DRAWING OF JURORS.

Another County Proceeds as Guilford Does.

Lexington Dispatch.

Our exchanges contained the announcement that when an important case was resumed for trial in the Superior Court of Guilford county Saturday morning the attention of the court was called to the fact that the jurors had not been drawn as provided by law, and, upon this showing, Judge Shaw ordered the case continued until the January term, when it will come up on another bill of indictment.

It is said that the commissioners of Guilford county have not drawn jurors as provided by law for years. The statute provides that the names of all free-holders shall be placed in a single box, from which a sufficient number of names to constitute a jury shall be drawn indiscriminately. Instead of doing this the commissioners of that county have been in the habit of placing the names of the free-holders in each township in a separate box, thus insuring a representative jury from all the townships.

If the Dispatch mistakes not the system of drawing juries for Davidson county is the same as the one heretofore in vogue in Guilford and our purpose for printing this article is to call the attention of the county commissioners to the fact that Judge Shaw holds that this system is not a legal one. The case referred to in the Guilford court had been on trial for two days, when the court ruled as above and now the entire trial is to be gone over again. Our commissioners should have the county attorney investigate the law and thus prevent an occurrence like that of the Guilford case in our courts.

Mr. Alderman a Winner.

A Greensboro photographer, Mr. S. L. Alderman won many honors at the Photographer's Convention in Raleigh this week. He was elected second vice-president and bore off two of the handsome prizes. In Class A, three pictures, portraits on figures, 13 inches or larger, he won the second prize a silver medal. In Class C, twelve portrait cabinet size, he won first prize, a gold medal. This latter was the most sought after prize in the whole lot. C. E. Cheyne, of Hampton, Va., giving Mr. Alderman a close race. Both exhibits were fine. The Raleigh Post says of Mr. Alderman:

"Mr. S. L. Alderman, of Greensboro, one of the vice-presidents of the association and one of the very best photographers in the country, bore off two of the handsome prizes, one gold and one silver medal. Mr. Alderman possesses a very fine sense of the artistic, watches for the best expression and catches the most striking pose. Then, finishing his work in best style of the art, he cannot fail to be a winner. One of his pictures, especially, was perhaps the subject of more favorable argument than any in the competition."

The Association will meet next year in Danville.

A MILITARY COMPANY HERE.

GOVERNOR AYCOCK AUTHORIZES ITS ORGANIZATION.

Adjutant General Forwards the Necessary Papers—Obstacles Overcome in Securing the Consent of the Authorities—About Seventy-five Names Enrolled—Instructions from the Adjutant General to be Complied with at once.

Mr. W. P. Mangum Turner, who has been active in the efforts to have a military company organized here, has received the following letter from Adjutant general B. S. Royster:

"State of North Carolina,
"Office Adjutant General,
"Raleigh, Oct. 31, 1901.
"Mr. W. P. Mangum Turner, Greensboro N. C."

"Sir:—I have the honor to enclose herewith application for company organization and enlistment roll in duplicate. His Excellency the Governor, has directed me to authorize the organization of a military company at your place. You will, therefore fill up and return to this office the application for company organization with one copy of the enlistment roll, together with letters of recommendation from prominent citizens of your city recommending the officers who may be elected by the company as suitable to discharge the duties of their respective offices. When these papers are received general orders will be published at once accepting the company into the State Guard and assigning it to one of the regiments."

"Very Respectfully,
"B. S. ROYSTER,
"Adjutant General."

There was at first very little encouragement given by the State authorities to those who wanted Greensboro to have a military company, the plea of economy being put up. But the Greensboro people who were most interested kept hammering away on their project by getting influential men to write in behalf of the scheme with the result as described above in Adjutant General Royster's letter. About seventy-five names have been enrolled. The directions in the Adjutant General's letter will be complied with at once.

First Brick Laid.

The first brick on the power house for the Greensboro Electric Company, was laid this morning, and Manager Barr tells The Telegram that the work will be pushed from now until completion. The track laying will not be commenced until after the power house is finished and in operation. The boilers were shipped from the factory today.

Deaths Yesterday.

Special to The Telegram.
High Point, N. C., Nov 1—The 13-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. R. D. Strickland died here yesterday of fever. Her remains were carried to Ebenezer for interment this morning. Mr. Hendricks, father of Sheriff Hendricks, died at his home yesterday near Springfield church. He was one of Randolph's aged and respected citizens.

