ROOSEVELT WAS ADMIRER OF FORMER KAISER, WAS GOOD MAN

(By Associated Press.) New York.—Colonel Roosevelt is shown in the role of a diplomatic letter writer to European royalties, bending even former Emperor William of Germany to his will, in freshly disclosed correspondence edited by Joseph Backlin Bishop, the late President's biographer, which will appear in the April issue of Scribner's Magazine. The correspondence includes letters to and replies from King Edward, Emperor Nicholas of Russia, the Emperor of Japan, Albert, King of the Belgians and Queen Elizabeth of Rumania, in addition to the lengthy epistles that passed between the Colonel and the head of the Hohenzollerns. Writing on August 14, 1906 to Henry White, who was then American ambassador at Rome, Colonel Roosevelt said: "My course with him (Emperor William) during the last five years has been uniform I admire him, respect him and like him. I think him a big man, and on the whole a good man; but I think his international and indeed his personal attitude one of intense egoism. I have always been most polite with him, have done my best to avoid our taking any attitude which could possibly give him legitimate offense, and have endeavored to show him that I was sincerely friendly to him and to Germany. Moreover,

POLLY FULFORD WAS WINNER IN THE CONTEST

At the Model school on Friday one to three minute talks were made in each grade on the Anti-Spitting law of Greenville, and one child chosen to represent the grade. The following children were chosen.

where, I have forced him to give way I have been sedulously anxious to build a bridge of gold for him, and to give him the satisfaction of feeling that his dignity and reputation in the face of the world were safe. "In other words, where I have had to take part of the kernel from him, I have been anxious that he should have all the shell possible, and have that shell painted any way he wished. At the same time I have had to speak with express emphasis to him on more than one occasion; and on one occasion (that of Venezuela) have had to make a display of force and to convince him definitely that I would use the force if necessary." Mr. Bishop declares that in spite of the Venezuela incident of December 1920, which must have been "a humiliating check," the former Emperor cherished no resentment and subsequently wrote Roosevelt the most friendly letters. He also sent the Colonel a number of photographs showing himself and Roosevelt astride magnificent horses at a manoeuvre of the German army. On the autographed pictures he had written: "The Colonel of the Rough Riders lecturing the Chief of the German Army." "Total agreement about the general maxims of life and policy between America and Germany." "On the Muhlberg;

At twelve-ten the school assembled to hear these representative talks. The judges were Misses Claudia Lewis, Mitee Beanman and Ilda Taylor who decided that Polly Fulford was the winner with Harry Perkins a close second.

The speeches were all wonderfully good considering the children had had only three days in which to inform themselves as to the law and to prepare their talks.

Polly Fulford will give her talk at White's Theatre between the two shows on Tuesday night.

A grave discussion; Carnegie look out!" and "The Chief of the German Army thanking the Colonel of the Rough Riders for the honor of inspecting his troops." Mr. Carnegie, by the way, once had credited a rumor that Germany was building a strong fleet to attack the United States.

A letter the Colonel wrote to Edward VII of England on April 23, 1906, contains a reference to the Algeiras Conference of that year, an international parley which at the time was said to have averted a general European war. The biographer states that "the secret history of this conference, which stands revealed in Roosevelt's correspondence and which is far too long for publication in the magazine, shows conclusively that it was arranged by Roosevelt at the insistent request of the Kaiser that Roosevelt drew up the terms of settlement which were adopted, and that he fairly compelled the Kaiser to give his unwilling consent to them."

Roosevelt's impatience with the ceremonies and etiquette of courts found vigorous expression. Mr. Bishop says, when he exclaimed, after describing his experience with potestates of various kingdoms at the funeral of King Edward, at which he represented the United States; "I felt if I met another king I should bite him." Amused and irritated by the fussy anxiety displayed by the ruler of a petty kingdom about his prerogatives and the precedence to which he was entitled, Roosevelt at another time said, drawing upon his bird lore for a simile: "He is nothing but a twittering wag tail."

Writing again to King Edward of England, for whom he professed a high regard, he said in 1908: "I feel very strongly that the real interests of the English-speaking peoples are one, alike in the Atlantic and the Pacific; and that, while scrupulously careful neither to insult nor to injure others we should yet make it evident that we are ready and able to hold our own."
