

Further Progress Shown In Sales Of Bank Stock In Reorganization Move

Additional Amounts Taken But Several Thousand Dollars Remain Yet to Be Sold

ANOTHER MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT

Difficulty Experienced In Contacting Prospective Purchasers of Stock, Some of Them Being Out of the City and Others Not Yet Seen

Further progress in the sale of stock for the reorganization of the First National Bank, which closed last December 31, was reported last night at a meeting of the sales committee, but several thousand dollars worth of the stock yet remain to be disposed of before the required $100,000 of stock and $20,000 surplus has been provided for.

It was learned that the solicitors are having difficulty in contacting certain promising prospects, some of whom are out of the city and others have not been seen.

The committee is anxious that those who have not subscribed to the new stock do so at the earliest possible time, so that further plans for reopening the bank may proceed.

WEAKNESS TIRED FEELING

CARDUI has helped many women, as in a case described below by Mrs. B. F. Fogle, of Sulphur, La.: "I suffered a great deal from weakness and a very tired feeling. I was nervous and my back ached. I did not sleep at all well, so did not feel equal to my work when morning came. My sister told me that she thought Cardui would benefit me, and after I began taking it I could tell that it did help me. I rested much better, and felt better in every way. I took six bottles and it was quite a benefit to me."

INSTITUTE OFFERS SITE FOR SCHOOL

Caring for Colored Pupils Is Problem After Building Is Lost

PROPOSAL SUBMITTED

Would Donate Site and Insurance Money for Constructing Building; Institute Has Handled Many Local Pupils

The problem of caring for Negro high school students in the township and county confronted the board of trustees of the city schools last night as the result of the destruction by fire of the class room building at the Henderson Institute, which has been instructing these pupils, under an arrangement with the city and county school boards.

It appeared possible that the burned building, which was destroyed several months ago, would not be rebuilt by the American Mission Board of the United Presbyterian Church, with headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pa. A proposal was before the board from that organization offering to make the city and county a donation of the site on which the burned building stood, together with the insurance money received from the fire, amounting to $8,000, if the city and county would assume the remaining expense of restoring the building.

The chairman of the city board, G. W. Knott, was designated to work with Superintendent E. M. Rollins, and the chairman of the County Board of Education, R. L. Bennett, of Middleburg, in going further into the situation and to make a report as soon as possible. The church's offer suggested the possibility of a grant from the Rosenwald fund to augment whatever money might be available from local sources. It did not say that the Henderson Institute would be closed, but did not say what disposition would be made of the property in the event the local educational authorities failed to accept the offer made.

EXPECT RELEASE OF BALLOT BOXES

Pritchard-Bailey Agreement To Avoid Expense of Making New Ones

J. H. Bridgers, chairman of the Vance County Board of Elections, said today he expected formal official notice in a few days to release the ballot boxes in this county which have been impounded in the Bailey-Pritchard senatorial contest, which is now pending in the United States Senate. The contenders in the case, Senator Josiah William Bailey, Democrat, now serving his term in the Senate, and George M. Pritchard, of Asheville, Republican, who is contesting the election, have reached an agreement to permit the release of the boxes, so that the various counties over the State will not be put to the expense of having new ballot boxes constructed.

The boxes are needed for use on Saturday, June 4, in the Statewide primary which will be held on that day.

He was given 90 days on the road, commitment not to issue on payment of the costs and on good behavior.

Fred Tally was charged with an affray, but was found not guilty. In Colonial days attendance at church was enforced by law.

Fishing To Be Permitted In City Lakes On License

Council Adopts Ordinance and Limits Catch for Any Half Day; Fish Ordinance Is Ordered Enforced; Waterworks Pays Over $8,000 on Revenues

Fishing in the lakes of the city waterworks plant will be permitted under an ordinance passed by the City Council last night, but a license fee will be required by those who fish. This was one of the outstanding decisions of the Council at a meeting during the two hours or more of the session.

