Bank Committee Will Go To Washington Very Soon

Will Confer With Comptroller of Currency on Plan To Reopen First National; Prospects Represented As Being Encouraging for Success

Following meetings held Wednesday and Thursday evenings, a committee representing stockholders of the First National Bank plans to go to Washington probably the early part of next week for a conference with the comptroller of the currency with a view to arranging for the reopening of the First National Bank of Henderson, which failed to open for business on January 2.

It is understood the committee will have a tentative proposal to lay before the comptroller, but will also inquire of that official as to just what regulations will have to be complied with to reopen the bank. The party to make the trip to Washington may include Colonel Henry Perry, who was president of the bank, S. T. Peace, one of the large stockholders, a director and former president until his business took him away from Henderson a few years ago; A. A. Bunn, attorney for the bank, and F. B. Roberts, who was the cashier.

The report on the condition of the bank at the time it failed was completed and forwarded in great detail last Saturday to the comptroller of the currency in Washington by R. G. Harrison, receiver of the bank. Time is being allowed for a thorough examination of the records in Washington before the local committee makes the trip there for conference. The date of the trip will depend upon the engagement which can be given it by the comptroller, and that is being arranged at this time, it is understood.

Those familiar with the bank's affairs have expressed themselves as being greatly encouraged over the outlook for its revival, and it is believed now that there is a good chance for it to reopen as soon as certain stipulations that may be imposed are complied with.

THOMAS J. MITCHELL DIES IN NEW BERN

Brother of Mrs. C. M. Cooper, Sr., Formerly Lived in Henderson When Young Man

Thomas Jerkins Mitchell, about 70 years old, brother of Mrs. C. M. Cooper, Sr., of Henderson, died early today in New Bern, where he had lived for many years. When a young man, Mr. Mitchell resided in Henderson. A message today to his sister here said he died shortly after midnight. Funeral services are expected to be held in New Bern tomorrow, and Mrs. Cooper and her son, C. M. Cooper, Jr., are planning to attend the final rites. Mr. Mitchell is survived by four sons and several grandchildren, in addition to his sister. During his residence in this city years ago he was a member of the firm of Cooper and Mitchell.

COLORED FARMERS TO MEET SATURDAY

Conference Will Be Held At Henderson Institute Tomorrow Morning

Negro farmers of this section have been called to meet at Henderson Institute here tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing their problems and the meeting was called by the vocational agriculture teacher at Henderson Institute and an invitation to all Negro farmers, farm women, farm boys and farm girls has been extended.

A number of individual discussions led by the farmers will be heard at the meeting, and it is possible that several short talks regarding present problems will be offered. The meeting is one of a series now being held all over the state by the Negro farmers. The theme for the meeting will be "To Live Better and Farm Better." One of the principal topics to come up for discussion will be the problems of marketing crops.

The meeting is expected to be of interest to all Negro residents of the rural sections of the county, who are invited to attend. A number of problems regarding home gardens will be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffin were personal friends of President and Mrs. Hoover and they expected Mrs. Hoover for a visit at their Sapelo Island estate tomorrow.

RALEIGH ATTORNEY, INJURED HERE, SUED

Insurance Company Seeks Recovery of Large Sum From A. J. Barwick, Paid During Illness

Allen J. Barwick, Raleigh attorney, who was critically injured in an automobile accident near Henderson last spring, and who was a patient for weeks in Maria Parham hospital during his recovery, is being sued by an insurance company for the recovery of a large sum of money paid him on a policy he carried with the company. The amount involved is $11,520.00. The News and Observer had this story about the litigation:

"Alleging that Allen J. Barwick, Raleigh lawyer, misrepresented the amount of insurance he carried with other companies when he applied for an accident policy, the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company has entered suit in Federal Court here seeking to recover $11,520.00, alleged to have been paid on the policy.

"Mr. Barwick was badly hurt in an automobile accident near Henderson last March and, the complaint states, drew $300 per week in disability insurance on a policy taken out with the company in 1930. The policy contained a clause making payable $200 per week additional to $100, if the policy holder was injured in a private conveyance.

"The complaint alleges that Mr. Barwick carried other policies other than the one with the plaintiff which totaled $500 a month. There were three of these policies, the complaint alleges.

"The plaintiff asks that the insurance policy be returned to cancellation and that Mr. Barwick refund $11,520.00 alleged to have been paid him from March 31, 1931, to December 31, 1931."
