

G. O. P. EYES TURN ON THE DEMOCRATS

or Roosevelt. Some say Roosevelt is another Hoover. At any rate, Republicans seem to look upon Baker as "safe" and Roosevelt as having lost ground through lack of decisive action and "back talk" to and about Seabury on the Mayor Walker case. Still, Roosevelt is conceded to be a powerful figure.

Among G. O. P. members of congress, Speaker Garner seems popular—and feared. Some say he's the closest to the people of any presidential possibility.

Ritchie also is looked up to. And Byrd is admired. Both can point with pride to their state administrations, 'tis heard.

Republicans are smiling somewhat over disclosures of freezouts in Wall Street stock deals, and say that would preclude even such a financial giant like Owen D. Young. And Raskob's deals are said to be injurious to Al Smith—Although Al has had no connection with them.

Even so, merely whisper "Al Smith" to a coterie of G. O. P. confabers, and they have chills. Maybe we'll get some Republican "dope" at the Democratic convention! Suppose the other fellow's convention always looks better.

The "drop Curtis" for vice president agitation is said to have been joined in heartily by supporters of Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth in the Longworth-Gann social controversy. Mrs. Longworth, however, is missing the convention. She contracted whooping cough from her daughter. In the meantime, friends of Vice President Charles Curtis are making memos of the fellows who would tomahawk an old Indian.

sweep on into the night. Fireworks Set Off.

It was a mention of the President's name by Congressman Snell, of New York, in his inaugural as permanent chairman of the convention, which set off the fireworks.

The only actual business of the short morning session was ratification of the work of several committees. It all went off with dispatch. Even a credentials report settling the explosive controversy over southern leadership and excluding the veteran "Tireless Joe" Talbert of South Carolina from the convention was adopted without a word of debate or a roll call.

The Republican resolutions committee today approved, after sharp debate, a plank severely condemning party irregularity in Congress.

Sidney Strotz, general manager of the Chicago Stadium, told the Republicans today to dig up $8,500 they owe him or "you won't have a hall tomorrow morning."

Strotz said the amount is the balance due for construction work.

Convention officials seemed unconcerned, and there apparently was little fear that the $8,500 would not be forthcoming on time.

A glass factory was erected in Jamestown, Va., in 1609.

DID YOU KNOW? --- By R. J. Scott

Comic strip 'Did You Know?' by R. J. Scott. Panel 1: 'The remains of 101 mastodons have been found in New York State. The only life-size scientific restoration of this American monster of the ice age stands in the museum at Albany. The work is based on studies and measurements of the mastodon, with the toothache excavated at Coches in 1866. Dental trouble in the right jaw had caused its death.' Panel 2: 'No one sleeps like a log. The soundest sleeper wakes up between 30 and 40 times a night without knowing it.' Panel 3: 'The Dexter side of a coin' and 'The sinister side of a coin'.

BIG SISTER

Comic strip 'Big Sister'. Panel 1: 'Cap Sims wants to run another boat up onto the ways today. We'll have to get the bubble off and into the water.' Panel 2: 'I'll help you.' Panel 3: 'The paint's dry enough now.' Panel 4: 'H'm! Going to have a shower!' Panel 5: 'Aw, what's a little water!' Panel 6: 'It's raining!' Panel 7: 'Aw, dad!' Panel 8: 'Buddy, I don't like the looks of those clouds! Looks like it might rain pretty hard! You take Donnie and hike for home while you've time!' Panel 9: 'If it wasn't that Cap Sims has been so decent to me I'd let the bubble stay where it is 'til the rains over. I mustn't disappoint him.'

THE GUMPS - THE LOVE THAT NEVER DIES

Comic strip 'The Gumps - The Love That Never Dies'. Panel 1: 'Townsend - what will he do next? When and how will he appear? Is he hiding about the premises? Where has he been all of these years? And what will be the outcome of his returning to claim her for his wife? He who is her lawful husband - and she who thought he was dead - while Henrietta was asking herself this question.' Panel 2: 'Like a phantom he appeared at the door.' Panel 3: 'At last - face to face - ah - how I've looked - how I've yearned for this meeting - to look once more into your eyes.' Panel 4: 'But you have no right here - you mustn't stay.' Panel 5: 'Oh - if you could know the torture - the torment of all those years of separation from you - all the time wanting to come to you - to see you - but helpless you to do so - it was pride - part of it - that kept me away.' Panel 6: 'But my husband - he'll be here - you must go.' Panel 7: 'But I have found you - more and keep busy - have been my motto - I am at last free to return to you and tell you that my love for you has never changed - and never will.'
