

KING CLOTHIER WILL ADD A NEW DEPT. TO STORE

Frank Wilson Making Preparations to Open an Exclusive Boys' Department to be Located on Second Floor.

Frank Wilson, "The King Clothier," is to add an exclusive boys' department to his general furnishings store at the corner of Evans and Fourth streets. This department will be located on the second floor of his store building and access will be by an electric elevator. This second floor has been occupied for some time by E. A. Parker, photographer, who this week moved to the second floor of the Farmers' Bank building on Dickinson avenue.

A NEWS man in talking to Mr. Wilson this morning learned that it was his intention to devote the entire upper floor of his building to this boys' department. "I shall carry everything essential for the boy," said Mr. Wilson. "I believe fully that GREENVILLE has long needed an enterprise of this character and I shall make the attempt to furnish it."

"You know," said Mr. Wilson, "we are sadly neglecting our boys and we don't pay to them the consideration which is their due. I am going to keep in this boys' department everything he needs from knee pants up."

Efforts To Restore Beaver in Meadow White Mountains

CONCORD, N. H.—An effort to re-establish the beaver on the streams and meadows of the White Mountains country, from which it long since disappeared, is being made by the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests.

The Lost River Reservation is again the haunt of the dam-building animals, four beavers have been liberated there as the first step in an effort to return the amphibian architect to its former usefulness. Within the steep walls of the Kinsman Notch, through which tumbles Beaver Brook, a misnomer in recent years, the beaver will have its favorite topography in which to propagate and work under the foothills of Moosilauke Mountain. The animals get free were the gift of the State Forester of Minnesota, who selected them from a breeding colony at a state park, situated on the headwaters of the Mississippi. The beaver are descendants of a family introduced to Minnesota from Canada, which have multiplied and prospered there, and are now contributing to re-establishment of the species in another state.

Argentine People Refuse to Wear the Coarser Clothing

BUENOS AIRES.—The cessation of the demand for coarse grades of wool for army uniforms and the refusal of average people, in spite of the high cost of living, to buy cloth, has made of the coarse grades, has left Argentina with more than 200,000,000 pounds of almost unsaleable wool on its hands, according to a local manufacturer of woolen cloth, interviewed by La Nacion.

This huge quantity will be increased during the shearing season in July and August. As the production of wool in this country is growing year by year, the problem of selling the coarser grades is considered very serious. One reason for the situation is that formerly Argentine sheep breeders had thought more of the meat than the wool, with the result that their stock became mixed and the consequent wool coarse and not uniform.

RESOLUTE LEADING CHALLENGER SECOND RACE FOR AMERICA'S CUP

Crossed The Starting Line Nine Seconds Ahead And At 2:30 P. M. Was a Quarter of a Mile To The Good.—Yachts Found Only Cupful Of Wind And Smooth Sea For Their Second Encounter

(By Associated Press.)
SANDY HOOK (3 P. M.)—The Resolute crossed the starting line ahead of the Shamrock today in the second race for the America's cup, the first race of which was run Thursday.

The starting signal was sounded at 1:45 and the American yacht crossed the line nine seconds ahead of the challenger.

At 2:30 this afternoon the Resolute was leading the Shamrock by a quarter of a mile and had the race well in hand.

SANDY HOOK.—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, Shamrock IV, and the Resolute, the American defender, today found nothing more than a cupful of wind and a flat sea in which to engage in the second race for the America's cup when they were towed to the starting point just before the hour of noon.

Both yachts wallowed in the ground swell and their sails flapped listlessly in the dead air.

The regatta committee signalled a postponement of the race until later in the day at fifteen-minute intervals. No signs of wind were observed, and if the sloops started the experts declared no finish could be made within the six-hour time limit.

SANDY HOOK.—A light breeze was blowing as the challenger, Shamrock IV, and the American defender, Resolute, left their moorings for the starting line in the second America's cup race, which is a triangular race of thirty miles.

A huge fleet of craft followed the racers, as they did on the first meet of the yachts, in which the Resolute was disabled and had to retire from the contest. The Shamrock finished alone and was declared the winner.

NOT AS BAD AS HIS ASSASSIN THOUGHT HE WAS

This is Opinion Expressed by Newspapermen As To Late Essad Pasha, Murdered Recently in Paris.

