IT IS MEN WE NEED SAYS J. CAMPBELL WHITE

Finances Are of Secondary Importance in Mission Work.

In Address Before Missionary Committees of City Churches Last Night Great Leader in Work Pointed Out Above Fact—The Need of Missionary Committees in Churches—Missionary Education the Subject For Tonight—Considerable Interest in the Follow Up Work.

In his address before the pastors of the city and the members of the missionary committees of the several churches last night Mr. J. Campbell White, general secretary of the Laymen's Movement, said that finances are not the thing most needed in missionary work, but it is the giver that is needed, the personal worker, for when the personal workers are secured the financial problem will solve itself. Dr. White also pointed out the fact that the securing of a gift from a person will have a tendency to cause him to study somewhat about the object to which his gift is to be applied and gradually he will increase his gift and at the same time give more and more of his life to the work.

More than one hundred members of the missionary committees of the several churches have enrolled for the conference and the interest last night was most profound. A number of the ministers and laymen took part in the discussion and the session was quite helpful to all. This, Dr. White explained, is the first of the follow up conferences to be held in each of the seventy-five cities in which Laymen's Conferences were held last winter and spring. The first conference was held in Greensboro, he said, because of the great success of the Laymen's Conference held last winter and the leaders felt sure that many valuable suggestions could be obtained here for use in other cities. It was deemed advisable, he said, to concentrate the work as much as possible and for this reason only those of each church on which the responsibility of the mission work of the several churches rest are invited to the conferences. Then two conferences for pastors only will be held. The problem in the Laymen's Missionary work is not to start the movement, but to keep it going and increasing in magnitude all the time. We did not start the Laymen's Movement with the idea that the work could be soon completed. It is a life job, he said.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the second pastor's conference will be held and the final conference for pastors and laymen will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The subject for tonight will be Missionary Education. The meetings are being held in the Sunday school room of the First Baptist church.

The meeting last night was called to order by Mr. A. M. Scates, the stirring hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers" being sung. Judge N. L. Eure led in prayer and "Rock of Ages" was sung. Mr. Scates then turned the meeting over to Mr. White, who first explained the object of the meeting. He then announced that the subject for discussion would be Missionary finances. Before entering upon the discussion he gave some of the reasons for having a missionary committee in a church, which were as follows:

- It divides and locates responsibility.
- It enlists lay activity.
- It reinforces the pastor's efforts.
- It challenges the study of missions.
- It provides great opportunities for service.
- It reaches the membership individually.
- It stimulates the spiritual life.

The speaker here called for the report from the city churches to ascertain what the missionary committees had been doing since the Laymen's Conference.

The local committee had sent letters to each of the city churches asking for information as to the results of the Laymen's Conference last winter and the following tabulated report was read before the conference, several of the churches having failed to make a report:

Baptist (4), resident members 1188, regular givers to foreign missions 550, percentage 46, number making every member canvass 4, meeting conducted by laymen 1, number of churches that sent laymen to other churches on mission work 1; Presbyterian (5) resident members 1310, regular givers to foreign missions 748, percentage 57, number making every member canvass 3, meetings conducted by laymen 3, number sending workers to other churches on mission work 2; Methodist Episcopal (3) 1565 resident members, 1250 regular givers to foreign missions, 80 per cent, 3 made every member canvass, 3 meetings conducted by laymen, 2 sent laymen into other churches on mission work; Christian (2) 231 resident members, 100 regular givers to foreign missions, 43 per cent, 2 made every member canvass, 2 meetings conducted by laymen; Reformed (1) 90 resident members, 75 regular givers to foreign missions, 83 per cent, made every member canvass, sent laymen to other churches on mission work; Friends (2) 340 resident members, 200 regular givers to foreign missions, 58 per cent, 1 meeting conducted by laymen, sent laymen to other churches on mission work; Methodist Protestant (1) 220 resident members, 250 regular givers to foreign missions, 114 per cent, 1 meeting conducted by laymen, laymen sent to other churches on mission work. (This per cent includes Sunday school, there being 90 per cent of the church membership who pay through budget plan); Moravian (1) 35 resident members, recently organized and mission work not yet taken up; Apostolic Holiness, (1) 66 resident members, 50 regular givers to foreign missions, 75 per cent; Episcopal (1) 301 resident members, 169 regular givers to foreign missions, 56 per cent, made every member canvass, held one laymen's meeting.

The report showed that Westminster Presbyterian church had sent two delegates to the general conference at Chicago and one representative to the World's Conference in Edinburgh. It also pointed out that West Market Street Methodist church had been exceedingly active and aggressive in the missionary work, two of her young people giving themselves to foreign work.

This report was discussed at length by Dr. White. He stated that while it showed up remarkably well there were still two thousand church members in the city who were not giving to missions. He stated that if the facts were boiled down it would show that a majority of the regular givers were members of the Sunday school and missionary societies and that but comparatively few laymen were subscribers. It is these we need to get, he said. Then followed a number of talks by different pastors and laymen, in which some of the results of the conference last winter were brought out. This proved quite interesting.

