DR. WASHINGTON GIVES NEGROES SOUND ADVICE

Heard by Large Audience Sunday Evening.

Large Number of White People of City Out To Hear Noted Leader of the Colored Race—Urged His People To Put Skill Into Whatever Work They Were Engaged In and To Make Themselves Worthy of Their Hire—His Doctrine Is Work, Honesty, Integrity and Religion—Heartily Welcomed to City.

Dr. Booker T. Washington, the noted orator and leader of the colored race, and president of Tuskegee Institute, was greeted at the Auditorium on Sunday evening by an audience of more than 2500 people. There were hundreds of white people present, and they were among the leading men and women of Greensboro, too, besides many visitors. The meeting was presided over by George H. Mitchell, president of the Colored Business Men's League and other prominent leaders of the negro race. Hon. E. J. Justice introduced the speaker in a speech that was listened to with intense interest. He spoke of Dr. Washington's work in the South and what it was his aim to accomplish. And when Dr. Washington arose he said that if he should speak all night he could do nothing more than enlarge upon what Mr. Justice had already said.

Booker T. Washington is great in that he has adopted the only true and safe method of leading his people. His doctrine is work, honesty, integrity, cleanliness, and religion. He spoke for more than an hour, and there was wisdom and practical common sense in every word he uttered.

He said his reason for coming to Greensboro was to learn the conditions of his people and how best to serve them and to cement the relationship between the black man and the white man. He said that his people were laboring under disadvantages, largely for the reason that the outside world was too ready to judge the race not by the good deeds done among them, but by the wickedness of the lawless class; that the good was not heralded, but that when one of them committed crime, it was too often used to bring reproach upon the negro as a race. He said that he found people in Europe who had an idea that white people in the South lynched negroes for castles, but that in fact, the negro was as well or better treated in the South than anywhere, and declared that he would not live anywhere else. Indeed, should the negro go elsewhere, he would not stay; and even if he desired to live elsewhere, the white people would not let him.

He urged his people to work, and to put skill into what they did; that the day of shiftless methods was past, and that whether one of them was employed to work, to farm, to run a barber shop, to drive a dray, he must dignify his work, and strive to do it with the very best ability of which he was capable. He called upon them to save their earnings by starting a bank account right away; that the man who had saved up enough to buy him a home and who had a wife with whom he could consult regarding finances, home duties, and the right training of their children was the man to be relied upon; that the fellow who worked a few days and then loafed a few days while spending his earnings was the man that was complained of as unreliable and who helped to bring reproach upon his race. He urged them to draw the line and get rid of the shiftless rascal who loafs and idles, and called upon the white people to help them get him to work or get him out of the community. He said that he believed in religion and in heaven, but that he was more interested in getting a little heaven into the lives of the people now than in getting them into heaven hereafter, and would rather they would put a bath-tub into the house than to shout all night and sing "I'm a-come in the blood."

One very interesting feature of the meeting was the music. It is everywhere known that the negro can sing, and when Major Moton, a Richmond man, and a negro of the good-natured type, started at his audience to sing some of the old-time negro melodies, it was enough in that one act to draw a man for having come many miles.

Dr. Washington and party, composed of several notable men of his race, arrived in the city Sunday at six o'clock from Winston. They were met at the train and given a most cordial welcome to the city by a large number of the most prominent and influential colored people of the city. Every courtesy was shown the noted negro and his party and no effort was spared to make their stay in the city as pleasant as possible. The party spent yesterday morning in Reidsville, returning to Greensboro at noon. After luncheon at one of the colored hotels the party was taken over the city by the entertainment committee, the colored institutions being visited before the train for the East arrived. Dr. Washington and party left at 3:20 o'clock for Durham, where he spoke last night, a large number of colored people accompanying the party to the train. Here Dr. Washington shook hands with each negro present and bid all a cordial farewell, expressing his pleasure at being here and thanking the committee for the hearty and sincere manner in which he had been received.

FIRE SUNDAY MORNING.

Slight Blaze At the Moravian Church—Prompt Work by Firemen.

