TILLMAN AND M'LAURIN RESIGN

THIS ACTION THE RESULT OF A DE- BATE IN GAFFNEY, S. C.

McLaurin Says Tillman Made a Bluff and He Called Him—The Two Now Before the People of South Carolina for Vindication.

Columbia, S. C., May 25.—Today at Gaffney, there was a spirited debate between United States Senators B. R. Tillman and John L. McLaurin. As a denouement, both of them have put their resignations in the hands of Governor McSweeney. They have resigned with the understanding that they are to go before the people in a joint canvass and the sentiment of the people is to be expressed in a vote in a Democratic primary to be held in November.

The arrangement is sensational, for Tillman was last summer elected for six years and McLaurin has yet two years. The result of the issue means that if Tillman is sustained, McLaurin's seat will be vacant; if McLaurin is successful he will succeed to Tillman's long term.

McLaurin has been invited to Gaffney, and friends of Tillman asked him to come, too. McLaurin accused Tillman of attacking him when Tillman is in a bomb-proof. The latter declared that he would resign and meet McLaurin on the stump. McLaurin agreed to the proposition. Senator Tillman later submitted a written proposition, which was accepted by Senator McLaurin, except that the latter wanted the campaign to be held in October and in November, instead of this summer. McLaurin stated that this was suggested on account of his poor health. There were several proposals submitted between the two. Senator McLaurin wanted the race to be confined to Senator Tillman and himself. The latter declared that he could not dictate to the State Democratic Committee when the primary should be held, or how many candidates there should be.

The resignations as finally forwarded to Governor McSweeney, were accompanied by conditions. It reads:

Sir: We hereby tender our resignations as senators for the state of South Carolina in the United States to take effect November 15th, next. Yours respectfully, etc.

Under the election methods in this state the State Democratic Executive Committee will arrange a campaign and the candidate will speak in each of the forty counties of the state. At the primary election the candidate will be voted for directly. The campaign will be pitched a year earlier than expected, but there are half a dozen candidates in the field. Each must specify for which term he is a candidate.

SENATOR TILLMAN TALKS.

Charlotte, N. C., May 25.—A special to the Observer from Gaffney, S. C., says: Senator Tillman was seen at the train after the resignation had been signed and was asked what would, in a word, be the effect of the resignation. He replied:

"It will mean that we are to have either two Republican senators or two Democrats."

"Well, will you and Senator McLaurin enter the primary before the people for re-election?"

"I am going before the people and there will be a number of candidates. I don't know what McLaurin will do, but I presume if his health will permit, that he will also run."

"Will you both run for the term which you have just vacated."

"He can run for either one. There is no restriction about that. The resignation is unconditional and he might as well run for my seat as his own."

"Are you entirely confident of being reelected to the term which you have just given up?"

"I see no reason why I should have fear as to the result. I have nothing personally against McLaurin. I merely want the people to decide the matter and vindicate me."

STATEMENT FROM M'LAURIN.

Atlanta, Ga., May 25.—A special to the Constitution from Gaffney, S. C., says: Senator McLaurin, when asked about the resignation, said:

"Tillman made a bluff and I called him. All I desire is a free, fair and open fight on the issues upon which we differ. I earnestly hope that all others will keep out of our race and run for the other senatorship, so that Tillman and I may meet as man to man and fight it out."

LONG JURY TAMPERED WITH.

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENT IN STATESVILLE COURT.

One of the Jurors Spends the Night With the Law Agent of the Southern—Affidavits From Several Statesville People Read.

For some time the case in the Statesville court against the Southern Railway, for the killing of young Ben Long at the University Station, last year, has been without special interest. Saturday, however, a sensation was created by the abrupt ending of the trial, on the charge that the jury had been tampered with. The story is told by the Statesville correspondent of the Charlotte Observer:

Statesville, May 25.—Mr. Platt D. Walker concluded his speech in the Long case this morning at 10 o'clock, when Mr. Bason addressed the court. The judge intimated that he should charge the jury to find the first issue, that the deceased was killed by the negligence of defendant, as alleged in the complaint. Yes, in favor of the plaintiff, and the second issue, Was deceased guilty of contributory negligence, No. The judge intimated the evening before that he would so instruct the jury also, and after hearing Capt. Price and Col. Henderson, counsel for the defendant, an adjournment was taken until after dinner.

