Let Nature Take Its Own Course, Is South Dakota Senator's Thought

(Another dispatch from Charles P. Stewart, who is touring the middle west, studying economic and political conditions.)

By CHARLES P. STEWART Beersford, S. D., Sept. 30.—If South Dakota fails to give a Democratic majority nationally in November it will surprise me. If it fails to re-elect Senator Peter Norbeck, a mildly progressive Republican, it will surprise me still more.

Why is it nationally so obviously Jeffersonian on the presidential issue? "despite its normal Republicanism?" "Agricultural discontent," answered Senator W. J. Bulow (an economical statesman with words), comfortably reclined on a sofa in his home at Beersford, a village of perhaps a couple of thousand in the rich-looking, but actually exceedingly hard-up, southeastern corner of the state.

Will Governor Roosevelt, if elected to the White House, be able to ally this discontent?

"He'll have an almighty hard job," said the senator.

How about the equalization plan?

Fate of W. J. Lawrence Being Debated by Wake Superior Court

STATE ASKS DEATH Defendant Denies Charge While on Stand; Jury May Return One of Four Verdicts

Raleigh, Sept. 30. (AP)—A Wake County Superior Court jury this afternoon held the fate of W. J. Lawrence, young man charged with criminal attack on Miss Lynda Morgan, of Cary.

The jury received the case at 11:59 a. m., and retired to consider any one of four verdicts which Judge Michael Schenck said it could return.

The State asked the death penalty for Lawrence. Miss Morgan testified during the trial that Lawrence attacked her during the night of August 14. Lawrence took the stand to deny that he attacked the young woman, asserting that he had relations with her on several occasions, including the night of August 14, with her consent.

MAKING PLANS FOR ROOSEVELT'S VISIT

Not Certain What Hour Or How Long Nominee To Be In Raleigh

Daily Dispatch Bureau, In the Sir Walter Hotel, BY J. C. BASKERVILLE. Raleigh, Sept. 30.—Although it is virtually certain that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for president, will visit Raleigh sometime during the day of Friday, October 14, it is not known as yet what time of day he will arrive, how long he will stay or whether or not he will make a speech.

In an effort to learn more details about the proposed visit, Governor O. Max Gardner today talked over long distance with Roosevelt's campaign manager in New York, James A. Farley. But Mr. Farley had just returned to his office after having been in the west, and said that since the arrangements for the southern tour, including Raleigh, had been made by another group, he had not yet learned any of the details of this tour. He agreed to telegraph or telephone Governor Gardner as soon as the details of this trip

West Is Already Won For Democrats, Chairman Farley Declares on Return From Following Roosevelt Tour; Defections Over- Stated, Sanders Says

Washington, Sept. 30. (AP)—The presidential campaign passes into the usually decisive month of October with the activities of both major political parties centered temporarily in the west, with plentiful signs that an inch by inch struggle is to follow also in the east.

The Democratic drive for the insurgent Republican support west of the Mississippi, led by Governor Roosevelt, has received increasing attention in the closing days of September. It will be followed almost immediately by a referendum counter-thrust led by President Hoover. The Western sector is destined to see still further stubborn disputes, but the thought of both party commands already is turning toward the eastern seaboard and the mid-west for the real wind-up of the campaign.