Dr. White then pointed out the fact that men are what are needed most in missionary work and that the financial part is of secondary importance. If the men are enlisted in the work then we need have no fear as to the financial side of the matter, he said. He dwelt upon the importance of systematic giving and declared that heads of families should not give to church and mission work for the entire family; that each member should give for himself. A man can just as well pray for each member of his family as he can give for each member, he said, for it is not the amount given so much as it is the educating of one to give regularly and systematically. This is especially essential regarding children. The speaker then called on Mr. C. H. Pratt, district secretary of the Laymen's Movement to show why one should give regularly.

Mr. Pratt asked for some of the reasons why one should give weekly and some of the answers were: because it's scriptural, it keeps it constantly before the members, more productive, causes regular attendance at church, enables missionary work to be carried on without waiting until the end of the year for the money to be forthcoming. Some of Mr. Pratt's reasons were: Because it's scriptural, educational, fair, promotes prayer, enlists larger membership, makes it easy to give more, provides constant support without borrowing, increases other offerings. These reasons were discussed at length.

Mr. Willis R. Hotchkiss, Friends' Missionary to Africa, who was one of the speakers at the Laymen's Conference, was present and he was called upon to make a short talk. He said that the whole purpose of the church was to carry the gospel into all regions and to bring the world to Christ; that when this had been accomplished the mission of the church was fulfilled. He urged the necessity of the ministers keeping the idea of the world enterprise before fore their congregations. "We are fighting a spiritual battle and must use spiritual forces in the work," said Mr. Hotchkiss.

Pastor's Conference.
The first pastor's conference was held yesterday afternoon, practically every pastor in the city being present. Some of the subjects discussed were: Missions on the program of Christ, the pastor's place of leadership, the pastor and missionary education, the pastor and missionary finance, the pastor and missionary recruits, the pastor's relation to prayer for missions.

Meeting For Public.
This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Mr. J. Campbell White will make an address in the First Baptist church. A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend. The meeting will begin promptly at 2:30 as Mr. White has to attend another meeting at 3:30.

Will Have Field Secretary.
The State Executive Committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement held a meeting last night following the conference at which it was decided to put a field secretary in the field if the necessary funds could be secured. A canvassing committee was appointed, the committee to report tonight.

DEATH IN COUNTRY.

Mrs. Polly Ann Bowman Passed Away At Age of Eighty Eight Years.

Mrs. Polly Ann Bowman died Sunday at 12 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John A. Hodgin, south of the city, following a brief illness. She was in her eighty-eighth year and had been in failing health for some time.

Mrs. Bowman is survived by five children, Mrs. John A. Hodgin, Messrs. Rufus and Edward Bowman, of this city; Messrs. Lee and William Bowman, of Mooresville, Ind.; also a brother, Mr. Rom Little, of Hickory Grove. She was possessed of qualifications which endeared her to all her acquaintances and numbered her friends by the score.

The funeral was held from Hickory Grove church yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. A. G. Kirkman, assisted by Rev. Mr. Taylor, of Pleasant Garden. The interment followed in the family burying ground. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. W. Merritt, A. A. Hinkle, A. A. Johnson, J. R. Bell, E. E. Hanner and E. E. White.

Centenary Revival Closes.

The revival services at Centenary Methodist church closed Sunday. Large congregations were present morning and night and Rev. D. M. Litaker preached two able evangelistic sermons. The afternoon service for boys and girls was an inspiring one. The revival throughout was declared one of the most gracious held in Centenary in many years. The attendance was good and the interest increased with every service. Rev. D. M. Litaker's subjects were well chosen and his preaching of a high order, showing a wide range of thought, a well stored mind and deep consecration. About twenty persons have given their names for church membership as a result of the meeting and many Christians have been led to a deeper spiritual life.

Meeting Postponed.

The Board of Directors of the proposed Masonic and Eastern Star Home was to have had a meeting today at Salisbury, but last night Mr. L. M. Clymer, of this city, who is a member of the board, received a telegram from Dr. F. M. Winchester, of Charlotte, chairman of the committee on site, stating that the meeting announced to be held in Salisbury today had been called off. Mr. Clymer is in the dark as to why the meeting was called off. Dr. Winchester wired, however, that he would write.

Football Saturday.

The first game of football on the local diamond will be played Saturday evening, at which time the local highs will meet the Reidsville eleven. An interesting game is to be expected as the rules will be new to local lovers of this sport.

Centenary Philatheas.

The First Philathea class of Centenary Methodist church will meet at the church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Time is money, but it often hangs more heavily on our hands.

Mr. W. H. Wallace, of the Wallace Clothing Company, went to Salisbury last night to spend the Jewish new year with his father, Mr. V. Wallace. The store of the Wallace Clothing Company will be closed today on account of the Jewish holiday, but will open tomorrow morning as usual.

