

Bulldogs Smother Norlina High By Score 46 To 0

Mills Brothers Carry Over Two Counters Each

Bill Scoggins Adds to Scoring Also By Returning Punt 40 Yards For Touchdown; Warren County Boys Outclassed In Every Phase Of Game

The Henderson high Bulldogs took their season's first game yesterday at League Park by rolling up a 46 to 0 score over Norlina high school.

The locals completely outweighted and outclassed the team from Warren county, piling up 9 first downs to the visitors 2.

The entire Henderson backfield showed up well with F. Rogers gaining ground on every trip with the ball except one. Little Bill Scoggins made several nice gains, one being a return of a punt for 45 yards and a touchdown. The Mills brothers, James and Frank were good ground gainers for the locals. F. Mills returned a Norlina kick for 40 yards and a touchdown and J. Mills intercepted a Norlina pass and raced 30 yards for another counter. Bobby Green, big hefty fullback for the locals was a consistent ground gainer for the Bulldogs, adding every extra point that was made. The reserve backs that Coach Powell sent into the fray gave a good account of themselves with E. Watkins and Peety leading them.

Loughlin and A. Scoggins were the mainstays in the line with "Unk" Turner playing a consistent game at center.

Coach Powell used practically every man in uniform yesterday, giving his men experience.

There was no outstanding player on the Norlina eleven, their plays being smothered by the fast charging Bulldog linemen.

SUMMARY OF PLAY
First Quarter—A. Scoggins kicked off to Norlina's 20 yard line, Norlina returned to their own thirty yard line. Here Henderson's line held and Norlina punted to their own 40. F. Mills returned the kick for a touchdown. Green hit the line for the extra point. A. Scoggins kicked off to Norlina's 20 yard line. Norlina fumbled the kick and lost 2 yards. Norlina was forced to punt and the ball was downed on their 35 yard line. W. Scoggins fumbled and Norlina recovered and punted to their 27 yard line. After a series of line plays Green hit the line for Henderson's second touchdown. A pass was incompletable for extra point. A Scoggins kicked off to Norlina's 17 yard line. Norlina worked the ball up to their own 41 yard line as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter—Norlina punted to Henderson's 37 yard line. Henderson marched down the field to Norlina's 18 yard line, where a pass, Rogers to J. Mills was good for another touchdown. Green plunged the line for extra point.

Rogers intercepted a pass and brought it back to Norlina's 35 yard line. Norlina's line held and Scoggins punted to Norlina's 20 yard line. Norlina failed to make it a first down and punted to their own 45 yard line. W. Scoggins returned the ball for a touchdown. Rogers failed to make extra point through the line.