The Moravian church on Lee street was slightly damaged by fire Sunday morning shortly after the heating plant was started up for the day. Three fire companies responded to box No. 53, and found a blaze on the front part of the roof near the furnace chimney. Though not of much consequence it was in a fair way to spread rapidly. The greatest damage came from water thrown on the fire. It is not known whether the fire originated from a defect in the flue or a falling spark. An inspector had gone over the entire heating arrangement the evening before and passed upon its first class condition for use during the winter. The congregation met with the friends for the morning service, the Moravian minister, Rev. Mr. White, preaching the sermon. The damages to the church will be repaired in time for use of the church next Sunday.

CENTENARY PHILATHEAS.

After Business Meeting Last Night the Young Ladies Celebrated Halloween. Prepared For The Telegram.

The most enjoyable and unique meeting of the Philathea class of Centenary church was held last night at the home of Mrs. C. C. Townsend, Arlington street. The business meeting was of short duration and the social committee then took charge.

Miss Sallie Embrey, chairman of the social committee, and her most efficient assistants had planned a most appropriate and elaborate program, the occasion being that of All Hallowe'en night, when ghosts and spooks and goblins, held their revels. The house had been most suitably decorated, with ferns and cut flowers, and jack-o-lanterns galore. Mrs. Townsend in her usual hospitable manner had given over her home, for the time being, to this most excellent band of young ladies and they in turn showed their appreciation of her goodness by enjoying the occasion immensely. The front hall was dimly lighted with candles and Jack-O-Lanterns and there, the receiving line, consisting of two spooks, welcomed each guest with cold, clammy hands and doleful remarks. Much merriment was created by fortune telling in various ways. In following the mysterious threads of fortune many of the young ladies were led into the yard and back again through dark piazzas, only to find the ever present black cat. Coffee and cream was served by miniature ghosts with the solemn injunction to "drink and be wise."

Afterwards we were invited into the dining room, where a most delicious salad course was served. Each one having been served, all assembled in the hall where thrilling and blood curdling ghost stories were told by the whiterobed spooks.

At a late hour the crowd dispersed voting this the very best meeting of all.

TRYING TO BREAK WILL.

Protest Against Manner in Which Jas. Kirkpatrick Disposed of Estate.

When Guilford Superior Court convened yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the first case taken up was No. 2256, entitled "In the matter of the will of Jas. Kirkpatrick, deceased." The case consumed the entire afternoon and when court convenes this morning Judge Lyon will charge the jury.

The caveators are Mr. T. W. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. D. W. Miller, of New York, and their action is taken on the grounds that the deceased was not in his right mind when the instrument was made. The propounders, Mrs. T. A. Armstrong and Mr. J. J. Power, of this city, hold this is not the case.

The deceased came to Greensboro in October, 1907, according to the evidence, and while here lived with his niece, Mrs. Armstrong. Just a month after his arrival he died, having made a will several days previous leaving his entire estate, valued at from $10,000 to $15,000, to his niece, Mrs. Armstrong, and nephew Mr. Power. The estate is in Patterson, N. J. The caveators bear the same relation to the deceased as the propounders. The case was hard fought, the attorneys contesting every point in the case. Mr. T. C. Hoyle represents the caveators, while Col. J. A. Barringer represents the propounders.

In Municipal Court.

There were only two cases on the docket when Judge Eure convened Municipal court yesterday morning. Joe Holt was sent to the workhouse for thirty days on the charge of vagrancy and in addition taxed with the costs in the case. Wilson Belton was charged with an assault, but he failed to appear. Judgment nisi sci fa and alias warrant was entered upon the record.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Interesting Meeting Held At Grace M. P. Church Last Evening—Enjoyable Social.

The City Union of Christian Endeavor met with the society of Grace M. P. church last evening and an inspiring service was held. Every society in the city was represented and representatives from each society took part in the service, which was led by Dr. W. K. Hartzell, president of the Union. A talk by Rev. T. J. Ogburn was most enjoyable. After the lesson, which was along missionary lines, had been discussed reports were received from each society, these being quite encouraging as they showed that Christian Endeavor is gaining ground in the city.

The closing feature was the social hour. This was appropriate to Halloween and all present spent a most delightful hour. The room had been decorated in flowers and autumn leaves, while the illumination was effected with candles behind hideous pumpkin faces. Numerous ghost-like figures flitting to and fro added to the weirdness of the scene and the pleasure of the occasion.

HENRI DUNANT DEAD.

Noted Founder of Red Cross Society Passes Away.

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 31.—Henri Dunant, founder of the International Red Cross Society, died last night at Neiden, a health resort.

