are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Havre back after their journey through South America and the States.

Rev. J. R. Seroggs leaves for Concord to attend the M. E. conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks left last night for a visit to Yadkin College.

Miss Deborah Tomlinson, of Archdale, passed through last night en route home from Greensboro.

Did you ever know a horse to be sold for less than five cents? Ab Holton bought one yesterday for three cents and sold it to Chief of Police Bennett for twenty-five cents, and it wasn't in as bad condition as it could have been either. After all the man who sold the "bone-yard" for three cents was dissatisfied and on paying twenty-five cents came into possession of it again, after which he sold it for a second-hand Waterbury watch and a few cents and went on his way rejoicing.

Would a steam laundry pay in High Point? This question has been asked more than once. We believe it would. There are already four or five different laundries represented here and they secure a good "washing" weekly. Then look at the territory we could draw from—Thomasville, Jamestown, Archdale, Randleman, Asheboro, from points along the Page road, Lexington and other places. With High Point and these near-by towns to draw from, a laundry would pay well here. What do you think about it?

NORMAL COLLEGE SITUATION

The Sick Girls are Better, Some of Whom Go Home.

STATEMENT FROM DR. M'IVER

Competent Physicians and Trained Nurses in Attendance—Health Committee Yet Inspecting

The Telegram is pleased to learn from Dr. Melver this afternoon that the condition of affairs at the State Normal and Industrial College today is somewhat improved.

Four or five of the young ladies who are sick were well enough to go home this morning and those who are still at the college are thought to be some better. The sick are being attended by several physicians and twelve or fifteen trained nurses.

The special committee of the state board of health made a thorough investigation of the premises yesterday and today, but have not yet made their report, though it is thought they have decided that the cause for the sickness is a defective sewer pipe under the dining room, which defect will be repaired at once.

We publish herewith a written official statement from Dr. Melver, which was received last evening too late for yesterday's paper; also a statement from Mayor Taylor which explains itself.

STATEMENT FROM DR. M'IVER.

By the authority of the executive committee telegraphed to me Saturday night and Sunday morning the State Normal and Industrial College has closed until January 2nd, with the understanding between the students and faculty that the time lost between now and the Christmas holidays will be added at the end of the college year, thus running the annual session into the latter part of June.

This action was taken because of the large number of students sick with malarial trouble, and especially because on Saturday I was informed by the physicians that we had at least two cases, and probably three or four cases, of typhoid fever.

One hour after learning that there was a case of typhoid fever here I assembled the students and informed them, asking them to inform their parents immediately.

A meeting of the faculty was called and with their unanimous endorsement of the plan I assembled the students, all of whom except ten thought it best to discontinue college work until after the Christmas holidays.

I immediately telegraphed to the members of the executive committee, and on Sunday morning made official announcement of the suspension.

The malarial troubles have prevailed here to an unusual extent for the past two or three weeks, and on the 15th instant I wrote requesting the state board of health to come and inspect the premises.

At that time I could not discover any sufficient local cause for the unusual amount of malarial trouble.

Since then by continuing the search at least one probable cause for the trouble has been discovered.

I prefer to make no positive statement in regard to it until the health officers pass judgment upon the matter.

The representatives of the state board of health are now here.

The executive committee was present on Thursday and Friday of last week in their annual meeting auditing the accounts of the treasurer, and while here made inspections of the grounds, buildings, etc., and could see no local cause for the trouble.

It was on Saturday afternoon that the cause to which I have referred was discovered.

Naturally many exaggerated statements in regard to this matter have gained currency. I take it that the public is especially interested in the following facts:

1. There are forty-eight sick students still here. Some of these are preparing to leave tomorrow. It must be remembered that this is less than 12 per cent of the students in the dormitories and only about 10 per cent of the enrollment of the college. The total number affected in all the two or three weeks has not been so large as is frequently reported for a single day by uninformed people.
2. I am unable to say how many of these forty-eight cases will prove to be typhoid fever. Some are convalescent.
3. In addition to our resident physician we have had the regular assistance of one of the leading and best known physicians in the state, and more recently other leading physicians in Greensboro and from elsewhere have assisted in directing the treatment of patients. I cannot express too warmly my appreciation of the work done by these physicians and by the trained nurses and volunteer nurses and the faculty who have labored so incessantly and cheerfully.
4. Three deaths have occurred. The first on Wednesday, the second on Saturday morning, and the third on Saturday night at 1 o'clock. None of those who died had been sick for a very long while. One of them was in only eight days, and in another case there were serious complications in addition to the malarial attack.