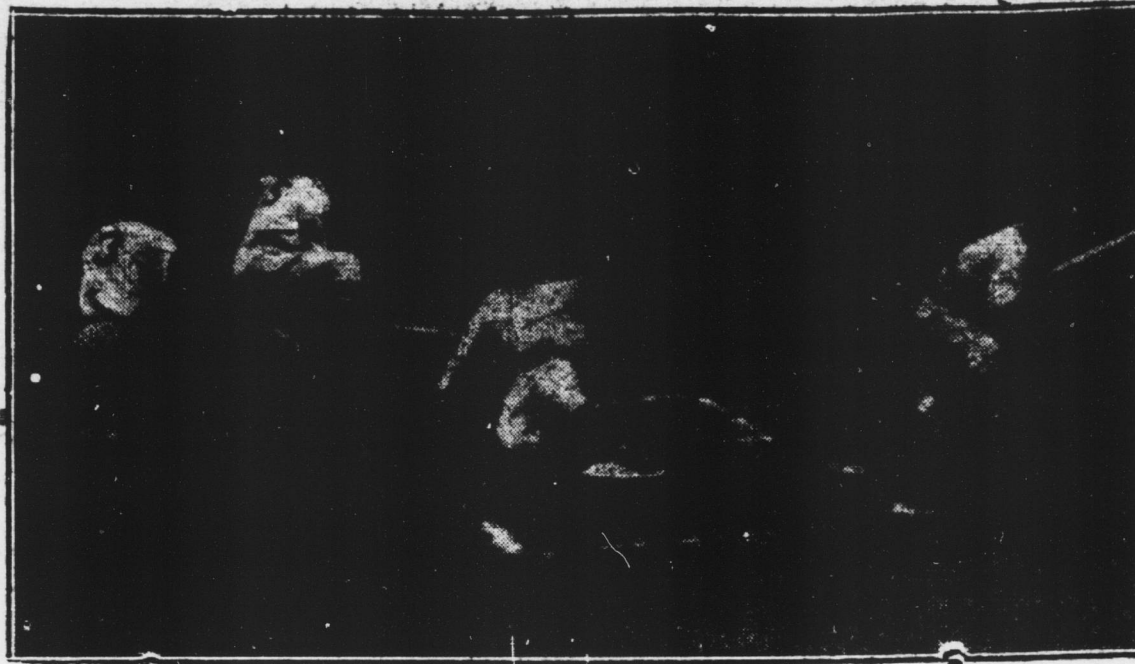

J. Mills intercepted a Norlina pass and ran 30 yards for a touchdown, pass failed for extra point.

VARE AND VAN WIE WILL FIGHT AGAIN

Peabody, Mass., Oct. 1 (AP)—The unwritten golf rule that compels Glenna Collett Vare and Virginia Van Wie to play for the Women's national championship in the even years was obeyed yesterday in the semi-final matches on the Salem country club's layout.

Glenna qualified for her seventh final since 1922, and incidentally, for the fifth time in a row, by overwhelming Ada MacKenzie of Toronto, a former Canadian title, by 5 and 4 after a wretched start.

Miss Van Wie kept pace with her arch rival by wiping out the early two-hole lead of Charlotte Glutting of Short Hills, N. J., jumping ahead at the turn and turning the match at the 15th hole with a 4 and 3 victory, after winning three holes in a row.

Glenna and the Chicago girl have met so many times, that neither can remember the exact number, but places or the scores. Three of the books for they were fought in this battles, however, are in the record championship quest.

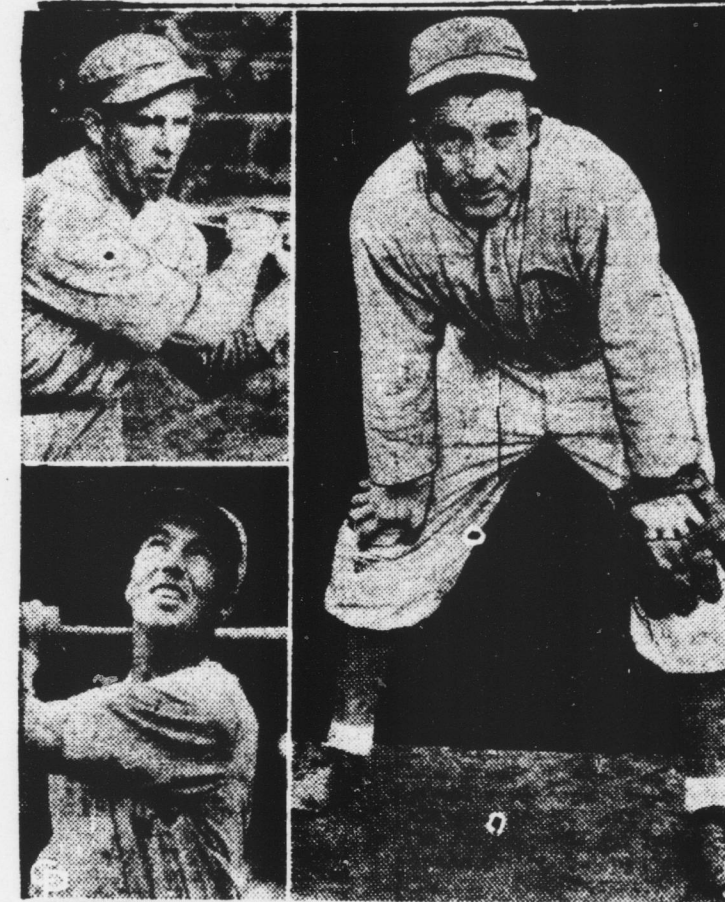

LONDOS INELIGIBLE DUE TO A REFUSAL

New York, Oct. 1 (AP)—The New York state athletic commission yesterday definitely relieved Jim Londos of Greece of the heavyweight wrestling championship he held in this state and placed him on the ineligible list.

