NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Our friend A. W. Rowland, has just returned from the North, (or some other city) where he replenished his Stock of Drugs &c., &c., throughout. He keeps the best on hand at all times, and is ever ready to wait upon the public.

W. W. Jones, Sect'y. Henderson Lodge No 229, calls a meeting of its members on the 8th inst.

See change of Schedule of Petersburg Railroad.

Tobacco.—As our Tobacco begins to come in, we will call the attention of farmers to the several reliable houses advertised in our paper, both of Richmond and Petersburg. If it is desired to ship to Richmond, the Tobacco is put on the cars at this depot and does not charge at all; going right through to that city. The prices in that market this year, have been very good, and still remain so. Good quality is now in demand.

The Petersburg market sustains itself well. We would suggest to our farmers the propriety of looking over the Index houses represented in it, in Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk and Portsmouth. We will vouch for them all, for we know them personally.

PERSONAL.—We were very glad to grasp by the hand our much esteemed friend, Capt. E. G. Cheatham, of New York City. The Captain is looking remarkably well, and shows "fine keeping." He was called out earlier than he expected, by the sudden severe illness of his mother, Mrs. Isham Cheatham near this place. We sincerely hope that her illness may prove slight, and temporary.

We also had the pleasure of meeting our cotemporary, Capt. Waring, of the Charlotte Times, a few days ago, while passing our town on his way to attend the Democratic Convention. Capt. W. goes as one of the delegates, representing the Press of our State in the Convention.

NEW WHEAT.—This article is now coming in rapidly, and in good quantities for shipment. We learn that the yield is not quite so good as was first expected, owing to the rust having taken it, just before maturity. Our townsman J. H. Lassiter shipped the first new Wheat of the season to Petersburg, but what he sold for, we have not as yet learned. The prices seem to range from $2.00 to $2.60 for red. We hope our farmers may realize good profits on their crops this year. It is sadly needed.

The CITIZENS of the town of Fayetteville will have a 4th of July celebration of the Anniversary of American Independence. We would be pleased to see our people in this section take more interest in such matters. It affords a pleasant pastime, and brings back to our memories, happy recollections of a halcyon past,—of days and of men whose equals we fear are not, nor will not be, again.

THE GEISER THRESHER AND CLEANER.—This Machine has been used during the present harvest, by Mr. Steven A. Burroughs, and has proven more than satisfactory. It is a new invention, and labor-saving. In one operation it will thresh, clean and bag the wheat ready for the market, and do it much better than any other machine now in use. Two sizes are made, the smaller having a capacity of 200 to 300 bushels per day. Mr. Burroughs will be prepared to thresh and clean for all who may wish it. He guarantees to give entire satisfaction.

THE YARBORO HOUSE.

While in attendance upon the Editorial Convention in Raleigh recently, we of course become the guest of our friend Mr. Blair, the unsurpassed proprietor of this Hotel. It is needless to say that we did so willingly, as we have been the recipient of his gentlemanly courtesy, and hospitality before. The universal opinion expressed of Blair, and his house is, that he is equaled by few and surpassed by none, which opinion we heartily endorse. While the several Editors were in the city, he not only tendered them the use of his elegant parlors to hold their Convention in, but also prepared for the special benefit refreshments admirably adapted to the state of the weather. The Convention was tendered an "Editorial Dinner," Friday, but all except one or two, were compelled to leave a day or two before. Our friend Blair, however, remained, and says that he enjoyed himself much. As soon as "our" legislature meets, we will give friend Blair another visit.

IMPORTANCE OF NEWS PAPERS.

It has been truthfully said that the newspapers of a town are its corner-stone, its very lifeblood. Without them it cannot prosper. The better they are supported at home, the more powerful their influence will be abroad. The newspapers have done more to aid the building up of towns in which they are published, and to arouse their business, than all the merchants together. To the merchants they are indispensable, as those who have used them as a medium through which to reach the public well know. And they contribute largely to the prosperity of every citizen, for their influence is felt in a thousand different directions.

A CITIZEN OF MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VA.

While under the influence of liquor, jumped from the third story window of the "Garley House" in Petersburg, a few days since, and so injuring himself that he died in about four hours. It is supposed that he got up during the night for the purpose of going down stairs, and being under the influence of liquor, mistook the window for the door, and should be a warning to those who are in the habit of drinking.

The Hampshire Gazette, of Northampton, now in its eighty-second year of its publication, records the death of Ediphates Packard Esq., formerly of Cunningham; who "has been a regular subscriber to that paper from its first issue," and observes that "it is doubtful if to the day of his death a single copy has escaped his notice."

