isfaction all around. Bidding was keen and competition more pronounced, all of which makes for better prices and a stronger market.

A good deal of tobacco is still in the fields throughout this territory, and considerable curing is still in progress. This is due to the lateness of the season, which was beset by disease and plant pests in the spring...

Estimates are that the crop in this section this year will not be more than half of last year's production at best, and some have said that it would hardly be more than a fourth. That condition prevails in every belt that has opened thus far...

Sales all this week, and particularly on the opening day, included considerable tobacco from a distance, some from Eastern North Carolina, according to tobacco men, and those who sold on the Henderson market have apparently been well pleased with the price their weed brought on the sale.

Henderson this year is operating with four warehouses, having one less than last season as the result of the destruction by fire two days before last Christmas of the Planters warehouse.

Contracts Are Awarded For New Colored School

Total Cost To Be $16,682, Including Plumbing, Heating and Wiring; Job To Be Completed in 100 Working Days From October 1, Use Local Labor

Contracts for the construction of a new Negro high school at Henderson Institute, financed jointly by that Presbyterian institution and the county of Vance, were let yesterday afternoon, after the opening of bids in the office of the county superintendent, and Eric G. Flannagan, local architect, who designed the new structure. J. W. Stout and Company, of Sanford, was low bidder on the general building project, including the electric wiring, at a price of $13,769, and was awarded that contract. A. E. Cumber, of Wilmington, low bidder, won the contract for the plumbing work at $968 and the Engineering and Sales Company, of Raleigh, was awarded the contract for the heating at a figure of $1,945. The aggregate of the awards was $16,682.

Some of the bidders estimated that the same job four or five years ago would have cost $25,000 to $28,000.

The contractors agreed to erect and complete the building ready to be turned over to the school authorities in 100 working days from October 1. While the specifications did not so require, all successful contractors are said to have expressed a desire and willingness to employ local labor as far as possible in the construction work.

Lettings yesterday had nothing to do with the equipment and furnishings of the new building, all of which will be purchased under State contracts, according to Superintendent Rollins.

There were several Henderson bidders on the construction project, but it was stated that the low estimates were accepted in each instance.

The new building will be one story, of brick construction, and will have eight class rooms, and an auditorium seating about 400, together with administrative offices. The structure is to replace one that burned last spring. The Institute, owned by the Board of American Missions of the Northern Presbyterian Church, has been in operation here for more than a third of a century. The church board did not have the funds to replace the burned building, and offered the $8,000 insurance to the county if it would replace the building, which was agreed to and $10,000 was borrowed from a State fund for that purpose, to be repaid

KIWANIANS GUESTS AT CHICKEN DINNER

Entertained by Miss Kimball and Mr. Davis At Townsville Friday

Eighty-eight percent of the Kiwanis club membership was present at its meeting held yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the home of J. A. Kimball at Townsville, at which time the club was the guest of Miss Helen Kimball and Herman A. Davis at a chicken barbecue dinner.

During the serving of the dinner, string music was furnished by three men from near Townsville.

There was no program at yesterday's meeting and following the dinner, the club joined in singing Kiwanis songs.

at the rate of $1,000 a year for ten years. The site was deeded to the county by the church board.

The school cares for all Negro high school pupils in Henderson and Vance county and is partly supported by the county. Dr. J. A. Cotton is the principal, and has been in charge there for nearly 25 years.

The J. W. Stout Company, of Sanford, which was awarded the large contract in the construction project, built the H. Leslie Ferry Memorial Library here in 1923.

Isn't It About Time You OWNED the Key to YOUR Front Door?

We must all begin to think more about HOMES than we have! There are far more "Cliff Dwellers" than there should be! From all sides we hear complaints about living conditions—cramped quarters, dark living rooms, stuffy bedrooms, noisy neighbors, "smelly" halls, shabby interior decorations, cockroaches, water bugs, insolent janitors, overbearing landlords, and HIGH RENTS! What is the reason? Simply because we have been depending upon someone else for HOME, rather than getting into one of our own. We will never obtain relief from oppressive and unpleasant living conditions until we begin to realize that real happiness only comes WHEN WE BEGIN TO CARRY OUR OWN FRONT-DOOR KEYS.

It may not be possible or WISE for you to buy a HOME at present, but it is your DUTY to begin to work towards that end. Start now to plan and save. It costs nothing, but it must be done before you can hope to OWN A HOME. Get your start by saving in the HOME BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, where you can get a long-term mortgage, which really costs only about 3 1-2 or 4 per cent net and affords an easy month-to-month payment plan.

About Loans

"It is the general practice of this bank to require security for all loans, but if security is not to be furnished then a statement showing the responsibilities of the prospective borrower is required. This is necessary not only for the benefit of the officers and directors of the bank but for the examiners of the Banking Department when they examine the bank. Credit is based to a large extent upon the careful attention which borrowers give to their loans. The 'due date' is the time when every loan should be paid and in case the borrower desires to extend part of his loan the time to arrange for this is before the due date and not afterwards. This bank insists on this practice being carried out by its customers."