The commission's action was the result of Londos' alleged refusal to meet Ed (Strangler) Lewis of Los Angeles.

The commission ordered Ray Steele and Jack Sherry to meet in Madison Square Garden October 10, the winner to face Lewis October 31. The survivor of these two matches will be recognized in New York state as the champion.

CONNIE MACK BREAKS UP HIS TEAM

Breaking up the team that won the American league championship in 1929, 1930 and 1931 and the world series in 1929 and 1930, Connie Mack has sold three of the cogs in his great machine outright to the Chicago White Sox for a reported sum of $150,000. The Athletics who will make the Windy City their home next year include Al Simmons, right, star left fielder. The other two are Infielder Jimmy Dykes, upper left; Outfielder Mule Haas, lower left.

National League Batting Shows Improvement In '32

New York, Oct. 1 (AP)—Batting in the National League showed a distinct improvement in 1932 over 1931, the final unofficial batting marks for the season which ended last week reveal. Nearly every one of the winning totals were higher than the "first" of a year ago but pitching performances also looked up.

Frank O'Doul of Brooklyn captured the batting championship with .366 average. In 1931 a .348 mark gave Chick Hafey of St. Louis the lead by a fraction of a point. O'Doul also led in singles with 158.

The highest marks in the various slugging departments were 154 runs by Chuck Klein of Philadelphia, 225 hits by Klein, and Bill Terry of New York 63 doubles by Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, a new league record; 19 triples by Babe Herman of Cincinnati, 38 home runs by Klein and Mel Ott of New York and 441 runs batted in by Don Hurst of Philadelphia.

After leading through most of the season, Klein was tied or beaten at the end in everything but runs. Even his base stealing mark of 20 thefts was tied by Tony Piet of Pittsburgh.

Terry who hit at a terrific clip in the last few weeks, took second place among the leading regulars with a .349 average. Behind him came Klein, .348; P. Waner, .341; Hurst, .340; V. Davis, Philadelphia, and Orsatti, St. Louis, .337; L. Waner Pittsburgh, .333; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .330; and Herman, Cincinnati, .326.

The Phillies led in club batting at .592 and the Boston Braves in fielding with a .975 mark.

In addition to Paul Waner's doubles only on record was broken al-

One For The Cubs In Second Series Game

Bill Herman again scored the first run for the Cubs in the first inning of the second game of the World Series at Yankee Stadium. Herman doubled, took third on an error by Corsetti and scored on Stevenson's fly to Combs, but all to no avail as the Yanke won 5 to 2.

though several minor marks were made. Johnny Federick of Brooklyn smashed a mark by hitting five more home runs as a pinch batsman.

Lonnie Warneke of the Chicago Cubs led the moundsmen with a record of 22 victories and six defeats for a .786 average, somewhat better than Paul Berringer's 18 and 8 mark of 1931. The St. Louis Cardinals' William "freshman" pitcher, Jerome Dean was the year's strikeout king, fanning 191 rivals.

Young Playmakers May Be Depression Cure, States Koch

Chapel Hill, Oct. 1—Amateur Playmaking is one cure for depression, according to Prof. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers. Interviewed by Liberty Magazine, Professor Koch said: "If you can get people playing together in terms of their own life interests, you will have a happier, a more understanding, a more mutually sympathetic nation."