I desire to say that there has been practically no sickness during these three weeks among our students who do not board in the dormitories, whether residents of the city or students from a distance boarding in private families. There is no general cause for this trouble peculiar to Greensboro. It is the result of a general visitation of malarial fever

SENATE TO BE RE-ORGANIZED.

The Body to Pass Under the Complete Control of Republicans

SENATOR FRYE, OF MAINE, To Be Again Chosen President Pro Tem of S. rate—Secretary Cox to Be R. placed.

Special to the Telegram.

Washington, Nov. 21.—At the beginning of the approaching session of congress, there will be almost a complete reorganization of the United States senate, as yet at body will for the first time in many years pass under the complete control of the republicans. The majority of the republicans will be not less than sixteen, and in the event of the death of Senator Haymond, of Nebraska, it will not fall below fourteen. As present under a compromise effected during the last congress, when neither the republican nor democratic had a clear majority, but the populists and silver republicans held the balance of power, the republicans were given the presidency pro tempore of the senate, while the democrats were given the minor offices, such as secretary, sergeant at arms, postmaster and chaplain. The present chairman of the senate committees are divided between the two great parties, the republicans having all the important chairmanships. When the new senate convenes, by the retirement of several senators who failed of reelection, there will be much shifting about in the senate assignments. The selection of senate committees is not done after the manner established by the house of representatives, where the speaker appoints all the members of the committees both for the majority and minority, but in the senate the members of the committees for the majority and minority are chosen by the caucus of the respective parties.

As to the organization of the senate, there is no doubt but Senator Frye, of Maine, will again be chosen president pro tempore. Secretary Cox, who comes from North Carolina, will be replaced by a republican official, and it is likely that a republican sergeant-at-arms will be chosen to succeed Col. Bright, of Indiana. Col. Bright, however, is very popular both with the republicans and democrats and his long service in the senate chamber has rendered him a most efficient official. There will doubtless be a strong effort made to retain him in the office of the sergeant at arms, and he is likely to have the support of some of the republican senators. After all the organization of the senate is not so much along the political lines as in the house. No matter which party is in control of the senate, there are always to be found upon the rolls the names of democrats and republicans, and a much greater number of the lower house, where the party lines are as clear as the day.

MISS CALDWELL'S FUNERAL

The Young Lady Died at Her Home in Greensboro, N. C., on Saturday, Nov. 19, at the age of 18 years.

The funeral services of Miss Daisy Caldwell, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Caldwell, were conducted from the Presbyterian church this morning at 11 o'clock. The body reached here last night from Greensboro, following the bereaved parents, who had returned home but a few hours earlier. Both father and mother were with their daughter when she died. Mrs. Caldwell, however, did not leave for Greensboro until Saturday and got there only in time to find her daughter in a dying condition.

The death of the young woman is one of the saddest, in some respects, that has been known here for a long while. Just two months ago she left, with a number of her schoolmates and friends, for the Greensboro Normal and Industrial College, and to all appearances a bright and happy life on earth was before her. But God willed that the brightness and happiness should not be enjoyed here, but in the world above and in His own presence. After an illness of two weeks, in which her constitution was unable to struggle successfully against the dread fever, she passed away in the Christian's faith. About a year ago she joined the church here, after giving clear and satisfactory evidence before the session that she was a child of grace, as she had long been of the covenant. Possessed of a singularly bright and cheerful disposition, a sweet face and attractive, engaging manners, all who knew her loved and esteemed her. A large crowd, both from the country and village, gathered at the church to pay their last respects and to express to the bereaved family their deep sympathy, and as the pastor conducted the exercises and made most feeling allusions to the departed, many were the eyes that were wet with tears. The floral offerings at the cemetery were very beautiful, and the grave was made a bed of roses and chrysanthemums.

A New Calendar.

The first new calendar to reach the Telegram's editorial sanctum is from the clever and entirely up-to-date firm of Will H. Matthews & Co. The design is very pretty, representing a bronze-framed picture of a hunter sitting in a boat moored in a pretty little cove on the edge of a lake, sheltered by the bull-rushes, while his elevated gun is levelled at a flock of ducks that has just taken wing.

The man who pays cash gets no credit for it.