Henri Dunant was of Swiss birth and lived in Geneva. At the battle of Solferino June 24, 1859, he witnessed the needless suffering and loss of life resulting from days of neglect to care for the wounded. Realizing that such conditions need not exist he conceived the idea of pledging the nations of the earth to guard and protect as neutral all sick and wounded combatants and all persons giving them succor. He elaborated his idea and through the co-operation of the Swiss federal council brought about an international conference at Geneva in October, 1863. Sixteen governments were represented.

A uniform flag made of a red cross on a white ground was adopted as a compliment to the Swiss confederation, whose national flag is the reverse.

Monthly Report of Hospital.

The monthly report of St. Leo's hospital shows that during the month of October eighty-two patients were received, sixty-four being discharged. Nineteen of the number were charity patients. There were two deaths and two births. Forty six patients are now in the hospital, all of them doing nicely.

Fire Sunday Evening.

An alarm from box 52 Sunday evening at 6 o'clock called the firemen to the residence of Mr. Troxler, West Lee street. The blaze was extinguished before the firemen arrived, the damage being slight.

Only Sixty-Seven Cases.

During the month of October there were sixty-seven cases tried in Municipal court and nearly all were for trifling offenses. There were only a few drunks.

The reception committee of the Stedman Democratic Club are requested to meet Governor Glenn at the Hotel Hufine on Tuesday at seven thirty o'clock and escort him to the court house.

FINE VIEWS OF MISSION FIELDS

Accompanied by an Entertaining Lecture.

China Portrayed by Word and Stereoscopic Slide At West Market Last Night

—Mr. Cameron Johnson Tells of Great Work Being Done in That Country—Will Lecture On Japan Tonight—Here Under Auspices of Laymen's Movement.

Last night in the main auditorium of West Market Street Methodist church Mr. Cameron Johnson gave his celebrated illustrated lecture in China. A good sized and thoroughly appreciative audience was present and the lecture was declared by many to have been the best of the kind they had ever heard, the views being especially fine. Mr. Johnson, who comes here under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement for the purpose of giving to the people facts regarding the foreign mission lands, has spent many years in the heathen lands and many of the slides are from negatives made by himself. Therefore his lecture is all the more realistic and entertaining, besides being highly educational.

Fully two hundred slides, showing different scenes in China, the missionaries and their helpers, were thrown upon the canvas, Mr. Johnson having an interesting sentence regarding each. He spoke of the work being done and the work there is to be done, each thought being impressed deeper by the illustration accompanying it. An interesting slide was one showing that the population of China is 426,000,000. Laboring among these are only 4,175 missionaries with 1,200 native helpers. There are 4,967 stations and 685,000 Christians in the country. Truly, he said, the harvest is great, but the laborers are few.

Another slide that carried food for thought was one showing a number of missionaries who have spent more than half a century in the foreign fields, some of them having lived in China for 59 years.

Tonight Mr. Johnson will lecture on Japan and he stated that the pictures would be even better than those last night, if such could be possible.

As stated above Mr. Johnson is here under the auspices of the Laymen's Movement and people of all denominations are cordially invited to hear him. There is no admission fee, but a silver offering will be taken and everybody will be invited to participate in this. It was at first intended to have the lectures in the new annex, but as the heating plant has not been completed and as it was too cold to do without heat, the meeting place was changed to the main auditorium so all could be made comfortable. Wednesday night Mr. Johnson will lecture on Korea and on Thursday night he will speak on India.

Sunday morning Mr. Johnson spoke to the Sunday school of Westminster Presbyterian church and on Sunday night he spoke before the congregation of Grace M. P. church. Both talks were greatly enjoyed.

To The Public:

After hearing the lecture of Mr. Cameron Johnson and seeing the beautiful pictures taken by him while in China, we feel it our duty to express our appreciation of the wonderful work he is doing and call attention to the fact that this is the finest illustrated lecture ever given in Greensboro. Hearing Mr. Johnson and seeing these stereoscopic views is the next thing to visiting the Orient.

Tonight Mr. Johnson will lecture on Japan and those interested in the customs of that beautiful eastern country, should by all means avail themselves of this rare opportunity.

Wednesday and Thursday nights will be devoted to Korea and India. These lectures will be in West Market Street Methodist church and not in the annex as was first thought.

There will be no admission fee, but an offering will be taken to defray the expenses.