Wins Third Money.

Mr. Garland Danfel spent yesterday afternoon at the races in Winston. His horse, Queen Bess, won third money in the 2:30 trotting race.

Yesterday was the closing day of the Forsyth county fair, and the Winston papers say it was the most successful in the history of the association. Parties from Greensboro who attended say that the poultry exhibits were especially good. Large crowds attended.

Did Not Sign the Letter.

A good joke on himself is being told today by one of the Good Roads enthusiasts of Greensboro. He wrote to a friend in another town, who is also a believer in good roads, asking him to go to Winston today and telling him that the trip would not cost him a cent. The joke comes in that when not hearing from him friend, the gentleman in question began to think about it and then remembered that he had not signed the letter at all and so of course his friend did not know who wrote it.

Appointment Gives Satisfaction.

The appointment of Hon. F. I. Osborne, of Charlotte, to the bench of the Court of Private Land Claims, seems to meet the approval of the Republicans in Greensboro. It is said that the appointment is due not so much to the fact that Mr. Osborne volunteered to defend the impeached Justices of the Supreme Court.

Went Hunting.

Today the first of November is the beginning of the bird hunt season in North Carolina. A number of Greensboro people availed themselves of the opportunity, to take a day off and hunt the wary quail.

The hand of fate is usually clenched.

MR. JOHN R. WEBSTER.

Kind Words for Greensboro in His Paper This Week.

Mr. John R. Webster, Editor of Webster's Weekly, was in the city last week. He seldom comes to Greensboro without having something nice to say in his paper about the Gate City. We make a few extracts from his paper this week:

THE NORMAL AND INDUSTRIAL.

We had the pleasure of looking in upon the State Normal and Industrial College in Greensboro last week. We found the institution crowded with bright faced, happy and earnest young women, representing every section of the State, and all the religious denominations, and all apparently bent on making the most of their opportunities. If it were possible for all the people of the State or a majority of them, to visit this college and see its practical workings it would be beyond the power of any of its enemies to do it harm.

The faculty is composed of teachers of ability and character. They are devoted to their work and have no higher ambition than to train the pupils committed to their care for lives of usefulness. All the teachers are active church members and by precept and example point the way to the only real happiness in life—obedience to the revealed will of the Eternal. Their great aim is to develop character. Such should be the object of all teaching. Education is not the chief end of life. It is a means to an end. To see things in their right relation, to profit by the experience and wisdom of others, to make the most of one's self, are prime objects of education.

Dr. Chas. D. McIver, president of this institution is the right man for the place. He possesses in the right proportions scholarly attainments, executive ability, kindness of heart, tireless energy and old fashioned sense. To him more than any dozen men in the State are the people indebted for the establishment of the college. He aroused them to the necessity of doing something for the girls of North Carolina, whose educational welfare had been overlooked in the strenuous efforts made to reach all the boys. He did not ask that less be done for the latter, but insisted that justice be done the former. Educate the boy, he proclaimed, and you have done well but when you educate the girl you have done more. The boy may hide his light under a bushel, may not impart his knowledge to others, may be a selfish money getter; but the girl never. An educated mother will multiply herself manifold in the minds and hearts of her children. So with the women who choose teaching as their life work. Whatever education does for the man in increasing his usefulness to society it does much more for the woman.

GREENSBORO AND ITS ADVANCING PROSPERITY.

Whilst over in Greensboro last week we met Hon. Chas M Stedman, who for the past four or five years has made that city his home. He was in splendid health and spirits and his eulogies on Greensboro, its people and its prospective future, were well worthy of interest.

We asked him, 'Why do you like the city of Greensboro so greatly?' "Because," said he, 'it represents the ideas and best traditions of North Carolina as I cherish them and as I learned them in my boyhood and early manhood. Greensboro is a typical North Carolina city. Its inhabitants are singularly free from vulgar ostentation and parade. Simplicity marks their conduct. The stranger is greeted here with genuine and sincere kindness and meets on all sides a hospitality which charms and delights him.' Whilst speaking of the rapid advance being made in the business of the city he said: "But I will tell you the most important business establishment in the City of Greensboro. It is the Koeley Institute."