HIGH SCHOOLS MUST PAY TO SEE GAMES

Davidson, Oct. 1—Captain Norton G. Pritchett, director of athletics at Davidson College, announced here today that Davidson College, in agreement with other athletic officials representing the "Big Five" would discontinue the policy of allowing high school football teams free admittance to football games. Consequently no free passes were given to high school players for the Davidson-Washington and Lee game at Davidson today.

G. O. P. LEADERS IN NEBRASKA HOPEFUL

speaker individually construed it thus: "A period of stress, such as the present depression usually breeds one of two political results—extreme radicalism or extreme conservatism. The last English election gave a conservative result. A very radical one had been expected; instead, a positively reactionary regime was voted into power. It is evident that Wisconsin has swung in the same direction and it is fair to presume that a like tendency will be manifested in Nebraska, Iowa, and other states of a hitherto (at least off-and-on) radical complexion, next November. President Hoover certainly is safely conservative. Governor Roosevelt, whether or not personally a radical, is the radicals' "white hope" anyway.

The conclusion is obvious—The Wisconsin barometer indicates Hoover weather.

At Nebraska Democratic headquarters here was the story I heard:

The Wisconsin Democratic vote normally is about 125,000, which is not enough to make an appreciable dent on election day. Consequently the holding of Democratic nominating primaries has been hardly more than an empty formality hitherto. Most Democrats, in order to get as far away from Republicanism as possible, have thrown their support, both at primaries and at the polls, to the G. O. P. progressives.

This year the Badger State Jeffersonians sense every prospect of electing their entire ticket and naturally concentrated on their own primary. This so greatly weakened Gov. Philip F. LaFollette and Senator John J. Blaine, who were seeking renominations as Republican progressives, without weakening the G. O. P. regular candidates—Walter J. Kohler, for governor, and John B. Chapple, for senator—that Kohler and Chapple won.

In support of this contention, it is pointed out that Kohler's victory over LaFollette was by approaching 100,000 primary ballots—just about what the Democrats were in the habit of giving to the progressives.

Now (to continue this line of reasoning)—The disgruntled Republican progressives, rather than vote in November for the ultra-conservative Kohler and for the conservatively converted, though formerly radical Chapple, will plunk for the Democratic nominee—A. G. Schmedeman, for governor, and F. Ryan Duffy, for senator—and they will be elected by the Democratic - progressive Republican combination, in the same fashion that the LaFollette dynasty previously kept in office.

Or else—If the G. O. P. progressives should run independently, they will split the G. O. P. strength and the Democrats will win anyhow.

Of course all this speculation on both sides, is too speculative to be thoroughly convincing.

It is the best that either side can do, however.

Nebraska Democrats, speaking of their own state, claim everything in sight for their national ticket, with the re-election of Gov. Charles W. Bryan by a smaller majority.

Republicans do not go farther than to say they "hope" to win nationally and think they can do so on the government.

If farm discontent were as acute in Nebraska as in Iowa there could be no question of Democratic victory in the normally is by no means as strongly Republican as Iowa, the margin to be overcome is correspondingly narrower and the Republicans themselves admit that they will suffer losses.

But the Nebraska farmers, though in no good humor, are not so rampageous as Iowa's.

Democratic Soap Is Bought by Grissom; Helps Lady on Bet

Daily Dispatch Bureau, in the Air Writer Hotel, N. Y. C. BASKERVILLE.

Raleigh, Oct. 1—It looked as if William Grissom, collector of internal revenue, here and one of the leaders in the Republican party in the State, was going to use some Democratic soap to help "Clean Up America," for he had some on his desk here yesterday. "Yes, I bought some of that Democratic soap, because a young lady came up here and told me she had a bet with a man that she could sell me some of it," Collector Grissom said. "So I bought some of the soap from her so she could win her bet."

"But I told her to tell the man who bet that I would not buy any of it, that I was going to save it to give to the first dirty Democratic bonus bum that came along, so he could clean himself up with it. More of the Democrats need this soap than do Republicans."

This Democratic soap was on Collector Grissom's desk when Jake Nowell the Republican candidate for the United States Senate, happened to call on him yesterday. They had a good laugh over the incident.
