

DIPLOMAS AWARDED TO TWENTY-NINE BOYS AND GIRLS

Graduating Exercises of Class of 1911 of Greensboro High School Held Last Night—Address by Prof. Chase—Scholarships Awarded.

The graduating exercises of the class of 1911 of the Greensboro High School were held last evening in the opera house, a large number of patrons of the school and friends being present to witness the exercises.

After a song by the chorus, "The Dance of the Fairies," Dr. J. L. Mann introduced the speaker of the occasion, H. W. Chase, professor of pedagogy of the State University.

He spoke of the fact that many people often pointed to the old time schools and the success of those who attended them, asking why couldn't the present generation be taught by the same methods.

The old methods if in use now would be an utter failure, he said, because of the fact that social conditions had changed and the system of education must be changed to meet the changed social conditions.

Those who receive the best instruction possible under the methods in vogue owe it to their town to put forth their best efforts to serve the interests of their town.

After a semi-chorus, "Old Kentucky Home," by a chorus of some two dozen boys and girls Superintendent Mann arose and presented the prizes and diplomas.

The scholarship to the University of North Carolina was won by Curtis Holland, who made an average of 94 in his studies during the session.

The scholarship to Washington & Lee was won by Hymen Mendelsohn, who averaged 90 1-2 during the session.

Dr. Mann stated that he felt that it was his duty to state that Miss Agnes Ellinwood averaged 94. The girl making the next highest average was Miss Sarah Monroe, who averaged 91 1-2.

Dr. Mann also announced the following prize winners: For the best sketch on North Carolina Revolutionary History, $10 in gold offered by Guilford Battle Chapter D. A. R., won by Miss Mary Moore; Essay prize, won by Miss Sarah Monroe; Best short story in High School Annual, won by Sidney Gales; Best drawing in High School Annual, won by Miss Hilda Ogburn; Best poem in High School Annual, won by Miss Eleanor Moore; debaters prize, won by Charles Moseley.

The exercises closed with the singing of "Soldiers Chorus." The twenty-nine graduates receiving diplomas were: Lewis Carroll Atkinson, Edgar Ray Bond, William Edwin Coffin, Lizzie Par-
