It's no use to grieve over spilt milk, Watts got the appointment.

So glad we don't live there, Heavy snow reported in the west.

Chautauqua comes to GREENVILLE this year Friday, June 10th.

Wake Forest has need to feel proud and we congratulate. We are sincere, sincere.

England is congratulating herself that the coal strike did not appear until spring.

Why is it that it takes a woman so much longer to spend 98 cents than an even dollar?

It is hard to believe that the Hughes memorandum is satisfactory both in Berlin and Paris.

Carpenters strike too, goes a headline. Want to be as popular as some other folk, we reckon.

Rocky Mount politics are said to be warming up. Ours has been at fever heat for some little time.

It is stated that a Georgia farmer pays four cents income tax. Most farmers will wonder how he managed to pay that much.

Did you have to get life saving outfit in order to cross Greene street at Dickinson Avenue yesterday? Felicitations if you didn't.

Secretary Weeks says that General Pershing will be well taken care of later on. We don't know anything to kick about his present status.

"Cyclone Mack" is doing the same thing in Wilmington, N. C., that he did in GREENVILLE, N. C. Making the boys sit up and take notice.

Congressman H. S. Ward is the first North Carolina representative to get on his job in Washington. There so soon to get acquainted, we presume.

Says James Montague: It is pretty tough when your doctor advises you to buy a case of whiskey to have your lawyer advise not to. For his information, case booze is unknown in these parts.

Never tell a man what you would do if you were in his place. He might tell you what he would do if he were in yours, and then there would be two liars instead of one.

Authorities up in Pennsylvania start out in search of a baby, but instead, locate five barrels of wine and a small arsenal. This is a great country.

Dies of grief over the death of A. G. Field, the noted comedian. Folk are surely adopting many various and sundry ways in which to pass out these days. This is a progressive age, though.

New Bern barber shops are reducing the cost of clipping, goes the story from that city. Clipping in GREENVILLE is still being done at the same old stands, strictly at the same old price.

How's this? Pittsburg police chief puts large tame snakes into cell occupied by drunks to reform inmates. The question before the house is, will a man be frightened by old friends?

A bird's wing on a woman's hat is not humane, but safe. Her husband won't object to that.

The wing is not what he kicks at. He kicks against the bill.

NO CITIZEN CAN AFFORD TO VOTE AGAINST SCHOOL BONDS

One of the most important matters that came before the meeting of the board of aldermen last night was the request that came from the school board asking that the board call an election on Tuesday, June 14th for the purpose of issuing bonds in the amount of $200,000 for the purpose of liquidating the floating indebtedness of the GREENVILLE schools, and principally for the purpose of enlarging the present school system. The schools of the town of GREENVILLE are in a most excellent shape, far as the bonded indebtedness is concerned. At the present time there is outstanding on the GREENVILLE Grade School District the very small amount of only $35,000. According to figures compiled by Supt. Rose in regard to the bonded indebtedness of neighboring towns, GREENVILLE leads in having the smallest bonded indebtedness of all of them compared to the amount of equipment which is possessed. Supt. Rose was asked why it was that the Graded Schools happened to have this floating indebtedness, and his reply was, that it was incurred in the purchase of the Vines House, the purchase of lot for the negro schools, the building of the negro schools, the equipping and remodeling of the present High School building and the Evans Street School. The present High School was built and equipped, the Evans Street School repaired and remodelled, and some land purchased for the negro school out of the 1915 bond issue of $30,000. This was not sufficient to take care of all that expense, and hence the board in years past had to borrow money to meet those obligations incurred. It is understood that it is of the intention of the school board to issue all these bonds immediately after the election is voted upon, but only such amounts as are necessary to meet the present outstanding obligations. Later on when financial conditions are somewhat improved, it is thought that the board will issue sufficient bonds to take care of the increased needs of the school. Supt. Rose stated to a representative of this paper that at the present time the school buildings are overtaxed. The auditorium of the Evans Street School has been divided and two poorly lighted class rooms formed. Likewise some of the class rooms have been divided in order to make room for more children. The superintendent of schools was also asked if there were any children coming to the GREENVILLE Schools who did not live in the Graded School district. He replied that there were, but that in every case the tuition for these children would be met either by the parents of the children or by an appropriation from the State Department.

watched the train out of sight.

