Umbrellas To Be In Order Sunday

Charlotte, March 26.—(AP)—If you have any Easter finery, ladies and gentlemen, the weather man says you can exchange it for an umbrella.

Though in not those words was the advice of the United States Weather Bureau here in prognosticating the weather for the two Carolinas for tomorrow.

Winston-Salem, March 26.—(AP)—Awakened from their sleep by marching bands playing the traditional Easter carols, thousands of people will gather before Old Home Moravian church tomorrow morning at sunrise to hear repeated for the 200th time here, "The Lord Is Risen."

And floating back from the throngs which annually attend this celebration in the South will come the sonorous chant, "The Lord Is Risen indeed."

This year the simple opening phrase will be spoken for the second time by Bishop J. K. Pfuhl.

Tonight, if the scenes of other years do not fail of repetition, there will be no unfilled lodging places, and hundreds of cars will fill the streets of Old Salem, their occupants sleeping as best they may until 2 a. m. Eastern morn, when the band begins to tour the town calling the people to the celebration.

"Down with Japanese imperialism."

Obstinacy Of Japanese Threatens Peace Parley

Balk on Proposal of Withdrawing Troops, and Substantial Concessions on Both Sides Now Believed Only Move That Can Save Conference at Shanghai

Shanghai, March 26.—(AP)—Negotiations for a Sino-Japanese armistice were very near to a breakdown today as delegates of the two countries adjourned until Monday in order to re-consider controversial issues to their respective governments.

The meeting today ended with a deadlock on the issue of withdrawal of Japanese troops, and only the possibility of substantial concessions on both sides offered any hope of saving the conference.

The negotiations reached a crisis late yesterday, it was understood, when Lieutenant General Kenkichi Uyeda, chief of the Japanese delegates, informed the conference that the Japanese would not withdraw before six weeks, and then only to a so-called secondary defense line running through Chengju Tachang and Tsetzeling.

DEFENSE RESTS IN LEXINGTON KILLING

Mrs. Pickett Sticks to Denial That She Poisoned Her Daughter

Lexington, March 26.—(AP)—The defense rested its case at 11:10 a. m. today in the trial of Mrs. Lola Pickett, 40, for murder of her daughter, Elizabeth, 6, who died of poisoning last September.

Cross-examination of Mrs. Pickett was begun shortly after court reconvened today.

Mrs. Pickett was questioned by James F. Spruill, special attorney for the prosecution. She appeared composed and answered his early questions in a strong voice, but as the questioning continued, she seemed to become nervous. The witness made repeated denials that she put anything in a medicine prescribed by Dr. J. L. Sowers for Elizabeth, with the exception of water.

All the county boards of elections must meet in the court house in their respective counties on Saturday, April 16, to organize and appoint registrars and judges for all the precincts in each county. SALES TAX DEFEAT TO REBOUND HERE

Its Loss In Congress Will Cool Enthusiasm In North Carolina

CAMPAIGN HAS BEGUN

Would Relieve Corporations of Taxes and Saddle It on People With Smaller Incomes To Be Paid

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, March 26.—The overwhelming defeat of the proposed nationwide sales tax in Congress as a result of the revolt of most of the Democrats and many of the independent Republicans from the Hoover and "Old Guard" leadership, is going to have a far-reaching effect in North Carolina and make it more difficult for the sales tax advocates in this State to enact a Statewide sales tax in 1933, according to belief here.

It is generally conceded that Congressman R. L. Doughton, of North Carolina's eighth district, had as much to do with bringing about the defeat of the manufacturers' sales tax section of the Federal revenue bill as any other member of the House and that Democrats throughout the nation have applauded his position that a sales tax—any form of sales tax—is wrong in principle and contrary to all Democratic beliefs with regard to taxation. It is also pointed out that all but four of North Carolina's ten congressmen voted against the sales tax section of the bill, these four being from the eastern part of the State where there is little or no manufacturing and hence no opposition to the bill. One of Doughton's chief lieutenants in his fight against the sales tax section of the bill was Congressman J. Walter Lambeth, of the seventh district.

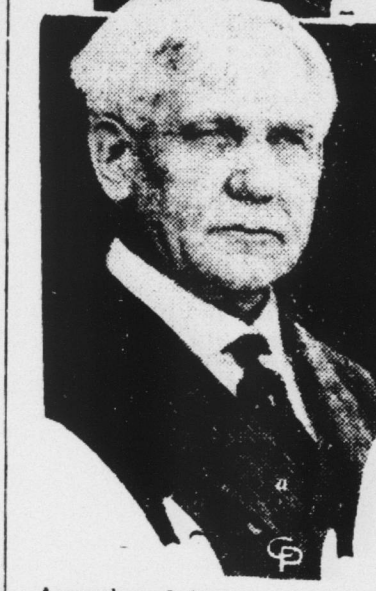

The controversy that raged in Congress for more than two weeks over the sale tax has served to inform people throughout the State and nation concerning the sales tax and its operation and has strengthened opposition to it on almost every hand, according to belief here. The people learned, for instance, that approximately 80 per cent of this sales tax would be paid by individuals whose incomes are less than $3,000 a year and that it would amount to an average of $6 a year each for every man, woman and child in North Carolina, and take from the pockets of North Carolinians between $12,500,000 and $15,000,000 a year.

