THE BACHELOR GIRLS.

A Scene Unraveled in the Social History of Greensboro.

Last evening the light of the chandeliers in the elegant home of the Misses Baisley, on Mendenhall street, shed their soft rays upon a scene that perhaps stands unrivaled in the social history of Greensboro. The bachelor girls gave their first reception of the season. Quosley gave a and matches beauty presided over a paradise of southern hospitality, and had Bob Taylor gazed upon this picture, as was the delightful privilege of a number of our "bachelor boys," it would doubtless have furnished a new and more heavenly inspiration to his "Love, Laughter and Song."

"Progressive hearts," a very fascinating game, was chosen by the hostess for the evening's amusement, in which all were to compete for prizes. After a very close and spirited contest, Miss Lottie Peyton won the first prize—$1000. Her "Dream Life" in elegant gilt binding. The gentleman's prize—a beautifully engraved silver heart—was won by Mr. Tallman.

At 11 o'clock the guests were shown to the dining room and seated at a table laden with everything to tickle the taste.

May great happiness and success attend every member of this very unique organization.

Those present were: Miss Francis O'Brien with John B. Paris, Miss Lizzie Leigh Dick with I. E. Avery, Miss Lottie Peyton with W. T. Pope, Miss Mary Goolbsy with Dr. C. H. Scott, Miss Alice Small with W. Frank Blount, Miss Lillian Staples with Mr. Tallman, Miss May Small with C. P. Sellers, Miss Mable Kase with J. S. Michaux, Miss Pearl Baisley with Dr. Roberson, Miss Lizzie B. Isley with G. A. Rankin, Miss Ruth Porter with J. B. Sneed, Miss Nora Baisley.

Ten Young Men Wanted.

Lieut. Seattle has received orders from the adjutant general to enlist ten desirable recruits for Battery G, 5th Artillery, San Juan, Porto Rico, and send from time to time as enlisted to Fort Wood, N. Y., to be forwarded there to the battery. It is not very often that one battery of the regular army has as many as ten men from one locality and this offers the young men of this community an excellent opportunity to enter the United States service and at the same time not be separated from each other.

WESTERN N. C. CONFERENCE.

The Gathering of the Methodists at Concord.

APPOINTMENTS NEXT MONDAY.

Report of the Sessions of Yesterday Afternoon and This Morning.

What Rumor Says.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Concord, N. C., Nov. 24.—At three o'clock yesterday afternoon Rev. J. J. Tigert, D. D. preached in Central Methodist Church. Dr. Tigert is the editor of the Bi-Monthly Review and is one of the most prominent men in the church. It was a pleasure to the conference to hear him preach. The annual Sunday School anniversary mass meeting was held at night and was addressed by Rev. Jas. Atkins, D. D., Sunday School editor of the church. Dr. Atkins is a North Carolina and a member of this conference. His present home is at Nashville, Tenn. He is a man of large mind and is a deep thinker.

In the opening of his address last night he stated that this age is the era of the child, and that more care and training are being given to children at the present time than at any age in the past.

His special theme was the Sunday School and he stressed the necessity of having well equipped Sunday Schools in every church and of the need of Sunday School Institutes where there can be a general exchange of views among Sunday School workers. He is very positively opposed to the care of a Sunday School class being placed in the hands of a worldly minded teacher.

When the names of the transfers to this conference were announced yesterday there was some surprise expressed that the name of Dr. J. P. McFerrin was not read. For some time it has been expected that he would come to this conference from the Louisville conference, and it has been current in church papers that he would succeed Dr. Byrd at Asheville. It is now believed he has been transferred elsewhere. It was announced yesterday evening that Dr. U. F. Christy was wanted at the first church in Atlanta and also at the first church in Birmingham, but nothing definite is known. He has been in this conference seven years, having been transferred here from South Carolina. He has spent four years in Asheville, one in Reidsville and was in Charlotte.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

Concord, N. C., Nov. 24.—The conference met this morning in the conventional exercises were conducted by Gen. G. S. White. The conference has been in session since the 19th. A committee of ten was appointed. The report of the Christian Advocate was a glowing one. Crawford made talk. Mansfield was located at his own request. An animated discussion arose. The latter did not go upon appointments last year, as he received no support. Tigert addressed the conference. Three were superannuated, one a superannuated, D. Vance Price, of Holston conference, was readmitted. J. P. McFerrin was transferred from Louisville. Asheville and Charlotte district characters passed. Reports were made. Adjourned at 12:30. Rumor says Chreitberg goes to Atlanta or Birmingham. Appointments expected Monday. Many changes likely.

