Alleged Slayers of Baby Keet Placed on Trial

(By United Press)
MARSHFIELD, Mo.—Dick Carter, Claude Piersol and Cletus Adams were placed on trial here today charged with the kidnapping and murder of fourteen months old Lloyd Keet, son of J. H. Holland Keet, whose body was found in an abandoned well on June 9, ten days after the child had been stolen from the home of his parents at Springfield.
Mrs. Taylor Adams, her husband, her son Maxie and Sam Maginnis, who the authorities charge are implicated in a plot to abduct Clement A. Clement, wealthy jeweler of Springfield at the same time the Keets baby was stolen will also be placed on trial.
Special deputies have been sworn in to assist the court officials in preventing anticipated disturbances during the trial.
The Keet baby was stolen from its home in Springfield on the night of May 30, while the parents were attending a dance. A maid, a servant and a four year old boy were in the house when the abductors gained entrance through an open window in the nursery. The child was not missed until shortly after midnight when the parents returned from the dance.
The following day Keet received an anonymous note instructing him to bring $6,000 to a secluded spot near Springfield that night and promising the return of the child.
Concealing his plans from the police Keet did as directed but the abductors failed to appear.
A second note was received on June 1. Keet's friends had been too solicitous in following him on the night of May 31, the note explained, adding that if he would bring several thousand dollars additional as a penalty for the abduction of his friends the baby would be returned the following night, but the abductors again failed to appear.
A few days later all of the accused with the exception of Dick Carter were arrested. On June 9 the body of the child was found in an abandoned well on a farm eight miles southwest of Springfield. Fearing for the safety of his prisoners Sheriff Webb arrested them out of town before announcing that the child's body had been found.
On learning the prisoners were taken from the town a posse gave chase overtaking the officials and the accused

Coal Miners Are Back at Job Today

(By United Press)
KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—17,000 coal miners, after waging an eight weeks' strike, swarmed back to some 150 Tennessee and Kentucky mines this morning.
Shortly before midnight near Stockton, the posse demanded the prisoners. After exacting a promise from the posse that the lives of the suspects would be spared Sheriff Webb surrendered them.
Piersol was questioned by members of the posse but refused to make a statement. A rope was tied about his neck and even though his body was repeatedly swung from the ground he refused to talk. All of the accused were then returned to the officials. At the preliminary trial in August, Carter, Piersol and Cletus Adams were denied bail after Dr. Harvey Fullright testified the baby had died either from drugs or suffocation before being thrown in the well. The cases ordinarily would have been tried before Judge Johnson, but because of his activity in the search for the child, he was disqualified.

Lecture Was Well-Attended Sunday

To a good sized audience Evangelist S. R. Haynes delivered the first of a series of seven lectures on Prophecy, relative to the events of the day, at the Court House last night. The lecture was illustrated by a number of pictures thrown on the screen, bringing home to the audience the terrible destruction of life and property now going on in Europe.
Mr. Haynes' subject was "Is This War Armageddon?" He spoke of the impression that was widely felt by the people in this country before the war, that the nations of the world were learning to bring all their differences to a national court and obtain settlement of them by arbitration. But instead of this the world was shocked by the declaration of war which followed one another in rapid succession in the summer of 1914, thus revealing the true spirit in the world. He went on to show that it was a fulfillment of the prophecies which speak of the last great clash of arms before the breaking down of present conditions.
Mr. Haynes gave a vivid reading of the eleventh chapter of Daniel. "Cain't that a t h i s prophesy plainly reveals the final movements of the Turkish Empire, he stated that the driving of the Turk from Europe was a signal of the second coming of Christ. That Turkey is slowly being forced out of Europe by the nations is plainly evident by the articles that have been published, written by many of the statesmen of Europe. The determination of the nations is to rid the world of the unrepentant Turk.
When Turkey is finally driven from her European possessions and set up her seat of government in Jerusalem, according to the last few verses of Daniel eleven, leads the nations of the earth into the great battle of Armageddon spoken of in Revelation 16: 12-16. "This is the place," Mr. Haynes said, "where the speakers and writers of the day get that word. But that its significance is greatly misunderstood is easily seen by the articles that come from these writers. This present struggle is not Armageddon according to the Scripture, but the great final struggle will take place under the sixth plague, and it will be fought by all the armies of the earth gathered together in the valley of Jezreel, north of Jerusalem, to break down the last vestige of power of the Ottoman Empire and to resist the coming of Christ if possible. This marks the final struggle of the human race before Christ takes his people to Himself."
The next lecture by Mr. Haynes will be given Tuesday night. The subject is "Have we Entered the Millennium?" The public is cordially invited to be present.

