Wright's Epsom Lithia Water

This water belongs to the saline class, of which the essential and active agent is Sulphate of Magnesia (Epsom Salts). The great preponderance of this agent gives it marked advantage over other waters of its kind. Its effects are laxative, diuretic, tonic and alterative. It is indicated in all functional derangements of the stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys and bladder. The laxative action is peculiarly effectual and as a remedy for constipation it is without a rival among mineral waters, or drug remedies. If you are a subject of this common and annoying complaint give Wright's water a fair trial, and you will certainly be pleased.

MR. KRUGER'S WIFE DEAD.

Separation from Her Husband and the Death of Her Daughter Hastened Her End.

Pretoria, July 21.—Mrs. Kruger, wife of former President Kruger, of the South African Republic, died yesterday of pneumonia, after an illness of three days. She was 67 years old.

Mrs. Kruger's long separation from her husband, combined with the death of her favorite daughter, Mrs. Smith, last week, had completely broken her spirits. Mr. Eloff and many members of the Kruger family were at her bedside when she passed away.

MR. KRUGER HEARS THE NEWS. London, July 22.—"Owing to the Sunday telegraph hours in Holland," says a dispatch to The Daily Mail, from Hilversum, "Mr. Kruger was not informed of his wife's death until the evening. The news was broken to him by Dr. Heymans and Secretary Boeschoten. Mr. Kruger, who had just returned from Hilversum church, burst into tears and asked to be left alone. He exclaimed: 'She was a good wife. We quarrelled only once, and that was six months after we were married.' He prayed for a long time and is now calmly sleeping, his Bible beside his bed.

"The Transvaal and Orange Free State flags flying above the White villa were draped and half-masted."

Anti-Lynching Movement Baltimore News.

The Southern States seem at last to have awakened to a thorough realization of the disgrace which attaches to the application of lynch law and to have determined to put an end to the practice. Only a few days ago a resolution was introduced in the Alabama convention looking to that end and yesterday, in the Virginia convention, another was introduced even more rigorous in its nature. It provides that the governor shall offer a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of every person who shall engage in the offense; that the crime shall be murder in the first degree where the hanging or lynching is accomplished, and that it shall be the duty of the governor to pay $1,000 to the heirs of any person lynched, the money to come out of the State treasury and be charged to the county or city in which the crime was committed. The trouble with this is the same which marks many well-intended efforts at reform—goes to far and by its own severity will defeat its purpose. Juries will not convict lynchers of murder in the first degree, and in this respect the resolution needs amendment. But the spirit of it is right, and the convention may be trusted to put it into working form.

Dead men's shoes seldom fit. The baseball fan doesn't always keep cool. The weather man will get his reward in the hereafter. The doctor who wears a duck suit isn't necessarily a quack. The deaf mute loves his best girl better than tongue can tell. But little knowledge can be acquired in an easy chair. Wisdom is often nearer when we stoop than when we soar. The average man gets angry every time he is in the wrong and knows it. A watch may be cleaned by soaking it in a cup of kerosene—but that is not the way a watch is usually soaked. Some music is given out by the choir, but the drummer dispenses it by the pound.

DAY OF PRAYER IN MISSOURI.

THE HOTTEST WEATHER ON RECORD

The Mercury Went Up to 108 Degrees in St. Louis Yet Crowds Attended Nearly All the Churches Where Prayers Were Offered for Rain.

St. Louis, July 21.—On this, the day that Governor Dockery designated for fasting and prayer to God that the present drought might be broken in Missouri, all records for hot weather in St. Louis were broken, the Weather Bureau thermometer on the custom house registering 108 degrees. On the streets and in exposed places, the mercury went many degrees higher. The record broken was that of 106 made in the early eighties. As early as 7 a. m. the day gave promise of being unusually warm. At that time the thermometer registered ninety degrees, and from then on, until 3:30 p. m., the mercury steadily climbed upward under the impulse of a fierce sun shining from a cloudless sky. Hardly a breath of air stirred all day. The Governor's proclamation was very generally heeded, nearly every church in the city holding well attended services, given up to prayer that the drought which has prevailed several months and threatens the destruction of all vegetation might be broken.

This is the second proclamation of the character ever made in the history of Missouri. In 1875, a time of drought and grasshopper pest, Governor Charles H. Hardin called upon the people of the State to pray for relief. This call was also generally observed.

FEAR OF FOREIGN GOLD.

Mr. Bryan is Living Back in '96—While the World Moves On.

Chicago Record-Herald.

Mr. Bryan's editorial on the Ohio platform is chiefly notable for what the author has to say of the money question. The Democratic convention at Columbus showed very clearly that it wished to drop this question from politics and that it considered that it was definitely settled against the contentions of the party in 1896. Mr. Bryan stands where he did in 1896, and says: "The gold standard will not be complete until gold is the only legal tender money and bank notes the only paper money. Then our supply of primary money will be controlled by foreign financiers and our supply of credit money by domestic financiers."

The power of the foreigner was one of the notes of alarm sounded during the campaign of 1896, but since that time the foreigner has been in a panic over the power of the United States. In purely commercial transactions we have become the great creditor nation of the world. Not only are our exports the greatest of all, but they exceed our imports by an enormous sum. Complete official returns for the eleven months ended May are: Exports, $1,259,961,314; imports, $754,862,478.