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS.—Many newspaper correspondents in Paris who have had occasion to meet the late Essad Pasha, formerly provisional president of Albania, who was murdered here recently, are inclined to think that he was not such a bad sort as Rustem Aveni, his youthful assassin, seems to think. A French newspaper correspondent who knew him in Saloniki says that he was a wonderful poker player.

On one occasion the Albanian dictator had lost all the available cash he happened to have with him, but continued playing "on honor," and won quite a nice pot, but he refused to rake in the money, saying: "Keep your money, old man; when I play on paper, I simply play for the sport of it, and it does not count. We are suits."

AYDEN VISITED BY A BIG BLAZE DURING NIGHT

Two-Story Brick Building Owned by J. R. Smith & Brother Entirely Consumed Early Today.

LOSS ESTIMATED $125,000 WITH SOME INSURANCE

Burned Building Occupied by P. R. Taylor & Co., and A. L. Jackson. — Other Business Houses Damaged.

A $125,000 fire visited the town of Ayden between two and three o'clock this morning, destroying a two-story brick building, 54 x 90 feet belonging to J. R. Smith & Brother.

The two stores were occupied by A. L. Jackson, general merchandise, and P. R. Taylor & Co., dry goods, notions, etc. Both the building and stocks were entirely consumed. The building cost approximately $25,000, with insurance of $12,000. A. L. Jackson's stock is estimated to inventory $50,000 with $25,000 insurance. P. R. Taylor's stock is estimated to have been worth $50,000 with insurance of $35,000.

The blaze was first discovered by nightwatchman W. L. House, and was seen near the electric light switch at the front door. Before the fire department could reach the scene the fire had made such headway it was beyond control.

Due to the hard and heroic work on the part of the fire department and the citizens, the fire was confined to the building. The building next to the burned structure, owned by Zeno Lyons, and occupied by J. L. McLawhorn, was damaged. The roof of this building was knocked in by one of the walls of the Smith building falling. Mr. McLawhorn's stock suffered on account of water. The Ayden Bakery sustained loss due to moving stock.

The plate glass windows of the J. B. Pierce & Co., store and the Pitt Hardware Co., across the street, were melted by the intense heat.

While the origin of the blaze is not known the surmise is that it was caused by a defective electric wire. This entire block was wiped out by fire in 1906. The burned building will be rebuilt at once.

WHAT GOOD IS A DOLLAR?

It's largely up to you. It depends on how you spend it — on the value to you of what you get for it — on your ability to find where that value is to be had.

Of course, it's all right to shop around a bit if you like, but why not let the other fellow make it easier for you by doing a little shopping after your dollar — by showing you what you want and where you can get most of it for your money?

It's a great idea, once you get the hang of it, and here's how!

Right in this paper you'll find dozens of advertisements offering you merchandise. Some things you'll need today; some tomorrow; some next week or next year—but the point is that these merchants are coming to you, looking for your dollar and offering the best they have to get it.

You'll find that by reading the advertisements consistently today and every day; you can increase the value to yourself of every dollar you have to spend. The things you see advertised are almost invariably as represented. The advertisers' statements are usually safer to trust than your own judgment. Advertised misrepresentation is business suicide.

NO CHANCE FOR AN AMENDMENT TO REVALUATION ACT, SAYS MAXWELL

Member of State Tax Commission Intimates Nothing Will Be Done by Special Session General Assembly Next Month.—Fifty-Six Boys To Attend the Summer School At Hampton Roads, Virginia

(By Max Abernethy.)

RALEIGH.—There is no chance of an amendment to the revaluation act being forced through the special session of the general assembly which would permit the raising of the tax rate as already scheduled as a means of providing additional revenue for towns and cities, in the opinion of A. J. Maxwell of the state tax commission.

Recently there has been some agitation in the state for such an amendment so that the municipalities could replenish their treasuries, which have been too insignificant to meet the heavy drains made upon them because of the increase in salaries, maintenance of water, electric and sewer systems and current expenses, this condition having arisen along with the upward trend in cost of other things. The municipal league or mayors and commissioners of public safety, considered the advisability of asking that an amendment to the revaluation act be enacted at the special session, the city fathers generally having considered it not only desirable but absolutely necessary in order to keep the city governments off of the financial rocks.