THE CRUSADE AGAINST TRASH

Much Preliminary Work Done Yesterday.

Residents of the City Are Joining in Effort to Have City As Clean As Possible For the Fair—The Wagons Will Start Out Bright and Early This Morning—The Proposed Route For Each Wagon During Today Outlined.

The encouragement given those who have undertaken the task of having the city cleaned up yesterday was beyond expectation and the leaders state that they feel that a great burden has been lifted off their shoulders. A large majority of the citizens approached heartily agreed to join the clean-up crusade and agitate the movement to the extent of their ability. In many yards were seen hands busy gathering up the trash and rubbish and placing it convenient for the trash wagons when they go around. Especially so was this true in the central section of the city where the wagons will visit first.

The wagons will start out this morning, beginning at Elm street and working outward. Below Dr. Edmund Harrison, who has the matter in charge, gives the schedule for today and each morning will outline the course for the wagons that day. If any person cannot secure help to gather the trash they can phone 797 and a hand will be sent out. Dr. Harrison's communication follows:

Have Your Trash and Garbage Ready.

The wagons will start early Tuesday morning, and will follow the following routes for the six wards, the fifth and sixth ward lines not being observed:

First ward. Beginning at the court house will follow the west side of Elm street; going north, taking in each cross street to Greene as they proceed, then to S. Park drive, Wainman street, Simpson street, then starting at the north end of Keogh will return by Green street, taking in the cross streets to Edgeworth street as they come to them.

Second ward. Beginning at the Fisher building will follow the east side of Elm street, going north, taking in the cross streets to Davie and Church as they come to them, returning by Church street, taking in cross streets to the railroad as they reach them.

Third ward. Beginning at the post-office will follow the east side of Elm street, going south, taking in the cross streets to Davie street, as they come to them, crossing Depot street will return by Davie street, taking the cross streets to Forbes as they reach them.

Fourth ward. Beginning at the Greensboro drug store (corner W. Market and N. Elm) will follow the west side of Elm street, going south, taking in the cross streets as they come, crossing Buchanan will return by Ashe street, taking the cross streets to Green and to Eugene as they reach them.

GOLDEN ROD WEDDING

Miss Nellie Jeffreys and Mr. John L. Daniels Happily United in Marriage.

At 8:30 o'clock last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Jeffreys, 926 Walker avenue, their daughter, Miss Nellie Jeffreys, became the bride of Mr. John Lawson Daniels, formerly of Washington, D. C. The ceremony seemed especially impressive and sacred with only the close friends and relatives to witness it.

The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Miss Marion St. Sing, who played "Hearts and Flowers" during the ceremony.

The couple, in taking the marriage vows, stood in front of an improvised altar of golden rod, intermingled with ferns and palms. Golden rod was also freely used in the decorations of other parts of the home. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. J. W. Long, pastor of Spring Garden Street Methodist church.

Following the ceremony there was served in the dining room a course of ices and mints. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels received many beautiful and useful presents, attesting their popularity with their acquaintances.

The bride was attired in a beautiful going away gown of gray with hat and gloves to match. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels will visit Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York and will be at home after Oct. 20 at Mr. J. J. Daniels', Spring Garden street extension.

HELD THEIR FALL OPENING

Huntley Stockton Hill Company At Home To Their Friends and Patrons Last Night.

Huntley-Stockton-Hill Company held their fall opening last night from 7:30 to 10 o'clock and it was quite a success in every way, being largely attended and the visitors being pleasantly entertained.

The Union Textile Band from the second floor of the mammoth building sent sweet strains of music through the whole place and out into the adjoining street. Polite attendants showed the visitors through the several departments of the store and pointed out to them the various articles of interest.

To every lady visitor a thimble, packed neatly in a case, was given as a souvenir. Representatives of the store expressed themselves as pleased with the degree to which the public accepted the invitations to the opening.

Country Schools Open.

The country schools are opening up for the fall term and by the middle of the month practically every school in the county will be in session. The following schools opened yesterday and a number had already begun the fall work:

IN HONOR OF MR. KLEEMEIER

He Is the Guest of Honor At Dutch Supper and Also At Stag Supper.

Saturday night the fellow roomers of Mr. John A. Kleemeier at Mrs. L. B. Jeter's, Library Place and West Gaston street, gave him a Dutch supper in honor of his approaching marriage. Mr. Ernest Copeland acted as toastmaster, filling the role most acceptably. The supper lasted from 9 till 12 o'clock and Mr. Kleemeier had abundant evidence of the high esteem in which he is held by the household of his popular rooming place. He voiced his appreciation of their regard and fellowship in a neat speech which he made in response to the toast to the groom-to-be.

Last night, also at Mrs. Jeter's, a stag supper was given in Mr. Kleemeier's honor. Among those present were Messrs. Ernest Copeland, Ransom Middleton, W. A. McKnight, A. S. Rankin, C. G. Harrison, Arthur Coffin, W. F. Blair and Mr. Archbell.
