

How Heroes Are Made.

A pretty and pathetic story has been going the rounds of the papers, in which a colored workman on tin Indianapolis was pictured as giving up his life in order that a fellow-workman who was married might have his life spared to his wife and children. The story was told with a variety of pretty and dramatic details, and naturally called forth much praise of the humble hero.

The aftermath is told in this way by the New York Times:

"On Monday last we published a very interesting and pathetic story from Indianapolis about a negro who when steam was accidentally turned into the big boiler in which he and a companion were working, nobly gave the other man a chance to escape first and in consequence of the delay was himself fatally burned. The tale was one of the kind we are glad to publish, and as it came through the regular Associated Press channels, the possibility that it was false or inaccurate did not occur to us then. The next day, however, Mr. Joseph B. Gilder sent us a letter expressing his appreciation of the negro's heroism and inclosing a contribution to serve as the nucleus for a monument fund. His example was followed by several other generous readers of the Times. Thereupon the duty to investigate was borne in on us, and we investigated with the lamentable result of learning on indisputable Indianapolis authority, including the testimony of the man who was saved, that, except for the fact that an accident of the sort did occur the story was a "yellow journal fake," rashly accepted by the Associated Press agent, and that the monument scheme would have to be abandoned. When the steam was turned into the boiler the two men in it rushed for the manhole, each for himself, and had it not been for the desperate struggle which each made to get out first, both could easily have escaped in safety. There was no discussion as to the superior right to life possessed by a married man, no display of self-sacrifice—nothing in short, except new and needless proof that poor humanity, when confronted with by sudden and terrible peril, sometimes fails to demonstrate its higher possibilities. So yesterday we returned the contributions we had received to the donors, with sincere regrets that we had excited their emotions without cause.

Shot a Young Man for Calling on His Daughter.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 2.—Owen Logan a stockman of Arkoe, Mo., was fatally shot while calling on Miss Jessie Walker, near Maryville, by the young woman's father, last night. Logan was paying attention to Miss Walker. The father objected and is said to have made frequent threats that he would kill Logan, if he did not cease his attentions. Logan was standing at the gate of the Walker premises talking to Miss Walker, when the father came suddenly upon them, and bringing a shot gun to his shoulder, discharged its contents into the young man's body. Logan is a nephew of Sheriff Collins, and immediately after the shooting he was removed to the home of the latter. Walker gave himself up and is in jail.

The Blood HEALTHY OR DISEASED

When there is a natural and healthy circulation of the blood, the entire quantity, estimated at one-eighth the weight of the body, passes through the heart every five minutes. This rapid flow of the blood through the system prevents the entrance of disease germs and impurities of every description. It filters out all that is not necessary or good for the growth and development of the body and nourishing and strengthening the muscles, tissues, nerves and bones. But, unfortunately, few persons can rightly claim an absolutely pure blood supply and perfect and unpolluted circulation, and in consequence are exposed to innumerable diseases. Contagious Blood Poison, the greatest enemy to mankind, enters the system through the blood, and Cancer, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Tetter—in fact the majority of human ailments—are caused by poisons or humors that are engendered and fostered in a sluggish and impoverished blood.

The Blood is the Source of All Strength

Old sores, chronic ulcers and rheumatic pains are common, especially among old people, whose blood naturally grows thin and pale because of the lack of the red corpuscles that give color and strength to youthful blood. Sallow complexions and rough, oily skins evidence some constitutional or blood trouble, which salves, lotions, powders nor any external treatment can cure. Diseases that originate in the blood, whether they manifest themselves as ulcers, tumors, itching eruptions, muscular or bone pains, require a tonic and blood purifier such as S. S. S., which not only antidotes and neutralizes blood poisons and humors, but possesses health-giving tonic properties that no other blood medicine does. It goes down to the very foundation of the disease and eliminates from the system everything of a poisonous character or that obstructs and clogs the circulation. It builds up and imparts new strength and vitality to the old innutritious blood, and when the arteries and veins are once more filled with new rich blood, the general health begins to improve, muscles grow stronger, and sores and eruptions of every kind disappear.

S. S. S. is the only guaranteed purely vegetable blood purifier, and the purest and most reliable in all blood diseases. It has been tested in thousands of cases during the past fifty years and is more popular today than ever. We will be glad to send you our book free, and if in need of medical advice write our physicians all about your case; this information will cost you nothing and comes from experienced and educated doctors. All correspondence is conducted in strictest confidence.