Continuing the interview, Major Stedman paid a high tribute to the work of Koeley.

A Neat Job.

Two handsome carpets were cut for the Blue Ridge Inn at Mt. Airy yesterday afternoon on the floors of the Southern Import and Commission Company. The carpets were velvet carpets, one for the parlor and one for the hallway. In the hallway there were eighty-one cuts and forty matches and the entire job was done with a total loss of twenty-two inches of carpet. The carpet was ordered in a roll and cut here and there remained but the twenty-two inches.

The condition of Dr. F. H. Wood, whose illness was mentioned several days ago, is much improved.

GAVE HIM A TALKING.

Attorney Gilmore Threatens to Abandon Howard's Case.

Mr Gilmore, attorney for the gold brickers, had a plain talk with Howard, the old miner, yesterday. Since the failure to escape, Howard has been very abusive, cursing everybody that has anything to do with him. Mr. Gilmore plainly told him that if he did not behave better and act more like a gentleman he would leave him to his own devices. Howard, while a surely, quarrelsome man, does not want to lose the services of his attorney, and will doubtless behave better than in the past two days.

His Reason Impaired.

Alfred King, seventy year old white man was locked in the county jail because of impaired reason. This third person now confined in Guilford jail because of impaired reason. This is not the first time King has been weak in his upper story. He has previously been in the asylum, and was only recently released from its confinement, apparently restored to his right mind. His brother states that he missed him several days and when he found him he was wading up and down Buffalo Creek, attired in the garb given him by his creator, and having in his hands turnips and onions with which he said he was baiting fish. This morning when he dressed in jail, he put on his clothes wrongside out, and left off his socks. When asked by the turnkey why he did not put them on he answered that they didn't wear them in heaven and he was not going to wear them here. He seems to be daft on the subject of religion.

Church Dedicated.

The recently completed Methodist Protestant church at Gibsonsville, was dedicated last Sunday morning, the dedicatory sermon being preached by Rev W. W. Davidson, of New Haven, Conn. This church is a part of the work of Rev W. L. Harris, of this city.

SHORT LOCALS.

Among those who went to Winston this morning to see the Good Roads exhibit were Messrs. J. Van Lindley, C. G. Wright, E. P. Wharton, and Tyre Glenn.

Messrs. Chalmers McLean, and John Thacker went hunting early this morning. Poor birds.

Two coons engaged in a street fight on Sycamore street last night in front of Thomas Bros printing office. No serious damage resulted.

The women street preachers have moved their stand from near the depot to Gardner's corner. They preach at night.

The Third Regiment band of Reidsville, passed through the city this morning returning home from Winston. They furnished music for the Forsyth county fair.

Rev. R. S. Webb, pastor of the Greensboro circuit, is confined to his home with an attack of rheumatic malaria.

The Enterpe Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock with Mrs. Banner on Ashe street.

A letter from Mr. J. R. Hiatt, states that his brother, Flagman E. T. Hiatt, injured several days ago by the overturning of a shanty car near Wilkesboro, is getting along as well as could be expected. Both his arm and leg were badly bruised.

The exhibit of Greenboro carpets at the State Fair received a gold medal. The exhibit was made by the Southern Import and Commission Company, of this city.

Weather started off today with neither seemingly borrowed from next Spring. The birds were warbling in the tree tops, and all nature smiled as though she thought summertime had returned.

An important meeting of the Southside Hose Company will be held tonight at 7:30. All are requested to be present. All ladies interested in the Company are also invited as a matter will come up in which their aid will be asked.

Mr. W. E. Trueblood, who is connected with the Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company, today moved his family from Birmingham, Alabama, to Greensboro. He will occupy one of Mr. C. H. Ireland's residences on North Spring street.

REDUCED RATES

On account of the National Convention of Women's Christian Temperance Union to be held in Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 15, 20, all railroads of the Southern division are selling round daww tickets at a fare and a third. The Iron Mountain railroad sells tickets from Memphis to Fort Worth and return for one fare plus $2, that is $17.20. These rates are open to the public as well as members of the W. C. T. U. but can be obtained only on the certificate plan. The ticket limit is Nov. 25.

AFTER NINE YEARS.