The ordinance permits fishing in the reservoir from June 10 to October 1, subject to the rules and regulations of the State Board of Health, and by those who pay a registration fee, and likewise an additional fee of 50 cents per person for each half day of fishing. The limit of the catch for any one half day is three bass. A committee was appointed by the Council to have charge of the arrangements, this group consisting of T. W. Ellis, member of the Council, and W. M. Young and George A. Harris.

The Council also ordered the full enforcement of the present ordinance regulating the sale of fish in the city. The action followed a petition by fish dealers of the city, who complained of out-of-town trucks that come into the city on week-ends to peddle fish at prices lower, they stated, than they can sell with any profit. The city attorney was asked to investigate as to whether or not a license could be imposed on out-of-town fish peddlers. J. H. Bridgers, manager of the waterworks department, transmitted to the Council a check for $8,000 on earnings of the waterworks system during the fiscal year now drawing to a close. He also presented the balance sheet for April operations, and the filter plant report.

John T. Alderman, chemist attached to the waterworks plant, was granted a 60-day leave of absence at his request, and it was arranged for R. Robertson to do his work during that time, and also to look after the dairy inspection service.

Licenses to operate pool rooms during the coming fiscal year were made by and granted to the following: F. S. Page and C. E. Trador, Recreation Billiard Academy, five tables; E. C. Paris, Henderson Billiard Academy, five tables; Frank Stasinos, Arctic Billiard Academy, five tables, and O. T. Stegall, four tables.

Chester Mangum was denied a license to conduct dances for colored people in the High Price Warehouse for the Jolly Pals Club. The Council agreed to replace the sidewalk in front of J. E. Parks' residence, on Andrews avenue, with the applicant paying half the cost.

The report of C. M. Crow, as sanitary officer was received and filed. A rebate was granted to Miss Sue Kelly on a $200 valuation of personal property. R. B. Powell was rebated $1 poll tax by error.

The report of the city election of Tuesday, May 3, was officially filed with the Council. On request of the King's Daughters, a portion of the appropriation made to that organization for the King's Daughters' Park in 1926, and which never was paid, was granted to be applied to street assessments levied against the organization's property.

Dr. E. F. Fenner was relieved of the cost of paying a $30 cost for a sewer connection, on the ground that when he built his house there was no sewer line in that locality in the city.

Washout Is Open

The Washout, popular bathing place about five miles east of the city, is now open for bathing and picnicking, with the same popular admission price as last year. C. A. Collins, proprietor is again running the swimming place.

Most Of City Teachers Elected For Next Year

Lists Submitted and Passed on for White and Colored Schools; Allotments For Next Term Necessary, However, Before Lists Can Be Completed

Teachers to serve in the Henderson city schools for the coming year were elected by the board of trustees of the schools at a meeting held last night. In most instances those who served the past year and who applied for re-election were given their old jobs for another session. In a few instances elections were conditional, depending on the allotment of teachers to the city system by the State Board of Equalization, the report on which has not yet been received by the school authorities here, and which has not yet been completed in its entirety by the board in Raleigh.

Elections held last night included faculty members for the Henderson high school, all of the city elementary schools and for the city colored schools. While a few vacancies were left, the board did not go into the election of new members of the faculty, deferring action in that matter until the allotments from the State Board of Equalization are learned.

THINK NEGRO DIED OF POISON LIQUOR

Coroner Finds No Direct Evidence of Foul Play After Autopsy

Sam Peace, middle-aged Negro, who died at a dance held Saturday night in the Flint Hill section of the city, shortly after he drank a quantity of liquor, probably came to his death from drinking poison liquor, Coroner F. B. Hight, said today. The coroner investigated the case yesterday, and was present with Dr. C. H. White, county health officer, when the latter conducted an autopsy on the body. A number of witnesses were heard last night at a further inquiry into the man's death.

A portion of the contents of the man's stomach were secured in the autopsy and sent to the State Laboratory of Hygiene at Raleigh for analysis to determine if the man was poisoned. But the coroner was of the opinion that if Peace died of poison, it was from poison liquor, and not from any kind of drug administered for the purpose of causing his death. Peace was buried Monday afternoon shortly after the completion of the autopsy by the county officers.