Rowland's System New Departure in Baseball

(By H. C. HAMILTON)
(By United Press)
NEW YORK.—When Clarence Rowland headed the White Sox into a world's series they were only a few persons who gave him credit for doing it mainly through the introduction of brand new tactics in baseball.
Most critics had his success to the amount of work he got from Eddie Collins, the return to hitting from late in the campaign by Joe Jackson, and the great year turned in by Eddie Cioffe.
But topping the won and lost average of Eddie Cioffe, nearly all season long was the average of Claude Williams, young southpaw. He was credited with a huge number of victories, a fact which has made many persons look upon him as one star of the world's series.
Rowland's success has not in the way he has trained Williams to knowledge of pitching art he has shown with ball games, but to the uncanny in hitting Williams from game after game and seeming in relief burners.
All season long the box scores show that the White Sox won many, many of their games with two and even three pitchers working for them. It has been a subject for jokers to point to the two half pitchers Rowland has in Danforth and Williams. Each half is good, but alone counts for but little.
It has come to be a habit with Rowland to start Williams in a game, let him go until he shows that first sign of wildness or tiring, and then yell for Dave Danforth, who goes in and usually finishes up a good ball game, as often as not on the right side of the average column. This kind of strategy has given Williams a large number of wins, for, if his team is losing when he leaves the pitching box, he gets the credit for the victory if one results. Likewise, he is not charged with defeat if that is the way it turns out.
Williams and Danforth have worked this practically all season, and many times have been called on to help Rob Russell, Jim Scott, or Joe Benz out of the same kind of a hole. The half-pitcher method of winning has crowned Clarence Rowland with a new kind of ingenuity crown.

White Sox Defeat Giants in 2nd Game

(Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7.—The Chicago Americans are half to victory on the world's series clash with the New York Nationals. Today the White Sox defeated the Giants 7 to 2 in the second game of the three game struggle. The teams are speeding eastward tonight for New York, where, on Tuesday the series will be resumed, and if the local team continues to play the type of game it has displayed here, supporters of the Comiskey club are convinced that the Sox should at least break even with the Giants in the two outcasts at the Polo Grounds.
The White Sox rolled over the Giants today like a baseball juggernaut, leaving disaster and dismay in their wake. The victory was far more impressive than that of yesterday, when the Sox should at least break even with the Giants in the two outcasts at the Polo Grounds.
The National League champions were obliged to use in fewer than four pitchers this afternoon, and at the close of the second day of play, the White Sox had sampled, with satisfactory results from their standpoint the service of five of the best hurlers who form the swirling corps of the Giants. Only Beaton and Demaree remain unscorched, but it will be no problem for Manager McGraw to select a pitcher who can hold Chicago on the home diamond.
Both at bat and in the field the White Sox maintained the impressive advantage which they showed in the opening game. The offensive and defensive methods and play of the American League standard-bearers was far superior to the shown by the New York national sport did the Giants appear to have the edge on their western rivals. Some idea of this superiority is gained from a comparison of the figures of the two games to date.
The White Sox have scored nine runs to three for the Giants; twenty-one hits to fourteen which have netted the local club 26 bases to 17 for the Giants while in stolen bases, the Sox lead four to one. Individual batting honors also do the New Yorkers have the edge for Holke and McCarthy have reached the 500 mark in batting, while only two White Sox wielders have reached or surpassed this standard. John Collins leads all the batters with a percentage of .600 and Joe Jackson, the South Carolina phenom is second, 100 points only behind his pace-making team mate.

The German minister has already been handed his passports following an overwhelming vote of both houses of Congress favoring the rupture.
With Peru and Uruguay at diplomatic outs with Germany, eleven Central and South American countries have joined the world combine against the Central Powers.