Items From the Twin City.

Special to THE TELEGRAM. Winston, Nov. 24.—John Mitchell, the young man who was injured yesterday by the N. & W. shifting engine, died at 6:30 this morning.

A negro named Perry Penn was killed here last night by two runaway horses. It is supposed that he tried to stop the animals, when he was crushed beneath the wheels of the wagon.

Philippine War Ended.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM. Washington, Nov. 24.—Ois cables the practical ending of the insurrection. The government is broken completely, some of the cabinet are captured, and Aguinaldo is a fugitive. Ois says Aguinaldo did not escape through the American lines.

It was the first performance of Hamlet.

"We shall not ring up tonight," said the stage manager. "Not ring up?" queried the star. "What's the matter?" "The ghost is as drunk as a lord," replied the stage manager. "Then of course we haven't a ghost of a show," murmured the star; for before tackling tragedy he had been a low comedian.

R. F. White will open up a restaurant in the Suits building on South Main street in a few days.

The farmers are bringing their tobacco to town right along and good sales take place at the warehouse most every day.

E. B. Gilbert, of New York, and a friend left here last night for Newton to attend the eastern field trial going on there.

Remember to-morrow night is the date for Fields & Hanson's Minstrels at the opera house. Go out, late in the evening and enjoy the show.

The postoffice here will be closed to-morrow afternoon for the day.

The funeral services of Vice-President Hobart will take place between two hours and the postoffice department shows its respect for the deceased in this way:

High Point needs a steam laundry if such an enterprise pays in other towns surely it would here, with a territory as we have to draw from. Then look at the convenience to the public. Some one start the ball rolling and the capital, if needed, will be forthcoming. We know of a plant that can be bought right.

Getting Ready for the Holidays.

The China Emporium of E. J. B. is always a thing of beauty, but never more so than at the present season when everything is being arranged for the coming holiday trade. Their store will be headquarters for Santa Claus. They are even now ready for the holiday trade, their stock is very large and well selected. Ladies and gentlemen are invited to call and see the fine display of cut glass and silverware, both of which are included in their stock this year. The stock is larger and finer than in all previous years.

Buried This Afternoon.

The remains of Col. Geo. R. Quincey, manager of Blue Ridge Inn at Mt. Airy, who died at 11 o'clock yesterday of rheumatism of the heart, were carried through here today to Winston for interment in the Salem cemetery this afternoon. The remains were accompanied by Misses Cora and Eva, the two daughters of the deceased, Mrs. A. C. Trotter, Messrs. R. T. Joyce, Thomas and George Woodruff and J. R. Paddison. They were joined here by G. G. Christian, of Norfolk, a brother-in-law of the deceased.

Bismark's Iron Nerve.

If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25 cents a box at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Normal Situation Improving.

The report from the Normal this afternoon is that there is a general improvement among the patients, though two or three young ladies are considered no better.

Prof. Ludlow, the civil engineer, is making investigations as to the sewer system and will report to the board of directors next Monday.

Against the Southerners.

The case of Dr. Chas. L. Scott against the Southern Railway for $114 against medical aid rendered Dora Mearns, who was injured at Mearns several months ago by a train, was heard yesterday by Squire Eckel. Dr. Scott was given judgment for $114, and the Southern appealed. Colonel Staples represented Dr. Scott.

AT MR. HOBART'S FUNERAL

Several Members of Congress From the South.

GOSSIP IN POLITICAL CIRCLES

At Washington in regard to the Probable Republican Nominee for the Vice-Presidency.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Several members of congress passed through here yesterday from the south, and other parts of the country, enroute to Paterson to attend the funeral services over the remains of the late Vice-President Hobart. Among those passing through Washington from the south was Representative Bankhead, of Alabama, who is one of the leading candidates for the minority nomination for speaker of the house of representatives. Bankhead is satisfied that he will get a majority of the democratic caucus, and will be selected as the democratic leader. He says that Congressman Sulzer, of New York, will not get a majority of the democratic caucus, as he claims, but that the nominee of the democrats for speaker will come from the south. He is convinced that from southern members of him that he will have a majority over Richardson and De Armond.