Young Man Must Serve Out His Old Sentence.

Raleigh Times.
Deputy Sheriff Harward, of Durham, last evening carried Walter Daniels a young white man arrested here, back to Durham. Daniels is accused of escaping from the Durham work house nine years ago. Deputy Separk arrested him here. When Daniels was a mere boy he was convicted of taking two watches from a Durham store and sentenced for one year. He made his escape after serving three months. The Durham Herald this morning says of the case:

"Daniels said that when he left here he went to the home of some friends in Wake county and remained there for a short time. He then went to Raleigh. When war was declared against Spain in 1898 he went to Norfolk and enlisted in the marine corps, serving through the war and receiving an honorable discharge. Since the war he has been in Raleigh, assisting his mother in conducting a store and looking after her support. He is the only child and the dependence of his mother for a living. When arrested yesterday he did not deny his identity and acknowledged that he escaped from the work house here, saying that he guessed it was best to go back and serve his time. He said yesterday afternoon that he was a boy, having just donned long pants when he entered the store and said that it was the only trouble he was ever in in his life.

"All who have looked into the case are of the opinion that it is one where the Governor would be doing nothing more than his duty if he was to grant the young man pardon and let him go back to the support of his mother. He has suffered enough."

Gave Bond for His Appearance.

Mr. C. H. Roney, formerly postmaster at Gibsonsville, but who was removed at the last term of Federal court here, charged with making false returns of the business, was in Greensboro yesterday and gave bond for his appearance at the next term of Federal court held in this city. Complaints had been lodged against Roney several times before his removal and it is alleged that he was the most incompetent postmaster in this section. He is said to frequently have been too drunk to attend to the duties of the office. A lady succeeds him. In connection with the Roney case it is said that one of Guilford's postmasters cannot read, and the mail addressed to that office is dumped into a large box and the patrons of the office pick it over.

A Pleasant Evening.

A pleasant evening was spent last night by a large number of people at Centenary church and as a result a neat sum was realized. The program with a few minor changes, was carried out as printed in yesterday's Telegram.

A Long Dry Spell.

Mr. W. I. Young, who returned yesterday afternoon from a trip through several Southern states also visited Mexico. He states that in that portion of Mexico visited by him, there has been no rain fall in thirteen months.

KING LEAR AT THE GRAND SATURDAY NIGHT NOV. 2.

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer says through Davidson College Correspondent: "Every copy of Shakespeare's 'Macbeth' has been out of the library for the last two weeks, and a great many others called for. This is in anticipation of Mr. Henry Austin Clapp's lecture which will be given here to-morrow evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall. If the lecture is one half as interesting as the two preceding ones by Mr. Clapp the audience will be more than repaid for time and money."

AT THE GRAND TOMORROW NIGHT

The State Normal and Greensboro Female Colleges will be largely represented at the Grand tomorrow night at the rendition of "King Lear" by Mr. Henry Austin Clapp.

Raleigh News and Observer: Mr. John Blue, president of the Aberdeen and Rockfish Railroad, who was in Raleigh this week, says that he is preparing for a short extension of his road and will have it soon completed to Hope Mills, a flourishing mill town in Cumberland county, on the Atlantic Coast Line Railway. It runs through a fine country and has caused the building of the flourishing town of Raeford. Mr. Blue's road is now forty miles long. He started building it in 1889 and has built it on year by year, till he has one of the best pieces of property in North Carolina. He says that the lumber business has been very good this year.

Weldon Special to Raleigh News and Observer, 31st: This has been the greatest day in the history of the Weldon Fair. Major Emery, president of the Fair, said this evening he had never before seen so large a crowd at the Fair. There were special trains from every direction and these, besides the regular trains were loaded down. Governor Aycock spoke at the appointed hour, but his voice could not be heard to the outskirts of the crowd, while hundreds of people sauntered about the grounds having given up the effort to get near enough to hear. One of the most exciting features of the day was the arerast of fakirs. Yesterday the Midway besides the regular shows, was lined from one end to the other with fakirs running gambling tables. Today they attempted to work the same racket. As this is a plain violation of the State law, Justice of the Peace House, having secured his witnesses, attempted at one fell swoop to capture the whole gang. He succeeded in capturing a number, but the rest took alarm and fled.