The opposition to this sales tax has been stronger in North Carolina, of course, since it was a Federal rather than a State tax, and would not serve to lower other taxes, as the proponents of a State sales tax say it would do. But Congressmen Doughton and Lambeth and the others who opposed the bill have declared that they are opposed to the principle of the sales tax, because it seeks to tax those who are least able to pay, thus increasing the burden of the poor and lifting the burden from the rich.

This opposition of the State's foremost Democratic leaders to a sales tax in Congress, in which they used almost the same arguments that Governor O. Max Gardner used in opposing either form of a sales tax in the 1931 General Assembly and for which he has been roundly condemned by many Democrats ever since, is going to make it difficult for the sales tax advocates in the 1933 General Assembly, it is agreed here. There is no doubt that an attempt will be made again in 1933 to enact a general sales tax, just as in 1931. For all the big landowners in the east, the railroads, the power companies and even the tobacco companies, want a general sales tax, since it would reduce their income and franchise taxes, also reduce their property taxes. If the movement

Colonel Lindbergh Said To Be Considering Further Appeal For Return Of Baby

FEVERISH SEARCH MADE AT CAPITAL

One Man In Party Seeking Lodging Arouses Suspicion And Police Start Hunt by Radio; Was Woman in Car With Baby on Back Street

Hopewell, N. J., March 26.—(AP)—While three Norfolk citizens did their best to restore kidnaped Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., to his parents today, his father was believed to be considering issuing a fourth appeal to the persons who stole the child March 1.

Thrice Colonel Lindbergh, willing to pay ransom to get the child back, has issued public pleas to the kidnapers to open negotiations, but these have failed to accomplish the desired object. Information from friends of the family was that he might try again. He has pledged himself not to try to injure the kidnapers if they will return the child.

FEVERISH SEARCH FOR MAN IS MADE IN WASHINGTON

Washington, March 26.—(AP)—A sudden, unexpected tip today swung the feverish search for the Lindbergh baby and his kidnapers into the center of the capital.

As hope alternately rose and waned from the many clues being followed hither and yonder about the country, a man greatly resembling Harry Fleischer, reputed leader of the Detroit purple gang, wanted for questioning in connection with the case since he dropped from sight some time ago sought lodging last night in an obscure Washington street.

It was nearly midnight four youths who saw him and another man walk to the door noted a small car outside. In it sat a woman and a baby. They recalled news pictures of Fleischer, and when the men had been turned away for lack of room called the police.

From the rogue's gallery, officers said, they immediately took out Fleischer's picture. By radio and telephone the authorities sent orders to stop the car or the men and call reserves. Cruising police auto, radio-equipped, carried on an incessant watch through the night.

NO TRACE FOUND OF "VICE RING'S" AUTO

Police Believe Its Theft Means Many of Gang Are Still At Large In East Carolina

Smithfield, March 26 (AP)—No trace had been found today of the automobile of the alleged "vice ring" rounded up in this section this week, which was stolen Thursday night.

Police said the theft of the car, one of two seized in connection with six arrests of alleged gang members, proved conclusively that some members of the gang were still at large, as the thieves had keys to the car. They expressed the belief that maybe 100 persons were connected with the operation of the group, which is credited with committing many robberies in this section recently, and that there would be new startling developments soon.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY IN WEEK IS A DRAW

Maxwell Speech In Greensboro Appears Outstanding Development

EHRINGHAUS SPEAKING But He Has Been in Fountain Territory and Has Not Struck so Responsive a Note as on Other Tours

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, March 26.—Despite much campaign oratory on the part of the various candidates for various offices, the past week has not been eventful and is regarded as almost a draw, with none of the candidates showing any particular gains, according to political observers here. If any candidate gained any advantage whatever, it was A. J. Maxwell as a result of his first real campaign speech in his effort to win the Democratic nomination for governor, delivered in Greensboro Thursday night.

In this speech Maxwell pointed out that he, J. C. B. Ehringhaus and R. T. Fountain are in complete agreement on some of the things which the other two candidates have been trying to make issues out of, and maintained that as a result these things really were not issues. The things upon which all three of them agree, according to Maxwell, are:

1. That the 15 cents tax on property for schools must be removed.
2. An immediate reevaluation of real estate and property.
3. That no new bureau or commissions shall be created.
4. Opposition to the short ballot.
5. Strengthening of local self government.

Maxwell also pointed out that apparently all three of the candidates were opposed to a sales tax with the possible exception of Fountain, who has said that if a sales tax becomes necessary, he prefers the so-called luxury sales tax. Maxwell then presented the planks in his platform concerning which the other two have remained silent, namely safer banking laws, cheaper school books through the rental and books at cost by the State, and a readjustment of the costs of government to conform with shrinking revenues, instead of the imposition of more and higher taxes.

Ehringhaus continued his speaking tour in the southeastern part of the State and reports indicate that while he was well received in many places, he apparently did not succeed in setting the woods on fire. One reason for this may have been because many of his speaking engagements were in Fountain territory, so that the campaign speeches did not take hold as they have in other sections. Reports reaching here indicate that some of Ehringhaus' friends are somewhat disappointed at his campaigning because he is too gentle with his opponents, and maintain that what the people want is a campaigner that will remove his gloves and put some real fight into the campaign.

Reports concerning Fountain's campaign activities, aside from the continuation of his hand-shaking efforts, are somewhat meagre. Some reports