The above must be encouraging to our readers who have paid up. If you want to live a long time, subscribe to the Index at once, and pay regularly and in advance. If you don't, we would not be surprised if good many of you don't die. So look to your interest, friends and fellow-citizens!

THE SEASONS for the past several weeks have been unusually fine, and we are pleased to learn that our farmers are appreciating it in a proper manner. We hear that the crops now are very promising and our farmers generally are very hopeful. May they be amply and fully rewarded for their labors.

ERROR.—We stated a week or two since, in speaking of the burning of Mr. Wm. Hardy's Tobacco barn, that he was not interested in the Tobacco lost. We learn that he owned half of the crop that was lost. Severer on him than we expected. We deeply regret it.

ERRATA.—Several typographical errors in spite of our very teeth crept into our report of Mr. Harris' address published last week; two only of the grosser of which we have space to call attention to. In the third column for "it would you prepared for any emergencies that might arise," read: "I would have you prepared for any emergencies that might arise." In the concluding paragraph, fourth column, for "propositions," read "proportions." These corrections in justice to Mr. Harris.

Those Citizens that our friend Rowland has on hand at his Drug Store, are first rate. He is a clever fellow, and keeps clever Cigars. We have "puffed" both, and know whereof we speak. Try them!

IMPUDENCE.

We despise such brazen-faced minxes and draggle-tails as Elizabeth Cady Stanton who sends us her paper, the Revolution, in order that our contempt may be weekly fed, and Anna Dickinson, who proves that a woman may be a jackass. Such disgusting "bloomers," if they were not so contemptible, would bring their sex into discredit, as it is, their miserable foolishness and revolting boldness only serve to make the purity and modesty and virtue of true American woman shine with the greater lustre. Yes, we despise such creatures. Women will gain their rights by the radiance of their own goodness, by the magic of their own beauty and charms, by the divine light of their own love and chaste affection, not by shameless exhibitions on the rostrum and in the lecture room. But, holding these opinions, we nevertheless wish that there were some means, either by journalism or otherwise, by which our women could occasionally score the ill-fated and impudent women who clutter the press with their scoldings, and who, in their theoretical notions, afflicted with the coccythos peribolus, seem to feel it necessary to be continually offering the other sex counsel and advice, which if our women should follow, far superior to men as they now are, even were there a charming spice of the devil in them, they would then be so near the angels that not another mother's daughter of them would consent to be yoked to a man. Listen at this from an exchange:

Gardening for Ladies.—Make up your beds early in the morning; see buttons on your husband's shirts, do not rake up any grievances; protect the young and tender branches of your family; paint a smile of good temper in your face, and carefully root out all angry feelings, and expect a good crop of happiness. Now suppose we take the other side and give a few plain direct ones which we will call:—Hints to Husbands.—Go to your bed between seven and eight and daylight in the morning; see your wife out before you take to yourself a help-mate; do not be a rake with a sweet young wife; plant the healthful seeds of a good example in your own family; carefully root out from your heart the spirit of distrust and fault finding of your patient wife's little failings, while your own depraved nature is clogged by black sins and vice; prize off the unsightly branches of selfishness and conceit; elevate your companion into dignity and respect, that your children may lie down under the shade of her loving presence; twice about her the fresh leaves and verdure of your undivided love and fidelity; and expect a beautiful crop of smiles, caresses and devoted tenderness. Wife will be a—shock-headed, tooth-chewing, worldly minded, unappreciative, "lords of creation."

If men performed half as well the human duties appointed by God, and labored half as earnestly to promote earthly happiness and banish evil, as women, then indeed would this poor, harassing, fitful life be better worth clinging to, and then all humanity would no longer be dry dust and ashes in the face of the infinite. There's not one beautiful, lovely, noble thing on the earth beneath the skies that does not take its hue from woman's nature, that is not fostered and cherished by woman's devotion, and that does not wither and perish under the rude touch of man. There's not a tear of bitterness, a broken heart, a head bowed with shame and disgrace, that does not bless the soothing grace of woman's care and pity, and has not cause to curse the cruelty of men. There's not a flower dyed and dead upon the tract of the past, a forgotten gem buried beneath its ruins, that woman has not cared for and wept for, and man has not trampled under his foot in his onward march of selfish "progress."