Members of the tax commission realize the problem that is confronting the city government, but point out that virtually every municipality in North Carolina has for the past twenty years been unable to show anything but a deficit at the end of each twelve month period. They, of course, dislike such a condition to exist, but think that after having become accustomed to it, one more year will make very little if any difference.

That this position is taken by the tax commission is due to the fact that the revenue act specifically provides that the tax rate shall not be in excess of ten per cent over the rate prevailing last year. It is apparent that this increase will not be sufficient to finance the cities properly, but the members of the general assembly are going to stand by the people in seeing that the original program is

INCREASE TWO HUNDRED FEET IN AIR GARAGE TO MAKE SURVEY OF PENINSULA OF KAMCHAMA

Navy Department Orders 200 More Feet To Length of the Mammoth Hangar for Dirigible Balloons.

(By Associated Press.)

LAKEHURST, N. J.—The navy department has ordered an increase of 200 feet in the length of the mammoth "air garage" for dirigible balloons which is being built here, it was announced today.

This hangar will be the largest in the world, big enough to hold two trans-Atlantic liners the size of the Leviathan. Plans for it originally were drafted when the navy department contracted for the R-3, a dirigible one-third larger than the R-34, which flew to the United States from England last year.

According to revised specifications, the hangar will be 1,000 feet long, 318 feet wide and 200 feet high. When completed, which probably will be next spring, the big "air garage" and its auxiliary power house, machine shops and officers' quarters will cost about $3,577,000, it was stated.

The hangar will have electrically operated double doors, 177 by 136 feet each, which, when opened wide, will, with the width of the structure, constitute a wind-break of nearly 600 feet.

Satisfactory progress has been realized to date in the hangar's construction, it was stated. The site has been cleared of pine and scrub oak stumps by two marine corps tractors, designed for hauling 7-inch guns through Flinders mud, but now operated as stump pullers. The foundation and bases for the steel arches of the roof have been laid and several arches mounted.

About 400 enlisted men and civilians are employed on the work, which is being performed under the civil engineers corps of the navy.

J. S. WILLARD IS POSSESSOR OF SWISS WATCH

Won For Excellent Work Last Year in Insurance Business. —Two Local Young Ladies Get Trip Niagara Falls.

J. S. Willard is the proud possessor of a handsome Swiss gold watch as a reward for his excellent work in the insurance business the past year.

Last year McAllister, Vaughan and Scales, of Greensboro, N. C., offered free trips and prizes to Niagara Falls and Canada to those employed in insurance offices that brought in the most business. The winning of two memberships not only entitled the winners to take the trip, but in addition a gold watch was offered.

Two of Greenville's young ladies, employed in the H. A. White insurance office, Misses Olivera Cox and Elizabeth Quinerly, won the membership trips while Mr. Willard, the bookkeeper in the same office, won the watch.

The Misses Cox and Quinerly have just returned from their trip to Niagara Falls and Canada and also attended the fire insurance convention to which 125 winners of the trips attended as the guests of Messrs. McAllister, Vaughan and Scales. They report a great trip.

Mr. Willard's watch is indeed a most handsome one. It is beautifully engraved with the monogram, "J. S. W." If you want to take a peep at the watch all you have to do is to ask Mr. Willard what time it is, and he'll do the rest.

Start a Campaign To Eradicate The Cockney Dialect

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON.—London school teachers have begun a campaign to eradicate the Cockney dialect, which they characterize as a "disease of language," caused by incorrect breathing and by improper voice instruction. A number of teachers in secondary schools declare elementary teachers themselves often employ the Cockney, pronouncing such words as "paid" as if both the vowels were "i" and explaining the difference by saying the "i" should have a dot.

The teachers made no plans to carry the reform to the Cockney adults outside the schools.

DRUNKEN COWS LEAD TO CAPTURE OF LARGE STILL IN COUNTY OF DURHAM

Durham.—Two drunken cows that romped about their pasture until exhausted and then fell to the ground in a stupor led to the discovery of a large still on the farm of John King, about 15 miles northeast of the city, during the early hours of last night. Dr. Petty, a local veterinarian, who was called to treat the animals, found they were intoxicated and after a long search the still was located by the farmer.