I am wondering what a New York subway guard would do if he had to wrestle with some of the names out here. This afternoon we passed through Gise, Canonicito, Los Cerrillos, Elota, Nueve, Bernalillo and Algodones. At Gallup, N. M., all of the passengers complained of a buzzing in their ears and slight dizziness. Even veterans trainmen never get over the effect of the high altitude. The chef who came out of the kitchen for air was so giddy that he staggered. He has been coming over the road for 15 years. He confided to me that the reason they called it Gallup was because folks wanted to "gallup" through the town and I never saw a man so appreciative of his own humor. He fairly rocked with mirth. I laughed just as heartily for it was nearing dinner time and one can never be too friendly with a cook so far away from home. Fatty Arbuckle mounted the engine cab to ride through the mountains with the engineer from Williams to Ash Fork. He wanted me to go with him and promised some beautiful scenery. But Fatty's green great coat and cap satisfied my desire for "beautiful scenery."

Admiral Grayson's book doubtless will be read with interest. Nobody just knows what happened to Mr. Wilson when he broke down, and of course, everybody would like to know. We too.

HOW YOUR FAVORITE REMEDY DRECO HAS COME TO COST YOU LESS

By a New Manufacturing Process, all the "Good Qualities" are retained and Expensive Alcohol Eliminated. Does same Reliable Work at "Before the War Price."

Many lessons were learned during the war as to saving and as to reduction in costs. The manufacturers of Dreco learned something and that was how to make Dreco the same good medicine, preserve completely its full medicinal qualities and do away with the Alcohol which now costs so much. That is why today you can buy Dreco at "before the war price" and be assured of getting the same reliable remedy which so many people have praised for the relief of their troubles. For instance Mr. Walter Edmond said: "My bowels were so badly constipated I had to take purgatives nearly every night. This strong medicine de-ranged my stomach so that it often filled with gas and griping pains would hit me. I had pains in my back over my kidneys and my joints were sore and stiff. I took a treatment of Dreco and I'm like a different person today. I soon noticed my bowels acting regular, the gas ceased to form in my stomach, my appetite increased and my sleep became sound and refreshing. All the backache and sore joints have passed off and I can stoop over and bend about as well as ever. Dreco is great medicine and I strongly recommend it." The old fashioned root and herbs are the best medicines for us to take. Dreco contains the juices and extracts of twelve different herbal plants, which act on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and enrich the blood. Get Dreco today. Dreco is being specially introduced by Warren Drug Co. in Greenville and sold by all druggists. Adv.

Little Old New York (By O. O. McINTYRE)

Westward Ho! April 8.—Flagstaff, Arizona, looks like it might have been built for Bill Hart or some other essayer of wild western thrills. The main street is along the railroad tracks and one may view the Bright Angel cafe, the combination bank and hotel, the Parlor Pool Hall and two Red Gulch Hotel. Wild looking dogs, with a wolf strain, flock in packs to the coast trains and stand outside the diner howling for food. They never fail to get a hand-out. Then they trot back through the town to the hills to sleep. New Yorkers think of Chicago as west. I don't know where the west begins but I would fix the line at La Junta, Colorado. At La Junta a sun burned native stood outside the baggage car and peered in. "How does your hound wanted to resent the hound imputation but I remembered the tales of tenderfeet who were made to dance to bullets and replied in my best voice. "I'm thinkin' of goin' East and take my two hounds—Dram and Roger—with me!" he ventured. I asked what part of the East he expected to visit. "Topeka, Kansas," he replied. He was a sociable fellow and before the train pulled out, wanted to know if I would give him the loan of a "chaw of plug cut." He had run-out of eating tobacco that morning and was evidently suffering. At Wagon Mound, New Mexico, we were joined by the Broadway Elites Players, numbering six—two blondes, a juvenile, a tragedian who used snuff and two veteran tank actors. They were on their way to Quito to present "Jim's Revenge." They carried two trunks and a back drop. I saw no evidence of stage door Johnnies followed the blondes. The station at Albuquerque is picturesque. Indians in native costume meet the trains to sell rugs and pottery. Baggage masters dread the town. Our train took on two wooden boxes. The health seekers through the station platform hoping for a familiar face. They are piteously lonely and make any excuse to engage in conversation. One from the East asked me if it was true that Rector's had closed. "I used to have some good times there he said. And he wistfully