This uneven exchange will be balanced in various ways, but so far as it implies power over primary money the advantage is manifestly with the United States, which we may add, is a great gold producer, as well as a great exporter of manufactures and agricultural staples. It led the world in gold production in 1900 and had much the largest stock of gold on hand. Furthermore, as affecting the quantitative theory of money, it is to be observed that there has been an enormous increase in the output of gold since the premises of the argument of 1896 were formulated. The yearly production had increased from $155,522,000 in 1893 to $311,506 in 1899, and but for the Transvaal war the total would have been still larger in 1900. As it was it amounted to $255,924,654, and outside the Transvaal there was an increase of $16,171,000 over the output of the year before.

Increase of population lags far behind this advance, and the foreign financier, instead of being a dictator and monopolist, is kept busy as the agent who pays for American goods. So there is neither a dearth of money, which is unusually plentiful, nor captivity.

Such are the indisputable facts of our recent development, and no politician can strengthen his position by ignoring them. The power of the foreigner, which was permissible as a pre-emptive, is now a myth whose continued recital sacrifices everything to a personal consistency of opinion. Mr. Bryan is arresting his own development and living back in 1896 while the world is moving.

Every girl has a longing to be kissed so it will take her breath away.

Love stands pretty well considering all the wear and tear it has to stand.

The man who has nothing to do can generally be depended on to do it.

No, Maude, dear; meals in dining cars are not served on time tables.

Some people seem to think eccentricity consists in paying debts.

The summer girl steals her heart in order that it may not be stolen.

It's sometimes well to be absent-minded when it comes to forgetting our troubles.

It seems rather strange that the Polish people have never made an effort to find the Pole.

TUBE WORKERS ORGANIZED.

YESTERDAY'S IMPORTANT EVENT.

The Strikers Expect to Secure Enough Men to Keep the National Tube Works Idle—President Shaffer Satisfied With the Week's Results.

Pittsburg, July 21.—The important event of the strike history of the day is the organization of the tube workers at McKeesport. The word from there tonight is that after long and arduous work, Assistant Secretary Tighe, of the Amalgamated Association, succeeded in organizing 125 men of the National Tube Works Company. At the meeting 25 skilled men from each of the departments were initiated into the mysteries of the Amalgamated Association, and Mr. Tighe claims that within 48 hours enough workmen will be secured to keep the entire plant closed down, affecting 9,000 men. From Wellsville, nothing has been received here except that the situation is unchanged and the strikers say everything is satisfactory to them. It is believed, however, that an attempt will be made to put the men to work tomorrow. While the strikers say they will not commit any overt act, there is an uneasy feeling manifest throughout the entire valley and no one is willing to anticipate the result of the proposed attempt to put these men to work. When seen tonight President Shaffer expressed himself as being more than satisfied with the week's results. He said: "Things are very much better than I thought they would be. More mills are shut down than we anticipated, or could expect. There is more determination on the part of the men to aid us morally and financially and from other labor organizations and a vastly more supporting general public than we were looking for. A message from Duncanville says the men are out there.

"We have lost no ground in the mills thrown idle in Pittsburg. Our organizers at Wellsville report that after the advent of a solitary worker there from Vandergrift to go into the mill on Saturday, Wellsville and East Liverpool were scoured to find other men on a similar mission and found not one. I can still repeat what I have said before in regard to the non-union men taking our places. If the United States Steel Corporation officials can get non-union men, I will help lead the men into the mills."

The 22-inch mill at the Boston iron and steel plant of the National Tube Company, at McKeesport, will resume operations in the morning after a shut-down lasting three weeks. The plant was closed for repairs. A great many men will be benefited by the mill resuming operations, but they were all glad to get the three weeks' vacation. The situation as to the Dewee-Wood plant remains unchanged. Various rumors were in circulation throughout the town during the afternoon and evening to the effect that the mills would try to resume operations tomorrow, but they could not be confirmed. The company officials persist in their refusal to name the date for resumption.

EDITORS WANT LIBERTY

Russian Emperor Was About to Let Down the Bars Altogether but the Reactionary Crowd Scared Him.

St. Petersburg, Monday, July 8.—The grant of more liberal press regulations affords additional proof that Emperor Nicholas has emancipated himself from the advisers, who still hold the ideas which prevailed during the unhappy period that followed the murder of the Czar Liberat to Alexander I. As an instance of more benevolent reforms the following example is given:

A deputation of editors, led by a courageous literateur who is no longer actively connected with the press, went before His Majesty with their humble petition. "Give us a press law," they pleaded. "Let us be as Your Majesty may deem it proper, but give us a law. Let us know where we stand. Free us from the domination of officials whose will is their only law. Give us as much freedom as you can. We will not abuse it."

The Emperor made a gracious response. The editors and publishers breathed a deep sigh of relief. But they were cruelly disappointed. The reactionary crowd gained the ear of the Emperor. An artificial agitation was started. The machinery of government and the police were set in motion and the Emperor was persuaded that fanatical elements only waited for the grant of modicum of liberty in order to attack throne, altar and his own life. The law now granted will restore courage to the press. Hitherto one warning from the censor has spread a panic through the editorial rooms. Two have put them under the sword of Damocles and three were regarded as preliminary to extinction, which was rarely long delayed. After three warnings the authorities could shut up the newspapers at any moment. Now, the first notice or warning will remain in force only a year if another does not follow within the year; the second will expire within that period, and the third will remain in force only three years. The action with regard to the liberty of the press is taken by many to be a forerunner of an era of reform in Russia.
