A SERIOUS DRAWBACK TO GREENVILLE'S GROWTH.

Almost daily on the streets of the city one hears the remark, "I thought Greenville had a larger population than the present census gave it—there surely must be something radically wrong," et cetera. Yes, there is something radically wrong, a wrong unless righted very soon cannot be righted as it ought and should be.

GREENVILLE hands out no inducement to grow. On the otherhand the town seemingly places barriers at every point and then watches these points to see that no one slips in unaware, so to speak.

We just don't seem anxious for people to come to GREENVILLE to live. If we do, we are failing to show our faith by our works. Instead of the census bureau giving out the statement that we have 5,700 inhabitants in this year 1920, we should have been reported as having several thousand more.

Why this slow growth as to population? Nothing more nor less than the fact that we have discouraged instead of encouraged would-be citizens to become a part of us. We have abundance of proof to back up this statement. If wrong in our hypothesis,—we don't believe we are,—we are willing to admit it if so convinced, but until we are, we shall have to the line allowing the chips to fall as they will.

If a man with family comes to GREENVILLE and desires a house in which to live, its just out of the question, or if he wants a room or two to do light housekeeping, the price for same will almost exhaust his salary. If he should think about purchasing a lot upon which to build, he has to give up the idea forever, due to the fact that dirt in GREENVILLE is nearly worth a penny a grain.

If the prospective citizen is unfortunate enough to be single — every man ought to be a benedict—he is just "stabbed" right and left, to use a coarse expression, for board and lodging. The fact is, that the rates in this town are exorbitant and out of all reason.

Room rent in GREENVILLE today for a single person ranges from $15 to $35 per month. We were told only yesterday by a business man that he had three young ladies in his employ who were being charged $40 per month for their room and they had to do their own room cleaning.

To make a long story short, it appears as if we are trying to bleed everybody to death and instead of encouraging folks to become citizens, we are exhausting every means to keep them away.

Some one will say, "everything is so high!" Granted. But we respectfully submit not in keeping with the prices for eating and sleeping. We venture the assertion that it requires more coin to exist in the capital of Pitt than any other town in the State. This is the opinion of those who have tried it out. As yet we have not ascertained the cost of dying and being buried here, but the presumption is, this rides right along in the same band wagon.

Seriously. Unless something is done to remedy these conditions the town is going to suffer more than it has. The Chamber of Commerce would do well to wrestle with this important matter and see if a solution cannot be worked out. GREENVILLE cannot afford to take a backward step. We must go forward, but we never will until we encourage instead of

Little Old New York

(By O. O. McINTYRE) NEW YORK. — It was my good fortune one day recently to explore the Spanish colony in Manhattan with Biscoo Ibanez, the Spanish novelist, and a group of other writers. The compensation for living in New York is its sudden surprises. One may turn the corner and find an alien world in the backyard.

New York's Spain is on Christopher Street. Cadiz and Barcelona are reproduced—the great seafaring cities of the Iberian peninsula. There are Spanish banks and stores, Spanish jewelers, barber shops, tailors, Spanish cafes and billiard rooms. The signs of the district give a distinct foreign tang. "Posada Latina," one reads, or "Sastreria Espanola." Through a curtained shop window it is possible to have a glimpse of Old World products. There is the straight backed-barber chairs of Spain that are a torture to those used to reclining comfortably.

A short distance below the foot of Christopher street are the docks. There are trim boats that run down the Chillian coast. Swaggering sailors with jet black hair and aquiline features abound in this neighborhood. About the only thing they dislike about America is their inability to get wine. In this connection I saw a sign on the window of a former saloon. It read: "Pure California Grape Juice." Below it was another announcement that the store sold raisins.

In the evening the Spanish quarter begins to pulsate with life. The pretty señoritas are out on the stoops, black-eyed, olive complexioned and lovely. The dishes clatter in the little cafes and the billiard balls clink merrily in the Posada Latina. After dinner the diners come out to drink their coffee along the sidewalk and eat yellow, twisted Spanish pastries. Many of the girls wear heavy ear rings and jewelry is a common luxury. I noticed five jewelry shops in one block. The population is composed of diverse races of the Spanish world—Catalans, Castilians, Argentines. They are united between that strong bond between people of common language on an shore.

At the dancing places these days they have diplomatic young censors who watch from the ring-side tables any laxity in good manners. If a young man and his girl are dancing cheek to cheek he gets their eye and shakes his head in disapproval. If they do not stop he asks them to leave the floor. Now and then those who are brazenly bold steal kisses from their fair partners. There is no alternative for them. They must give up their table and the cover charge is refunded. Holding hands at tables is also barred. The park benches are also watched by policemen for spooners. The only place spooning is permitted in New York is on the Fifth Avenue buses. There love's young dream rolls along without harsh interruptions.

There are a great many ways to beat the high cost of living in this town. One way is seen in the big trucks going home around five o'clock. They are filled with workers on their way home. The drivers seem glad to furnish this means of transportation and in some cases stop at corners to collect the free passengers. The passengers are not confined to young boys. There are pretty stenographers,
