

REFUSED TO LEAVE JAIL

Officials Obligated to Resort to Law to Oust a Prisoner Who Had Served His Time.

Philadelphia Record.
John Kelly was an angry man when they turned him out of Moyamensing Prison yesterday. His sentence of three months was up a week ago, but he climbed upon a legal technicality, made eloquent gestures in Superintendent Motherwell's face and would not depart "Not I," said Kelley. "I won't go on those terms. Not I. Never."

It seems that he had been sentenced to three months and to pay the costs in a matter of assault and battery. The costs amounted to $18.37, and when imprisoned Kelley had had upon his person $19. This sum was taken from him, and when he came to be released 63 cents of it was handed back.

"What is this?" asked Kelley. "That's all there is due you, my man."

"All!" shouted Kelley. "Sure, my good man."

"How do you make that out?"
"Now, Kelley, don't get excited. Try and think. Remember that the Judge sentenced you to pay $18.37 costs and that you had $19 when you came here. We've deducted the costs from the $19, and 63 cents remain. That's all yours."

Kelley making gestures with both hands raised high above his head, said: "It's an unheard of thing for a man to serve a term and pay the costs besides. The rule is that the prisoner swears he has no means to pay the costs, and then they let him go."

"But you've got $19, my man."
"Drat that," said Kelley. "I won't pay the costs. I'll get my $19 if I stay here till I die."

"Go back to your cell," said the superintendent, defeated for the nonce. He knew he could not legally take the money from Kelley against his will.

Several days went by, and Kelley still refused to pay the costs out of his $19. Superintendent Motherwell, in despair, went to see Assistant District Attorney Finletter, who devoted several hours of research to the case.

"We'll apply jointly, under the old statute of 1764, which supersedes the blue law, or act, of 1831, K 4 G," said the Assistant District Attorney, "in this matter. Kelley will be respondent you, Motherwell, will be garnishee.

Accordingly the garnishee and the respondent went to Court, Judge Stevenson sitting upon the bench. The garnishee told of the costs, $18.37; of the personal property, $19 in cash, and of the refusal to pay on the part of the respondent. Kelley, the respondent, only said that he would rather stay in jail always than settle up.

"I decide," said the Judge, "in favor of the garnishee. He will deduct the $18.37 costs out of the respondent's $19, and he will give the balance to the respondent, and then he will turn the latter out of jail."

The garnishee, with a smile of relief, bowed. Kelley received his 63 cents and later on was ordered to leave Moyamensing. He departed sullenly.

Mosquitoes and Yellow Fever.
Philadelphia Medical Journal.

The search for the pathogenic mosquito still goes on. Having fastened the responsibility for malaria upon this insect, the scientists seem agreed upon fixing the blame for yellow fever upon it too. The role of the onopheles in malaria seems to be well established, but we still need more definite information about the completion of the life cycle of the malarial parasite. Is the mosquito the intermediary host, or is the essential link—the means by which its existence is assured from year to year—the individual known in The Lancet as "malarial man?" During the past year a few facts of importance—confirmatory, rather than truly originating—have been added to our knowledge of the propagation of malaria. Thus Manson's experiment on himself was confirmatory. He submitted himself to be bitten by some imported anopheles mosquitoes and promptly developed an attack of tertian fever. This was a disease that he could not readily have picked up in England, and the plain inference is that the imported insects gave it to him. Mosquito nets, wire gauze doors and windows and petroleum are now added to quinine as weapons against malaria and yellow fever.

Scrofula

Scrofula is an unwelcome legacy, but one which the children of blood poisoned parentage must accept, with all its humiliating consequences. It is an inheritance that makes one poorer; that brings wretchedness and disease instead of health and riches, for the child whose ancestral blood is tainted with Scrofula or the loathsome virus of Contagious Blood Poison is unfitted for the arduous duties of life so long as any of the transmitted poison remains in its veins. Scrofula manifests itself in various forms; swollen glands about the neck and throat, catarrh of the head, weak eyes, hip bone disease, white swelling and offensive sores and abscesses are familiar symptoms, attended usually with loss of strength, poor digestion and pale or bloodless complexion. The skin is sometimes most dreadfully affected, eruptions breaking out on all parts of the body. Scrofula destroys bone, tissue and flesh; no part of the human system escapes its withering, benumbing touch.

Parents whose blood is poisoned by their own misdeeds, or who themselves may be suffering for the sins of some remote ancestor, must restore their own blood to its normal purity and strength, or they cannot expect healthy, robust children. S. S. S. cures Scrofula, like other diseases of a deep-seated, constitutional character, by restoring life and purity to the profoundly poisoned blood, and the rich, strong blood that is carried to the swollen and diseased glands absorbs and destroys the tuberculous deposits, and the painful, disfiguring sores and other evidences of Scrofula disappear.

S. S. S. should be begun immediately upon the appearance of the first symptoms, or where there is a known predisposition to Scrofula. Our medical department will be found of great help to those who are struggling with this wasting disease of heredity or any other blood trouble, and we invite you to write us. Should you or any member of your family need advice, our physicians will cheerfully give the information you desire, for which we make no charge. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases free.