It has been decided that Mrs. McKinley will not accompany the president to Paterson to attend the funeral of Hobart. At first it was stated at the executive mansion that Mrs. McKinley would probably accompany the president, but it is now settled that on account of the long and tiresome journey that none of the ladies of the cabinet will be present, so Mrs. McKinley will remain at the white house.

The white house has been practically closed since the death of the vice-president, so far as visitors are concerned. The president attends to such duties as require his attention, and receives callers who have important business with the president, but aside from these the general visitors and callers, who merely wish to pay their respects to the chief magistrate are excluded. The mansion will remain closed to visitors until after the funeral services at Paterson Saturday.

Since Mr. Hobart's death there has been much gossip in political circles in Washington as to the probable republican nominee for the vice-presidency. It is difficult to advance the holding of the national convention to fix upon any candidate for the second place, with any degree of certainty, as the selection of the vice-president is usually left open until the last moment, as it is always decided because of certain political exigencies which arise, and for the purpose of adding new strength to the ticket.

Among those mentioned as Hobart's probable successor on the republican ticket, are Governor Roosevelt, of New York; Secretary Root, of New York; Secretary Root, of New York; Senator Frye, of New Jersey; Gen. Fred Grant, Hon. Henry Evans, Sen. T. C. Frye, and many others.

M. P. CONFERENCE.

First Day's Proceedings—Conference Sermon by Rev. J. S. Williams.

Correspondence Telegram

Plyler, Stanly county, N. C., Nov. 24.—The twenty-four sessions of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church convened in Friendship church, Plyler, S. C. today, N. C. near Albemarle, Nov. 22, at 2:45 p. m.

Rev. W. F. Kenneth, president, opened the sessions with devotional services, reading a Scripture lesson. Then followed the singing with a spirit the Coronation by the choir and congregation.

The roll was called, an unusual number responded. The annual reports of the president of the conference was read, and referred to proper committees.

EVENING SESSION.

The conference sermon was preached by Rev. J. S. Williams, of Henderson, N. C., his text being Job 23:13-17.

Rev. T. H. Lewis, D. D., president of Western Maryland College, administrator, Md., was introduced to the conference and presented the causes of the board of ministerial education and the Theological Seminary.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

The following expression of sympathy was tendered Dr. McIver and faculty of the State Normal and Industrial College:

From some unknown cause sickness has entered the ranks of the young women of the State Normal & Industrial College in Greensboro. We, the members of the North Carolina Conference of the M. P. Church now in session, extend to the Normal president and faculty, who have been so faithful in caring for the sick; to its body of noble young women who have stood so bravely by the college and their arduous comrades; to the young ladies who are still their friends; to the patrons from whom death has taken a loved one, we pray that our living Heavenly Father may restore the sick ones; that His tender mercies may be over the institution that has proven so great a blessing to our beloved state; that he will grant to President McIver and his associates daily strength for this ordeal.

(Signed)

R. H. Brooks, T. M. Johnson, C. H. Whitaker, J. S. Williams.

HOUSE WARRIOR.

The Elegant New Office Building Opened to the Public Last Night.

Wharton & McAllister, agents for the Southern Loan & Trust company, kept open house last night from 7 o'clock and during the evening a large number of our citizens called to inspect the elegant new office building.

The visitors were shown to the entire building, from the main street oak telephone to the second floor.

But we do not want to tell you about the new building, we want to tell you about the new building.

Handsomely furnished toilet rooms for gentlemen are on second, fourth and fifth floors, and one for ladies on third floor. On the fourth and fifth floors large bath rooms, with the latest fixtures, have been put in.

The entire building is heated by steam and lighted by electricity, while it is also equipped with fire escapes and an arrangement for gas lighting. Fire hose, attached to floor pipes, have been placed on every floor, and this, with a night watchman, who is on duty from sunset until sunrise, provides ample protection from fire.

Most of the rooms on west side of fourth and fifth floors have already been rented as bachelor apartments, and a good many of those on first, second and third floors are occupied as offices.

The orchestra was on third floor and furnished excellent music throughout the evening, and as a token of their appreciation Messrs. Wharton & McAllister presented this organization with a check for $10.

The talking machines in the parlors of Drs. Moore, on first floor, left entrance, were an attractive feature, and the offices of the various firms and professional men were thrown open and inspected.

The passenger elevator is of the most approved pattern and was crowded throughout the evening. It is estimated that 3,200 people rode on it. This elevator is proving a great convenience to the occupants of the building. It is run from 6 o'clock in the morning till 12 at