At the convening of the court the judge stated from the bench that he had been informed by the plaintiff that one of the jurors, J. H. Brown, had spent the night with J. A. Gorham, the law agent of the Southern Railway, and that this being admitted by the defendant, as there was appearance of fraud, whether there was fraud or not, he would withdraw a juror and make a mistrial of the case, which was done. Whereupon, Mr. C. B. Watson, senior counsel for the plaintiff, moved for a rule to be served upon L. C. Caldwell, one of the counsel for the defendant; J. A. Gorham; the law agent of the Southern Railway, Company; J. H. Brown the juror; B. C. Deaton, another juror, and R. A. Ramsey, to show cause why, they should not be attached for contempt of court for tampering with the jury. He then read the affidavits of John F. Bowles, a citizen of Statesville; Geo. B. Nicholson, attorney at law; R. E. Aramfield, clerk of Hotel Iredell; C. S. Tomlin, a citizen of Statesville; Leon Clarke, a citizen of Statesville; J. A. Hartness, clerk of the court; W. D. Turner, attorney at law; S. L. Parks, a citizen of Statesville; Lee S. Overman, P. D. Walker and C. B. Watson, counsel for plaintiff; C. W. Boshamer and R. V. Brawley.

Upon the reading of the affidavits his honor issued the rule and signed the notice on the said L. C. Caldwell, J. A. Gorham, J. H. Brown, B. C. Deaton and R. A. Ramsey, to appear before him on Monday morning at 9 o'clock to show cause why they should not be attached for contempt as above stated, and recognized Ramsey, Gorham, Deaton and Brown in the sum of $1000 for their appearance on Monday morning.

There was no denial of the fact that Gorham and Juror Brown had spent the night together in the same room in the third story of Hotel Iredell and that the lights were put out in the room immediately upon their entering it, and they remained there all night together.

The abrupt ending of the present trial created a sensation here. It was as though a volcano has burst when the matter was brought before the court and the affidavits read.

A Bad Engine.

As a coincidence of the accident today it might be mentioned that this engine No. 444 has had a series of accidents in the last month. First, it was in a smashup in the eastern part of the yard in which two or three box cars were damaged, and a quantity of meat scattered around. Second, was the accident costing the life of the fireman, Kirkman. Third, the engine ran into the rear of a freight train, and smashed the front cross bar on the engine. Fourth, this morning about 5 o'clock it ran into another engine on the yard, knocking both the other engine and the 444 off, and later killed the negro George Sutton. It is rapidly getting a bad name among the railway men

Two Runaways.

Dr. Beall's horse became frightened last night while on North Elm street and became entangled in the shafts. The negro boy, who was holding the animal, got out of the buggy to unhook it, when the horse bolted, coming down South Elm at a racing speed. The street was comparatively deserted, and the horse and buggy hung together until they reached the barn on the Doctor's lot, when the animal became freed. Nothing was damaged much, except the harness.

A runaway occurred on South Elm Saturday afternoon late but no considerable damage was done.

FOOTPRINT IN COAL.

Miner's Discovery Refutes Deductions of Science.

Pittston, Pa., May 25.—A discovery which may revolutionize science and make this city the mecca of historic research has been made in the mines at this city. Tonight students of physical geography from every section of Luzern are securing the city in hope of finding John Silinske, a Polish miner, who has in his possession a piece of coal bearing the imprint of a human foot. The lines are distinct and there is absolutely no doubt that it is genuine. Men who have seen the specimen say it will refute the verdict of science that the earth during the "coal age" was not inhabited.

John Silinske, while employed in the Pennsylvania mines, came across a strange strata of coal. On examination he found the imprint of what seemed to be a human foot. When his work was done, in silence he left the mines and for days spent his idle moments reading books on the subject. When approached with a price for his discovery he refused and became frightened and has not been seen for days.

It should be an easy matter to elevate the stage. Every company has its "props."
