Failure to Realize the Benefit of Trees to Towns.

Harper's Magazine.
It is almost as difficult to persuade a city magnate that a tree is a benefactor to the town as it is to convince him that a high school building has any nobler purpose than to be shown by real estate agents as an attraction to hoped for additions to the tax list. Nevertheless his education has begun, although he may know it, and some day we shall find him promising to plant trees in Yorkville, or on Murray Hill, or in the "Kitchen," or the "patch," wherever votes may be had in return. Little by little he will come to the realization of the fact that a tree is a vote-catcher, just as Tammany now feels, with somewhat more of dimness than is desirable, that a clean street on the East Side is a "good thing." When we get the city magnate so far we have got him as far as we can push him or drop him; if he goes further it is of his own enlightened nature.

Here are some axioms on this subject which will do the city magnate no good, but which will be readily accepted by the intelligent voter:

1. A narrow tree-shaded street is better than a bare wide one.
2. A walk under trees is more improving than a trolley ride under telegraph and telephone poles.
3. The man who cuts down a tree except for the purpose of saving a better one, is an enemy of the community.
4. A city magnate who will not save a beautiful tree when he can is of much less value to the community than the tree which he destroys.

Another discouraging circumstance is the lack of intelligence which the city magnate displays in planting and in taking care of trees when he comes to them. The trees in our new parks, for example, are dying or growing into shapelessness for lack of attention. When we plant a tree in a city we jam a flagstone against it, so that its own growth cuts its bark and injures it; we plaster the ground about it with asphalt, so that the earth cannot be freshened with moisture or enlivened by sunshine. We therefore feed it on sewerage, its poor roots bunch themselves together and become anaemic, while the top languishes. They do these things better in Paris.

HENRY M. FLAGLER SUED

Claim for $100,000 Damages for a Wife's Affections.

New York, May 8.—The Herald has an item that Henry M. Flagler is defendant in a suit in the Supreme Court of the State of New York the plaintiff being E. C. Foote, who demands $100,000 damages for the alienation of the affections of his wife, Helen.

In the same court Mr. Foote has also brought suit for divorce from his wife. He names as co-respondents Henry M. Flagler, John H. Maiden, and J. O'Bannon. Mrs. Foote married Mr. O'Bannon after obtaining a South Dakota divorce, the validity of which is now attacked. She is about 28 years old. Her beauty of face and figure cannot be denied. She has had a host of admirers, and her togethers have created a sensation in Paris and in London as often as in New York.

Mr. Foote is an agent in an express office. He carries that Mr. Flagler gave to Mrs. Foote cash, or its equivalent in marketable securities, notably Standard Oil certificates, to the amount of $400,000. He also alleges that Mr. Flagler gave to Mrs. Foote a valuable residence in East Fifty-seventh street, near Madison avenue.

An Accident.

Fred—I had a fall last night which rendered me unconscious for several hours.

Ed—You don't mean! Where did you fall?

Fred—I fell asleep.

ICE CREAM without labor

Delicious, smooth ice cream is made without the old-fashioned back-breaking crank turning by using the

"XXth Century Freezer"

The bucket is made of indurated fibre, a perfect non-conductor, which holds the cold. Simplicity is its salient feature. No separate parts to get out of order. Can be thoroughly cleansed in a few moments. It will keep the cream frozen three times as long as any other freezer, and it is impossible for any salt to reach the cream. The freezes ice cream, sherbets, ices, etc., better, cheaper and easier than any other freezer. It is the lowest priced freezer on the market. The public, especially the ladies, are invited to call and witness this freezer in operation and test the cream.

"XXth Century Freezer"

Scrofula

Scrofula is an unwelcome legacy, but one which the children of blood poisoned parentage must accept, with all its humiliating consequences. It is an inheritance that makes one poorer; that brings wretchedness and disease instead of health and riches, for the child whose ancestral blood is tainted with Scrofula or the loathsome virus of Contagious Blood Poison is unfitted for the arduous duties of life so long as any of the transmitted poison remains in its veins. Scrofula manifests itself in various forms; swollen glands about the neck and throat, catarrh of the head, weak eyes, hip bone disease, white swelling and offensive sores and abscesses are familiar symptoms, attended usually with loss of strength, poor digestion and pale or bloodless complexion. The skin is sometimes most dreadfully affected, eruptions breaking out on all parts of the body. Scrofula destroys bone, tissue and flesh; no part of the human system escapes its withering, benumbing touch.

When nineteen years old, and about one year after the birth of my first child, the glands on the left side of my neck began to swell. Four of the places were lanced and became open running sores; risings came under my left arm, and the discharge was simply awful. The doctors said I had the worst case of Scrofula they had ever seen. I took iodide of potassium, but this nor the other drugs given for this disease brought relief. When the physicians advised me to have the glands removed, I decided to try S. S. S. A few bottles cured me completely; no signs of the terrible disease are left.

MRS. RICHARD WASSON,
Golden Corners, Ohio.

purity to the profoundly poisoned blood, and the rich, strong blood that is carried to the swollen and diseased glands absorbs and destroys the tuberculous deposits, and the painful, disfiguring sores and other evidences of Scrofula disappear.

S. S. S. should be begun immediately upon the appearance of the first symptoms, or where there is a known predisposition to Scrofula. Our medical department will be found of great help to those who are struggling with this wasting disease of heredity or any other blood trouble, and we invite you to write us. Should you or any member of your family need advice, our physicians will cheerfully give the information you desire, for which we make no charge. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases free.