The above is well put, but—was that fellow ever married? SPECTATOR.—Report hath it that Furman of the Index has recently become very much interested in the Egg Market, preparatory, it is presumed, to a plentiful stocking of his larid for a certain event. How stands the market in Raleigh?—Would it like to swap tobacco for eggs; or Tobacco Southern? Ah! Biggs, out was an "interest" of special importance for home use. Having any use for eggs just now, we must decline your offer, but, however, we will trade, and give you time: but mind you, we shall expect ample and satisfactory returns!!! Eh?

At the regular election of officers for Henderson Council No. 8, Friends of Temperance, the following were elected: President—C. W. Harris. Vice-President—R. E. Young. Assaite—W. W. Young. Chaplain—D. E. Young. Rec. Sec'y.—F. S. Woodson. Fin. Sec'y.—Hardy Harris. Treasurer—Harvell Harris. Postmaster—John E. Weaver. Ass't Con.—J. K. Harris. I. S.—Wm. Finck. O. S.—David H. Gill.

THE LITTLE SPRINGS FEMALE COLLEGE.—The closing exercises of this deservedly meritorious Institution closed last Thursday, with a degree of eclat highly satisfactory to its able President, the Rev. C. B. Kiddick. A full notice of the occasion will appear in our next.

RELIGIOUS.—The Rev. Mr. Hunter will fill his regular appointment at the Episcopal Church on next Sabbath.

TELEGRAMS AND CHARADES.

The young ladies of Franklinton, proper for a series of Tablans, Charades on the 20th inst., for the benefit of Franklinton Council No 10, Friends of Temperance. We do not know any of the dramatic talents of these girls, but our knowledge of their capabilities in other respects satisfies us their effort in this will be satisfactory. Our crowded space bids that we say more just now, there is much in this connection we would be pleased to say. The young ladies set an example that is worth emulating by those of other counties.

THREE EIGHT FANTASTIC seems to have taken a strong hold upon our young people this time. Mr. Dugan, who is said thoroughly understands the ropes of this delightful art, has opened a School at this place, and is attracting with very good success. Do not miss your opportunity to receive these lessons. We will allude to again. By-the-by, would it we cut a "figure" on the floor! We think!

EN RE FOR NEW YORK.—Several of our men, have availed themselves of the opportunity to attend the Democratic Convention. We wish them a good time, and have been promised a correspondence upon "the subject," by a skillful. Our readers may look for something interesting.

A lady gives the following catalogue of different kinds of love: "The sweet, a mother's love; the longest, a brother's love; the strongest, a woman's love; the dearest, a man's love; and the sweet, longest, strongest, dearest love, a 'loaf of bonnet'."

See of the Roanoke News, and ourselves considerably at Kittrell, this week. He bobbed, we bobbed, and both bobbed,—and it was high hob, lobb, and (we reckon) dumpty;— Eh?

General Grant has telegraphed General McDowell to turn over Arkansas to the civil authorities—as soon as it is safe.

OBITUARY.—Found dead on the morning of the 26th inst., J. E. VENABLE, aged 1 year, 4 mos. 17 days. A more distressing calamity has seldom visited our community. Beautiful in all his features, sprightly and affectionate in his disposition, he was well calculated for a noble career. He was with his playmates in all the confidence of innocence and gloire, which his musical voice has right after night his number far from our eyelids. His life has been enshrouded in gloom the last of one who fondly hoped to see him fill the bright promise of his infancy. Wee not, stricken mourner—remember that thy loss is his gain. No more shall that sweet form be distorted by suffering or sorrow. Jack is at rest. A FRIEND. Henderson, July 2d, 1868.

Cheap Goods.—W. LEWIS H. KITTLE JR., and WM. WHITFIELD, trading under the name and style of Lewis H. Kittle & Brother, at the old stand of Lewis H. Kittle, Henderson N. C. To inform the public generally, and the lovers of cheap Goods in particular, that we have a few goods on hand which were bought very low. Inasmuch as they are paid for, we just intend to sell them for cash at what price we don't care a straw. Where young men just starting in life, and industry and fair dealing will support us, we don't intend to perish. We have ample facilities to get any thing our friends and patrons may want in the way of goods or merchandise, at the lowest cash prices. We don't know "credit," it's useless to talk about. To all cash buyers we say let us know what you want; we will do all in our power to serve you. We expect to keep such goods as we think the wants of the people will mostly require. Such as Corn Meal, Bacon, Sugar, Coffee, Molasses, Salt, Herring, Boots, Shoes, Hardware, Hats, Clothing and all Dry Goods that the times will justify. Give us a call. W. LEWIS H. KITTLE & BRO.
